JOHNSON LEADS WOOD IN MICHIGAN; HOOVER OTHER SIDE

Johnson Carries One-third of Detroit by 15,000, Wood Ahead in Country.

EDWARDS CLOSE TO HOOVER

On Republican Ticket Lowden Runs Third and Hoover Close Behind.

PALMER'S VOTE IS SMALL

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., Tuesday, April 6.—At 2:45 o'clock this morning 875 precincts out of a total of 2,421 in the State gave Johnson, 65,965; Wood, 41,744; a majority of 21,221 for Johnson.

DETROIT, Tuesday, April 6.—Returns of yesterday's primary contest from 703 precincts out of 2,421 in the State at 2 A. M. today gave Senator Hiram Johnson 60,658 and General Leonard Wood 33,981. The Senator's lead was thus 26,677.

Early this morning 127 out of 366 precincts in Wayne County gave Johnson 19,960; Wood, 4,731.

Figures from 446 precincts out of 2,421 in the State gave Lowden 10,012 and Hoover 9,771.

A close race developed in the Democratic contest, Herbert Hoover holding a very slim margin over Governor Edwards, of New Jersey. The figures from 337 Precincts showed Hoover, 2,918; Edwards, 2,870.

In the incomplete returns the fight for third place on the Democratic ticket was between former Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and William J. Bryan. McAdoo had 2,165 and Bryan 1,916. Palmer was in the rear with 1,524.

Johnson ran heavily ahead of all others on the Republican ticket in Wayne County (Detroit). The returns from 99 precincts out of 366 in this county gave:

REPUBLICAN.

Johnson	12,679
Wood	2,706
Lowden	2,088
Hoover	2,019
Pershing	579
Simpson	318
Poindexter	119

DEMOCRATIC.

The Democratic vote in 94 precincts of Wayne County (Detroit) gave:

Bryan	571

In Genessee County (Flint) Johnson led Wood two to one in the early returns. Partial returns from Saginaw County also showed Johnson running strong.

Among the precincts heard from early this morning were twenty-three from the Upper Peninsula. They came from Chippewa, Delta, Houghton and Menominee counties and gave Wood, 1,940; Johnson, 673.

All reports available indicate that the vote in the rural districts was extremely light, due mainly to the effects of the Easter blizzard, which left country highways piled high with snow in many places.

Former Governor Fred M. Warner was leading in the race for the nomination as Republican National Committeeman by nearly two to one over his nearest opponent. Five candidates are in the field for this position.

The polls did not close until 8 P. M. in the cities and 5 P. M. in the rural districts. The results may not be fully known until late Tuesday.

Despite bad weather conditions following Sunday's blizzard, the women flocked to the polls in large numbers.

Besides the nationally known candidates, William G. Simpson of Detroit ran in the Republican primaries. In this city a $15,000,000 bonding proposal for a municipally owned traction system was an important factor in drawing out the vote.

Chicago Thinks Johnson Victor.

CHICAGO, Tuesday, April 6.—All the reports received at the political headquarters here up to midnight (2 A. M., New York time) indicated that Johnson was polling a heavy vote among the workers of Detroit and that he might receive 25,000 to 40,000 plurality over Wood in Wayne County, which includes that city. That Gen. Wood's lead in other parts of the State would overcome this was not thought probable.

At the Wood Headquarters the contest was described as a "horse race" with the result in doubt. The most the Wood managers would claim was that their candidate might win by about 5,000. The Johnson leaders claimed victory by not less than 15,000.

The returns show that Johnson has received a heavy vote from wage earners. The spirit of unrest among workers, which has been described in dispatches to THE TIMES, is accepted here as the reason for his getting this heavy vote. This also is thought responsible for the vote cast for Bryan on the Democratic ticket.

Hoover did not develop the strength, as a Republican, which his followers in Michigan expected. His managers say, however, that there was no organized effort on their part in Michigan, and hold that under the circumstances he pulled a remarkably good vote.

The greatest disappointment, if the final results give a victory to Johnson,

Copyright, 1920, by The Chicago Tribune.

BEIRUT, April 2 (via London, April 5).—A French column of 3,000 which left Killis on March 24 reached Aintab on March 28, opening a road blocked by bandits since the shooting of Americans there on Feb. 1.

Americans and Armenians later were found huddled in churches, fearing a massacre. All were reported safe.

The relief troops fought their way through 8,000 Turks, while the Aintab garrison, which met the formation, was besieged by 800 more.

The French found eighty-nine dead Turks and Kurds, including one in Turkish uniform. The French report casualties of two officers and two soldiers killed and one officer and twenty-one soldiers wounded.

'NO COMPROMISE,' CROKER WARNS SON

TALKS FREELY OF FIGHT

Special to The New York Times.

PALM BEACH, Fla., April 5.—Richard Croker received a newspaper man at his home, the Wigwam, today, and for more than an hour listened to various phases of the case his children are attempting to make out against him as they appeared in affidavits.

The interview took place in the presence of his wife and of his lawyer, Harold Nathan, of Leventritt, Cook, Nathan & Lehman, who came from New York to assist in the court proceedings. Far from showing evidences of a weakened mentality, Mr. Croker dominated the situation. As is habitual with him, he did not talk a great deal, but when he made an observation it was strictly to the point, and he frequently overruled the other two. It is asserted in the complaint that his mentality is so weakened that it has passed into the control of his wife. Turning to his lawyer at the end of the interview, Mr. Croker said almost sharply:

"You are my counsel and I intend to hold you responsible for what appears. If you think I have said anything which from your point of view you feel I ought not to, now is the time to say so."

Dr. Ralph N. Green, the alienist, who had been observing Mr. Croker for the last two days, broke into a laugh at this remark.

Suit a Club, Says Croker.

Summing up the situation, Mr. Croker said:

"This Florida suit appears to me to have been for the purpose of injecting two new elements into the situation already covered by the six suits in New York. I am informed that my son Richard says he does not want any of my money. What, then, does he want? He does want an accounting. My lawyers have been trying to get an accounting for years, and our answer filed to one of the actions in New York State is a demand that this accounting now be made. The Florida suit, which tries to set up that I am crazy and makes allegations concerning my wife, is therefore, I believe, intended as a club to hold over my head. If that is it, I want to state that there will be no compromise."

The conversation prior to this had dealt with the affidavit of Richard Croker, Jr., in which he tells at length of remonstrating with his father just before his marriage and of his father's defense of his fiancée, also of other affidavits that set up that there was friction between the children and the second wife from the first. This the elder Croker denied in detail. He also explained how differences arose between him and Richard, Jr., these explanations differing materially from those his sons make.

"There was no trouble between my children and me about my marriage until I took my power of attorney away from Richard three years later in 1917," Mr. Croker said. "When I decided one morning that I was going to be married I took Mrs. Croker with me and went down to Richard's office. I left her outside and told him what I was going to do. Afterward I took her to his house and introduced him. He shook hands with her and welcomed her into the family. He said: 'If you take good care of my father you will have the thanks of his entire family.'

Tells of Endearing Letters.

"From then on for the next three years we stopped at his house, I think, every time we were in New York but one, and the relations were cordial. We came down to Palm Beach after the marriage and the children sent us Christmas presents and continued to do so, and for three years all the children wrote my wife many letters expressed in endearing terms.

"There is no truth at all in Richard's statement that he endeavored to persuade me not to marry or to delay my marriage, and all our trouble has arisen through my endeavor to get my business affairs through him straightened out. When we were about to go to Ireland on the last trip the Lusitania made over we were at Richard's house when a rumor reached us that the Germans were going to sink her. I sent out for a lawyer and we made a will that night leaving everything to my children in the event that the Lusitania was sunk and Mrs. Croker and I lost our lives.

"It was not more than three months after I was married when it came into my mind, when I found out how profi-

PLAN TO RESUBMIT LEAGUE TO SENATE AS AN AMENDMENT

Hitchcock Predicts Covenant Will Be Offered as Part of Peace Resolution.

USELESS, SAY REPUBLICANS

If Plan Is Carried Out Peace Terms in Treaty Will Also Be Offered.

FORECAST STEP BY WILSON

Democratic House Leaders Declare That He Will Resubmit Entire Treaty.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The League of Nations covenant will be separated from the Peace Treaty and offered as an amendment to the peace resolution in the Senate, Senator Hitchcock predicted today.

Upon hearing of this, other Senators said that if the Democrats separated the treaty and the League covenant, the treaty terms, exclusive of the covenant, also would be offered as an amendment. The Senate thus may be afforded an opportunity to vote upon the two portions of the treaty separately, though it was a matter for considerable surprise to Republican Senators to learn that Mr. Hitchcock considered it possible to separate them. He has all along been of the same mind with President Wilson on that point—that is, that the covenant was so interwoven with the treaty that the two could not be sundered.

The Democratic leader said that he thought it would be rather embarrassing to some Senators who are loud in support of the peace resolution to vote on the League covenant as an amendment. Republican leaders retorted that the proposal would be quickly rejected, as the covenant could not properly be made an amendment to the resolution declaring peace. They argued that the resolution affected only the relations of the United States and Germany; that Germany was not a member of the League, and that the acceptance of the League covenant by the United States was a matter between this Government and the Allies.

As to the peace terms, however, they said that they felt it would be proper to append them to the peace resolution, as they affect the relations of the United States and Germany in a degree.

Hitchcock Forecasts Long Fight.

Senator Hitchcock predicted a long fight in the Senate and a close vote on the peace resolution.

"I have talked with many Democratic Senators since my return," said Mr. Hitchcock, "but have found no support among them for the peace resolution. A number of Republicans also, I am told, are disposed to oppose it for the reason that it might close the door upon treaty ratification at this session."

When asked whether he thought that President Wilson might resubmit the treaty at the present session, Mr. Hitchcock said he regarded that as among the possibilities. He said he had no certain knowledge of the President's intention and had not had any communication with him on the treaty recently, but he thought that the President might send back the treaty if the peace resolution should fail of adoption or should fail to be passed over the veto. There was not the slightest chance of mustering enough votes to overturn the President's veto of the resolution, Mr. Hitchcock said.

Senator Lodge, discussing the possibility of another effort to obtain treaty ratification, repeated today the statement which he made just after the failure to ratify on March 19. He said that it made little difference whether the President sent back the treaty or not; that if he did it would have to go to the Foreign Relations Committee and retrace the thorny path it trod there before; that the committee would be in no hurry to act upon it, and the Senate in even less of a hurry.

Other leading Republicans said that if the Democrats unduly prolonged the debate on the peace resolution they would add to the burden of responsibility they must bear for keeping the country from getting back to a peace status. Politically a Democratic filibuster against the resolution would not displease them, Republicans said.

Declare Treaty Will Be Sent Back.

Democratic House leaders today assured their colleagues that the President would resubmit the Peace Treaty to the Senate and make unnecessary the passage of the joint resolution to declare the war with Germany at an end. This statement was made by responsible leaders who, while declining to say that the assurance was authorized by the White House, insisted that the treaty would reappear in the Senate about the time that the joint resolution was adopted by the House.

Republican leaders who heard this report said they intended to pass the resolution, as they did not believe that the President would agree to compromises on the treaty which would be acceptable to the Republican Senate. Some of the Republican leaders said they were of the opinion that this story was being told so as to hold the Democrats in line and keep down the vote for the resolution to a minimum.

It was admitted by the Democratic leaders that the joint resolution would be passed in the House by a record majority but the Democrats hope to reduce

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Japan has not fortified any of the former German islands in the Pacific and has no intention of doing so, Ambassador Shidehara said today in a statement commenting on reports recently published both in this country and Europe.

Mr. Shidehara said that Japan was adhering strictly to the terms of the Peace Treaty, and that under the League of Nations covenant it not only could not fortify the islands, but could not even train the natives for military purposes beyond police work.

GOVERNMENT HALTS EMBASSY PICKETING

Two Women Arrested, but Later Released Because They Had Not Been Warned.

SOCIETY WOMEN IN ASSAULT

WASHINGTON, April 5 (Associated Press).—The Federal Government moved today to put an end to the picketing of the British Embassy, which was renewed this morning by women sympathizers with the movement for an Irish Republic.

Two women were arrested and later released. John E. Laskey, United States District Attorney, informed Matthew O'Brien, counsel for the body of women picketers, that if his clients persisted they would be prosecuted under a Federal statute which makes the offering of an insult to a diplomatic representative of a foreign Government, or to his official residence, a felony punishable by a penitentiary sentence.

Simultaneously Mr. Laskey communicated his decision to the District of Columbia Commissioners, who instructed the police to arrest the women after warning them.

Captain Doyle and the two policewomen were sent to the embassy in a patrol wagon and found Mrs. Mary Walker of 222 Vanderventer Avenue, Astoria, L. I., and Miss Molly Carroll of 166 West Seventy-ninth Street, New York City, carrying banners on the sidewalk.

Captain Doyle informed the bannerbearers that unless they left in fifteen minutes they would be arrested under Federal statutes, but they refused to depart. After they had been taken to Police Headquarters and held for half an hour they were released on orders of Mr. Laskey.

The District Attorney explained subsequently that the police had acted before Mr. O'Brien had had time to notify his clients of the Government's decision.

An hour before the police intervened, Miss Sophie Stanton, and Mrs. Hattie Larkin of this city, attacked two pickets who had preceded Mrs. Walker and Miss Carroll, and were arrested on charges of "disorderly conduct." They were released upon depositing a cash forfeit of $25 each.

Miss Stanton and Mrs. Larkin destroyed the banner of one of the women pickets, and drove her away from her "post."

Mrs. Walker and Miss Carroll were not replaced at the Embassy after the police took them away, and leaders of the movement would not say what were their plans for tomorrow.

When the picketing, which was started last Friday, was resumed this morning, Mrs. James Walsh of New York, a leader of the women, said it would be continued "indefinitely," irrespective of any action by the police. This, however, was before the Government had decided to proceed under Federal statutes.

Mrs. Walsh and Miss Helen Lyon Merrian, of Astoria, N. Y., were the first pickets to appear today, taking up their stations just before noon. They carried banners draped in black, which they exclaimed was used because they had "secret information" that two new "massacres" had occurred in Ireland within the last few days. Two police officers were on hand, but they said they had no instructions to interfere.

Later, however, after Mrs. Walsh and Miss Merrian had been relieved by Mrs. Walker and Miss Carroll, a police patrol wagon rolled up and Captain Doyle and two police women got out. Walking up to the banner-bearers, Captain Doyle said:

"Ladies, these are two police women who will place you under arrest."

The pickets offered no resistance and were taken to a nearby police station, along with their banners. One banner bore this inscription: "America, abrogate all treaties with England." The other read: "American women condemn your reign of terror in the Irish republic."

One of the measures which the State Department has under consideration for ending the women's activities is that of closing to traffic the streets near the embassy, which is on the corner of Connecticut Avenue and N Street.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Miss Stanton, one of the women arrested on a charge of assaulting the women pickets before the British Embassy today, is a granddaughter of Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War in President Lincoln's Cabinet. She was social secretary to the American Ambassador and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page in Rome. Miss Margaret D. Hickey was the picket who made the charge.

The arrests of Mrs. Walker and Miss Carroll, the two women pickets, were

FEW COMPLAINTS ACTED ON

Municipal Justices Adjourn Most Cases to Study Legislation.

TO CUT MAY 1 EVICTIONS

Marshals, Accusing Each Other, Agree to Delay Dispossess Warrants.

The first results of the anti-rent profiteering laws passed last week at Albany were apparent yesterday when thousands of tenants and hundreds of landlords flooded the Municipal Courts with cases. Most of the cases were postponed until the Justices had time to study the new legislation. Liberal stays were granted in many instances. Other cases were settled amicably. The city Marshals charged with the duty of evicting tenants when ordered to do so by the courts met and agreed to suggestions which the municipal authorities feel will greatly reduce the number of evictions scheduled for May 1.

The Board of Municipal Court Justices discussed the new laws and their interpretation. Justice Aaron J. Levy, head of the board, declared that the new laws were a greater grant of power to the courts than had ever been conferred on them in the history of the nation.

Mayor Hylan appointed a committee of real estate men and heads of municipal departments to draw up a legislative program designed to stimulate building. The first formal meeting will be held today in the office of Frank Mann, Tenement House Commissioner.

Evasion Attempts Discovered.

Wholesale attempts at evasion of the newly enacted legislation were uncovered by the Mayor's Committee on Rent Profiteering which learned that thousands of tenants have been notified to move on the expiration of their leases on Sept. 30. The landlords' plan to get around the illegality of raising rents more than 25 per cent. by ousting their old tenants and then renting their apartments to newcomers at stiff increases. It was said that the Mayor's Committee would not tolerate this practice, and tenants receiving such notices were asked to communicate with the committee.

Accusations of profiteering in eviction cases were hurled at each other by City Marshals who met yesterday in the rooms of the Mayor's Committee. It was also charged that hundreds of men without authority to do the work were evicting the tenants and in some cases were earning as high as $2,000 a month. In order to remedy this situation it was proposed that the Municipal Court Justices be asked to accept no precept unless it bore the name of a City Marshal.

David Hirshfield, Commissioner of Accounts, who presided at the meeting of Marshals, was informed that dispossess warrants were issued in the courts to other than Marshals. The Marshals agreed not to accept such warrants before taking up the cases with the Mayor's ommittee and giving it time to take action. Commissioner Hirshfield wrote to Justice Levy asking that clerks in the courts be requested not to issue dispossess warrants to other than City Marshals in person.

Admits Profiteering by Marshals.

City Marshal Harry Wolkoff admitted that there was a certain amount of profiteering in landlord and tenant cases by the Marshals but he declared that most of them had "the milk of human kindness." He said there was nothing in the law to prevent a Marshal from refusing to draw up a petition for a dispossess, that the official's duty was to obey mandates of the court. If landlords were told that they would have to pay lawyers to draw up their dispossess petitions there would be fewer evictions, he declared, and urged that all the Marshals present, of whom there were fifty-two of the sixty-five in the city, pledged themselves not to draw up petitions for four months.

This proposal brought a storm of protest from many Marshals who saw in it the elimination of a great part of their revenue. One Marshal said he would be willing to sacrifice an income of $1,800 a year made from this source alone. Marshal David Goldberg declared that if the Marshals did not draw up the petitions "fakers" would do so and underbid the Marshals.

Commissioner Hirshfield pointed out that the Marshal was not legally responsible until he accepted a warrant of dispossess and that if he failed to execute warrants until the Mayor's Committee had time to look into the case wholesale evictions would be prevented. The Marshals agreed unanimously to this proposal.

During the discussion, which was vigorous at all times, marshals hurled recriminations and charges of profiteering at each other. One speaker said it was unlawful for a city marshal to have more than one office. Some had four or five offices and were taking in money with both hands, it was charged. Others were charged with cutting prices on evictions. Mr. Hirshfield promised to look into these charges.

Leo Kenneth Mayer and Julius Applebaum of the Mayor's Committee said the new laws have already proved beneficial to tenants, for yesterday landlords

FRENCH WILL SEIZE FRANKFORT TODAY; DECLARE EBERT YIELDED TO JUNKERS; GERMAN TROOPS CLOSING IN ON ESSEN

French Measures "Coercive and Precautionary," Declares Millerand Government in Formal Note

PARIS, April 5 (Associated Press).—The attitude of the French Government in the present German crisis is defined and explained in a note issued tonight. After reiterating that the Government has no hostile designs toward Germany, desiring, on the contrary, the resumption of normal relations with that country and expressing a realization of the difficult situation of the Berlin Government, the note declares that the German Government has yielded to pressure by the militarist party, "not fearing to infringe the imperative and most solemn stipulations of the Versailles Treaty."

The note continues:

"The sequence of facts follows: The first request for permission for the entry of extra troops into the Ruhr district was made just after the insurgent movement by the military authorities on March 15. It was renewed from Berlin on March 17 in the name of the legitimate Government by von Haniel, who had remained in Berlin with the consent, at least implied, of the insurgent Government.

"All information from the allied missions, and, again, the day before yesterday, from the High Commissioners at Coblenz, does not cease to show that German military intervention is uncalled for by the situation, and it would be attended with the gravest dangers from the point of view of security both for the population and the men in the field."

The note then points out that if the German Government had carried out the disarmament clauses of the treaty there would have been neither the Kapp insurrection nor a Red army in the Ruhr, and remarks that Articles 42 and 44 are such an indispensable safeguard that Article 1 of the Franco-Anglo-American convention defines as a casus foederis those dispositions insufficient to assure the protection of France. It concludes:

"The situation created by the abrupt offensive of the German troops in the Ruhr obliges the French Government today to consider military measures the execution of which cannot be deferred. The sole object of these measures is to bring Germany to a due respect of the treaty; they are exclusively of a coercive and precautionary character."

RAID PETER'S PLACE, NAMED BY STRATON

TWO JURIES CALL PASTOR

Federal Authorities Want Evidence of Drink Sales—Smith to Ask About Women.

Peter's Restaurant, in West Ninety-seventh Street, in which Dr. John R. Straton charged in his Easter sermon whisky was sold openly and intoxicated men and women were numerous on the night of his visit, and which he said he was told paid $500 for police protection, was raided last night by the police.

The restaurant, which is in the district of Inspector Dominick Henry, who has been engaged in a controversy with the District Attorney's office, was raided over Henry's head by Inspector Thomas McDonald of the Headquarters Squad and several detectives and uniformed men. The proprietor and three men were arrested, and whisky, gin, wines, absinthe and cordials worth $3,000 were removed to Police Headquarters.

Inspector McDonald and Detectives Cordes, Dean, Dugan and Gannon of his staff entered the place soon after 10 o'clock. They ordered whisky, according to their story, and the waiter served them, making no comment of any kind, as if it were a matter of routine. He brought four drinks of whisky, according to the police, and a check for $4. One of the detectives was then sent out for uniformed men from the West 100th Street Station.

The uniformed men covered all exits from the place and then several of them marched in, while the Inspector and his men put the proprietor, Peter Gallopi, and others in his office under arrest. A crowd of between 400 and 500 men and women were thrown into a panic by the appearance of the men in uniform and the announcement that no one must leave. During the excitement patrons were questioned and their names taken, while detectives explored the storerooms and seized wine and spirits.

The fact that Inspector McDonald was sent out from Headquarters to make the raid over the head of Inspector Henry, indicated a change of policy on the part of high police officials who have hitherto stood firmly behind Inspector Henry in spite of the efforts of Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith to discredit him. While Mr. Smith alleged that Inspector McDonald had made scores of raids in Henry's district, no previous raid has equalled this one in its importance, especially in view of the fact that the raiders confirmed the statement of Dr. Straton that liquor was sold without the least precaution.

Outside the restaurant during the raid a crowd of uniformed patrolmen appeared as though by magic as the raiding officers were obtaining evidence and seizing liquor. A patrol automobile drove to the door and the liquor was taken in this to Police Headquarters where it was locked in the room of Inspector McDonald.

More than 1,000 persons gathered in the street near the restaurant, but the curious were held at a distance by the patrolmen. The crowd served as a haven for patrons of the place, most of whom were in evening dress. No attempt was made by the police to detain any of them.

Taxicabs were at a premium as men dashed here and there in the neighbor-

TELL OF CENTRAL OFFER

Marine Workers Declare Road Is Willing to Meet Terms, but Is Refused.

Harbor transportation remained in a tangle yesterday as a result of the strike of harbormen employed by the railroads, with both sides making conflicting claims as to the effect of the walkout on the railroads' ferry and freight service. While the transportation officials asserted that the situation was rapidly returning to normal, the strike leaders declared—quoting the railroad managers' own figures to prove their contention—that the state of the service was much worse than was generally known.

The embargo was still on, the railroad men admitted, but they asserted that supplies already received at the terminals in New York and Jersey City were being moved in great quantities. J. J. Mantell, Chairman of the Managers' Association, fixed the number of tugs now operating at about forty, which is fewer than one-third of the total number.

"Before the week is up the cars will be backed up for miles," William A. Maher, Vice President of the Marine Workers' Affiliation, declared last night. "That applies to supplies of all kinds.

"There are only eleven tugs out of 260 running now. Even if you take as true the statements of the railroad men that 25 per cent. of the tugs are in operation, that means a bad tie-up. They didn't have tugs enough to keep things moving even when they were running full force."

Tells of Federated Union Support.

About 2,000 members of the Marine Workers' Affiliation attended a meeting yesterday afternoon in Webster Hall, 119 East Eleventh Street, at which strike plans were discussed behind closed doors. Edward Hanna of the Central Federated Union was the principal speaker. According to Captain Maher, Mr. Hanna pledged the support of the C. F. U. in the strike. The promise was not interpreted by union men to refer to a general sympathetic strike, but it was said that it meant that the great body of union men were behind the harbormen.

John Herbert, a representative of the boilermakers and iron ship workers, also spoke. Hr. Herbert promised that his workers would refuse to make repairs on any boats affected by the strike.

"We have had promises of support from a great many organizations," said Captain Maher. "A number of freight handlers, clerks and other railroad employes have quit already. We are not asking for any sympathetic strike, because we can win without the support of anybody."

Captain Maher was asked about developments in the movement to call a general strike of workers throughout the country in support of the eight-hour day. He said that the plans were still in a formative state.

Some Pier Clerks Quit.

A number of railroad pier clerks, checkers and a few longshoremen deserted their posts yesterday. The railroad managers said that they did not fear any general walkout of the clerical

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, April 5.—Diplomatic Paris has been all day in a turmoil of debate over the Ruhr Basin situation. The French favor immediate reprisals for the invasion of the Ruhr by the Reichswehr. The Germans are proclaiming at every allied embassy that such action is not justified. The Allies are trying to get hold of the actual facts. A special meeting of the Council of Ambassadors has been called for tomorrow morning, to take measures on the situation.

The French Government states that it has decided that Frankfort, Darmstadt, Homburg and Hanau must be occupied, preferably by the Allies, but by France alone if the Allies will not aid. It is stated officially that, so far as the French Government is concerned, the situation has been turned over to Marshal Foch, and he is free to act.

Marshal Foch has ordered General Dégoutte, commanding the French army on the Rhine, to have his troops on the alert from this morning; but it appears, when one considers the official statement of yesterday by the side of those of today, that he has paused a bit.

There are probably two reasons for his going more slowly. The first reason suggested is that England has shown herself more sympathetic to the French attitude than Paris expected, but at the same time wishes to make sure of her ground before the widely divergent official claims of France and Germany. The second consideration is that the permission to Germany to maintain any troops at all in the Ruhr will expire April 10, and that, in view of the Germans' assertions that they have not sent into the Ruhr any troops in excess of the number permitted by the protocol of last August, to wait until next Sunday would make the case of the French much clearer in extending their occupation in the event that German troops were still in the Ruhr at that time.

While this idea is freely advanced, it should also be mentioned that one hears on many sides emphatic predictions that the French will act within forty-eight hours.

I am informed from good sources that the German plan is to hasten the defeat of the armed workers, finishing it by Friday, and then to send a note to the Allies stating that order has been restored, that the Germans are willing to withdraw their troops by April 10 and asking the Allies what plan they suggest for keeping order in the Ruhr. The Germans believe that if this plan succeeds France will not get allied support for an advance and will not make it.

How the Germans Put It.

The case of the Germans, as stated by the German officials here, is that they have today in the Ruhr Basin twenty-six battalions of infantry, thirteen squadrons of cavalry and nineteen batteries of artillery, a total of 19,000 men, which they say is not beyond the number permitted by the protocol. They say they can complete their task and withdraw all these troops, if the Allies insist upon it, by April 10, and that therefore the treaty has not been violated.

The French officials reply that the Germans have 40,000 troops in the Ruhr, which is much in excess of the terms of the protocol, and that the Germans have, therefore, broken the treaty. The French point to the German note of Friday, which said that the forward movement was due to a mistake, and to the German note of Saturday, admitting that the advance was made by the Government's orders, as proof of mendacity and double dealing.

It must be stated that the allied military officials are trying to establish the size of the German force in the Ruhr. The English are especially anxious to have this information.

French newspapers today have long articles on German militarism, Hindenburg and Prussianism and argue that, irrespective of the details of the Ruhr situation, something must be done to make the Germans realize that they must fulfill the treaty stipulations and must not defy France. There are many uncomplimentary references to President Wilson in the less serious journals.

The German Government news service sent out dispatches this morning saying that the Reichswehr had been recalled from the Ruhr, but the French Foreign Office has no confirmation of any orders to that effect.

There is a dearth of news from the Ruhr itself. Government troops have occupied Duisburg, Mülheim and Oberhausen. Red troops which are said to number about 5,000 appear to be grouped in front of Düsseldorf.

Think Junkers Forced Invasion.

French officials believe that the leaders of the parties of the Right in Berlin forced Ebert into the Ruhr invasion after a virtual agreement had been reached between the Government and the Workers' Councils. They maintain that at all costs it is necessary to make it too expensive for the Germans to listen to the advice of the Junkers.

Several newspapers recommend that the cost of the occupation of more German territory be borne by the cities occupied and that ransoms be levied upon Frankfort and Darmstadt to pay the cost to France of teaching Germany her needed lesson. It is remarked that it would be easy for Foch to collect a large amount from a rich city like Frankfort.

It appears that Foch will wait until after the meeting of the Ambassadors tomorrow morning, at which it is expected that the allied Governments will reply to Millerand's note of Saturday, in which he announced the decision of France to extend the zone of occupation.

Vain Effort to Placate Millerand.

PARIS, April 5 (Associated Press).—Dr. Göppert, President of the German Peace Commission, called on Premier Millerand this evening with the object of trying once more to reassure him as to the character of the German operations in the Ruhr, which, it is asserted now in German circles, will be finished within a week, and seek to persuade the Premier to forego application of the guarantee measures.

Dr. Göppert, however, it is understood, made no impression on M. Millerand.

General Nollet, Chief of the French Military Mission in Berlin, who saw the Premier before leaving Paris for Berlin today, declared that the Reichswehr were altogether out of proportion to their supposed task. Besides, he said, far from quitting the neutral zone, they were pursuing the struggle with ardor against the workmen and were being concentrated in strong force. Thus, said General Nollet, a division quartered at Münster, seventy-five kilometers from the Rhine, composed of fourteen battalions, four squadrons and thirteen batteries, had begun to penetrate the forbidden zone fifty kilometers from the Rhine.

The views of the other Allies are not yet known; the various Premiers are on vacation and have not answered M. Millerand's telegrams. The French Premier, however, has had a long interview with Sir George Graham, Chargé of the British Embassy in Lord Derby's absence.

All Holiday Leaves Cancelled.

French military measures destined to force the German Government to withdraw its troops from the Ruhr Basin are now entirely in the hands of Marshal Foch, according to a statement made at the Foreign Office this morning. Nothing more, it was added, had developed regarding an advance by French troops than had been indicated in official statements.

It is remarked in some well informed quarters that occupation of Frankfort, Darmstadt, Homburg and Hanau is unlikely to exercise sufficient pressure upon the Germans, since they may well argue that this occupation is distasteful to the French as well as to themselves and cannot continue indefinitely. On the other hand, the expense of the operation comes up as a vital question in the present state of French finances.

All officers and soldiers on Easter holiday leaves have been ordered to join their units immediately, and the local police in the various cities of France have been instructed personally to inform those on leave to return without delay.

France has four classes—those of from 1916 to 1919, inclusive—still under arms, or about 700,000 men. No other class has been recalled, and no effort made to increase the effectives besides the cancellation of all leaves.

No censorship has been established here on news of the intended operations, but since the matter is now entirely in the hands of Marshal Foch communications from the army will probably be surrounded with the usual precautions, although the operation is not considered as being on a war basis.

All information from the country bordering on the Ruhr Basin, it is said at the Foreign Office, tends to prove that there was no necessity of sending an army into the Ruhr, as the workers and Communists were exhausted and without money, food or ammunition. Confirmatory information has also been received that the movement in the industrial region was not Bolshevist in nature, although many aliens were involved, and was essentially anti-militaristic.

The British Government will decline to co-operate in the occupation of Frankfort, Darmstadt and other German cities, according to the London correspondent of the Petit Parisien, but will, he says, "favorably follow the action of France, realizing the importance of the situation."

In the southern part of the Ruhr district, says the Echo de Paris, the German Government troops have advanced without resistance, but have encountered serious opposition in the central portion of the Ruhr basin. Two hundred persons have been killed in a fight near Duisburg, according to information reaching this city.

The vertically shaded area shows a large part of the district occupied by the Allies. The bridgeheads are indicated by the semi-circles at Cologne, where the British control, Coblenz, where Americans are stationed and Mayence which is occupied by the French.

The horizontally shaded district on the east bank of the Rhine is the neutral zone.

While the Reichswehr under orders from Ebert are engaged in clearing up the Reds in the Ruhr district (south of Oberhausen, Essen and Dortmund), the French are moving troops across neutral zone to occupy Frankfort at least and possibly Hamburg, Hanau and Darmstadt.

FIVE TOWNS SEIZED BY GERMAN TROOPS

WEALTHY RUSH TO BORDER

DUESSELDORF, April 5 (Associated Press).—The advance of the Reichswehr in the Ruhr region continues and Oberhausen, Dortmund, Luederscheid and Mulheim, east of Duisburg, were occupied today.

Only a few hundred Communists offered resistance to the occupation, the remainder retreating to Essen and the South.

The Reichswehr are marching on Essen.

Communications with the occupied towns have been cut off.

ESSEN, April 5 (Associated Press).—The Reichswehr have occupied Horst, on the Emscher River, and are expected to reach Essen tonight. Radical Reds from Alten are rallying here and reinforcing the elements which are determined to resist the Reichswehr.

In Essen, as in Duisburg, Mulheim and Oberhausen before the troops arrived, there is complete quiet, but it is generally believed that the radicals will certainly make an attempt at resistance.

PARIS, April 5—The French Foreign Office says tonight that from noon on today a battle has been in progress along the canal running north of Essen and that another fight has occurred in the vicinity of Mülheim. The workers are reported to be digging trenches and preparing to fall back on Düsseldorff.

BERLIN, April 5 (Associated Press)—The Government forces have lost 200 men killed in fresh fighting in the triangle formed by Duisburg, Dortmund and Essen, according to official information given to the correspondent this morning. Except in this triangle quiet gradually is being restored in the Ruhr district.

GENEVA, April 5 (Associated Press).—Thousands of German refugees, the majority of them wealthy, are gathering on the northern Swiss frontier and unsuccessfully demanding entrance into Switzerland. The refugees declare they consider the occupation of Frankfort and other Southern German cities by the Allies a question of only a few days and are therefore anxious to leave Germany.

COBLENZ, April 5 (Associated Press.)—The position of the American forces in Germany with reference to the allied attitude and possible action growing out of the present situation depends entirely upon direct orders from President Wilson. The American army authorities are keeping in close touch with all developments for information, but their direction is in the hands of Washington.

The American authorities say they interpret the policy outlined by President Wilson toward the German situation to mean that the American forces on the Rhine are concerned directly only with affairs bearing on the American occupied areas, in which Major Gen. H. T. Allen, commander-in-chief of the occupational troops, holds full authority for the protection of American interests.

It is understood that the judgment of the American command in Coblenz on future developments must continue stationary on control of the American area.

CONFERS WITH COLBY ON RUHR SITUATION

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Baron Romano Avezenna, the Italian Ambassador, called at the State Department today and conferred with Secretary Colby regarding the situation developed by the French Government's opposition to the movement of German Reichswehr troops into the Ruhr region for use in putting down the Communists and restoring order.

Both the British and Italian Governments are understood to have adopted essentially the same attitude as the United States Government toward the movement of German troops into the Ruhr region wholly for the purpose of restoring order. When the request was first made by the Ebert Government for permission for German troops to enter the Ruhr region the American State Department advised Ambassador Wallace in Paris that this Government would not object to such a movement of troops by Germany provided the object of the movement was limited to the quelling of the Communist uprising.

The American Government has not changed its attitude and, pending further developments or the receipt by the State Department of some further communication by the French Government relative to the proposed independent occupation by French forces of certain German cities until the German troops withdraw from the Ruhr region, the American Government contemplates taking no action.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (Associated Press).—State Department officials said today they had received no notice from France of its intention to have its troops on the Rhine occupy cities on the east bank of the river in reprisal for the advance of German forces into the Ruhr Valley neutral zone.

PROTESTANTS PLEAD FOR IRISH REPUBLIC

Carnegie Hall Filled with Cheering Throng and Overflow Meeting Held in Street.

The Rev. Dr. J. A. H. Irwin, pastor of a Presbyterian congregation in Kilead, County Antrim, Ireland, last night, as the principal speaker at the mass meeting of the Protestant Friends of Ireland which packed every available inch of space in Carnegie Hall, defended the Sinn Fein movement and declared the Irish question was a political one instead of a religious one, as was represented by the Protestant clergymen who recently toured this country in opposition to the liberation of Ireland. He asserted that the Tory element in England conspired to destroy Ireland economically to prevent her people from enjoying prosperity.

When Dr. Irwin declared to the 4,000 men and women: "I stand here as a symbol of a united Ireland," his auditors arose en masse and cheered for five minutes.

"I tell you there is no division of Ireland," he continued when the applause had subsided, "and there never will be. I am a Presbyterian minister, and as black as they make them. Do you think I would come all the way from my home in Ireland to address you if I thought that by my doing so I would be aiding the Church of Rome?"

Overflow Meeting Held.

Long before the doors of Carnegie Hall were opened, Fifty-seventh Street was packed with men and women who wanted to enter the building, and when the police closed the doors on the surging mass a little after 8 o'clock there were overflow meetings held outside the hall for the hundreds who could not get inside.

When Mr. Milholland introduced Dr. Irwin the audience rose and cheered for several minutes, and hundreds of men and women waved the green, white and yellow of the so-called Irish Republic, as well as the red, white and blue. Eamonn DeValera was not in the hall when Dr. Irwin began to speak, and he did not arrive until the clergyman was well under way in his defense of the Sinn Fein movement and his attack on English statesmen for failing to keep order in Ireland.

"You are aware that for many years the very flower and cream of the Irish race have been coming to this country," said the speaker. "In the last seventy years between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 Irish men and women have crossed the ocean to these shores because of the deplorable conditions in Ireland due to England's domination of our country. Those people were the finest blood that one country could give to another. They came to this country because false economic conditions forced them to leave their own soil."

Dr. Irwin then told the audience that the vast majority of the people of Ireland were in sympathy with the Sinn Fein movement, that they had decided that they could expect no good form of government under British rule, and that they realized that at no time in the history of England and Ireland had Great Britain ever shown an inclination to consider Ireland as an integral part of herself. He declared England has consistently considered Ireland as an enemy country.

Says Competition Was Destroyed.

"Ireland has been terribly and fearfully handled," he continued. "There was never a single industry in Ireland that competed with a similar industry in England that wasn't deliberately destroyed by an act of Parliament.

"The woolen industry in Ireland was killed with the stroke of a pen, 90,000 persons thrown out of work, and that is what created the disgraceful Dublin slums, for the woolen industry in Ireland largely centred about Dublin. We have a system of railroads in Ireland, British manned and controlled, that are about the worst in the world. I live in the extreme north of Ireland, in the Ulster section, and I could send a bag of potatoes at less cost to New York City than I could send it to Cork, in the south of Ireland."

He also condemned the British Government for killing the flax industry in Ireland through excessive taxation.

Dr. Roberts, a Welshman, followed Dr. Irwin, and declared that bankrupt statesmenship in Ireland was responsible for the present disorders in that country. He said he was in Ireland last July and declared that if the British Government was to withdraw the 60 000 soldiers from that country the disorders would cease instantly.

DeValera also addressed the gathering, and declared that if Sir Edward Carson announced a desire to lead the Irish people in their fight for independence, the whole Irish people would get behind him or any other Irishman no matter what his faith.

The Rev. James F. Raywood, pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of the Guardian Angel, appeared yesterday in Jefferson Market Court as complainant against Margaret Warner and Stephen Reardon, whom he accused of acting disorderly Sunday morning in front of his church in West Twenty-third Street. He said they were distributing handbills announcing the meeting last night of the Protestant Friends of Ireland in front of his church before and after each mass, and refused to desist when he protested. Magistrate Marsh continued the hearing until next Monday.

It was said at the rectory of Father Raywood's church that he is an Irish sympathizer, but is opposed to having the movement connected with the church.

KAHN WOULD BRING OUR RHINE ARMY HOME

But Admits That Wilson Could Keep It There Despite Peace Resolution.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Representative Julius Kahn, Chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, today declared in favor of the withdrawal of American troops from Europe at the earliest possible moment. This observation was made in the course of a statement in which he said that the President could maintain the American troops in Germany even though the joint resolution declaring war with Germany at an end became effective.

"I have been asked repeatedly during the last few days what, in my judgment, would be the statuts of the American troops in Germany if Congress should pass the proposed legislation declaring peace between the United States and that country," said Mr. Kahn.

"At present our forces continue in the occupied areas under the terms of the armistice of November 11, 1918, and the subsequent continuations thereof agreed to by ourselves, the Allied Powers and the Teutons. Having failed to ratify the covenant and treaty which was recently before the Senate we are not bound in any way by its terms. It is my belief that the troops can be brought home from Germany if the peace resolution is enacted into law.

"However, it has always been recognized that the President of the United States alone must determine how the military force shall be employed. In recent years President Wilson has sent our troops into Mexico at Vera Cruz and to Colonia Dublan. Of course, we were not at war with the Republic of Mexico when this was done. He sent our forces into Haiti; he sent our forces into Santo Domingo; he sent our forces into Nicaragua. Some of our marines are still in the three last named countries.

BRITISH TRUST IN FRENCH.

Daily Chronicle Takes Issue with Washington View of Reprisals.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Tuesday, April 6.—The Daily Chronicle, discussing the French proposal to occupy the Frankfort zone, says: "Our New York correspondent tells us that 'official and political circles' in Washington—a phrase which presumably means President Wilson and his Administration—disapprove strongly of the French proposal. Their verdict would carry more weight in Europe if the President had not advertised beforehand in his famous letter to Senator Hitchcock his dislike of the French Government, which he regards as 'militaristic.'

"Working as we do and hope to continue doing on the most intimate terms with the French Government, we may be excused if we decline to share the President's opinion. The French proposal may be wise or unwise, but we are convinced it is put forward in good faith."

The Daily News says:

"The authoritative French statement issued today for the purpose of justifying its decision to occupy the Frankfort zone in the eyes of the British public is obvously a step of the utmost gravity. The grave feature about this manifesto and what evidently lies behind it has nothing necessarily to do with the Ruhr or what may be happening there. It is that the decision to take this drastic action is not the decision of the Allies at all, but a decision taken by France alone. It may be the right decision; it may be really animated, as we are told, by a desire to preserve order in Germany, to put down militarism and to enable the country to recover as quickly as possible its industrial and economic stability.

"These are not the usual results of a foreign occupation, but we may believe that they are the result intended. If they were certain, the mere fact that France was acting without the co-operation of her allies, and that the French authorities had thought it necessary to appeal to British opinion over the head of of the British Government, would be of serious omen.

"Such a state of things cannot continue. The Allies must act together or abandon the pretense of unity. We hope it is not too late to correct a false step which may easily involve all concerned in the gravest disaster. Disunion among the Allies can mean nothing less than disaster to Europe, certainly not excepting France."

250 DEAD IN STREET BATTLE

MUENSTER, April 5.—"The Red peace of Münster" is what some conservative journals call the agreement which tried to put some sort of an end to the civil war that for nearly two weeks has kept western industrial Germany in a mingled state of veiled terror and intermittent uproar.

Such terms as were agreed on and as have effect have at any rate silenced the guns and called a halt to the advance of the Government forces. Still, the task of liquidating the turmoil is only in course of accomplishment.

What the whole wretched business has cost in life and property would be difficult to estimate, but that it is considerable I have seen with my own eyes in the course of a few hours' journey through only a small part of the fighting area south of Wesel, where the "Red soldiers" made their last attempt at organized resistance, losing 200. The dead were to be seen lying in the fields and ditches. Many bodies were those of lads, most of them in civilian clothes, muddy and bloodstained.

Occasionally farmsteads showed shattered roofs and broken walls, while in the large town of Homburg, between Essen and the Rhine, the destruction was most apparent. Through the long main thoroughfare there was hardly a building unscathed. Here the street fighting was of the fiercest possible description, involving a death roll of 250 men, women and children. Every shop and house is bullet marked. Two or three large stores which were hit by shells were burned out. There is hardly an unbroken sheet of glass in the street.

So it is, here and there, over a vast district across which the Red tide flowed and then receded. From the great industrial centres of the Black Country, such as the great gun-building town of Essen and such as Dortmund and Muelheim, it swept northward, and only broke itself against the walls of Wesel, deep in the countryside.

The inhabitants of this and other places found themselves for several days, as it were, in belaguered cities, with shells bursting in the streets. They are now quickly picking up their normal life, but they are still filled with forebodings of the future, and you find them asking, "Must we remain a fortress, with a strong garrison to protect us against plundering bands? Must German towns revert to conditions of the Middle Ages, surrounded with walls and moats, and the men folk under arms, ready at any moment to obey a summons to defend their homes?"

There is a general feeling here in Westphalia that, whatever Berlin may say or do, their fate is in the hands of any body of men who at a given moment, being in possession of arms, may impose their will on the rest of the population. No one regards the situation as settled.

Though beaten in the field, owing as much to their own premature action and lack of organization as to the Central Government's strategy, the Reds consider they have gained enormous political advantages in the concessions with which peace was purchased.

made under the terms of Revised Statute 4,062, which prohibits an assault upon the person of a foreign representative. This is an old law, and more than fifty years ago a Federal court held that under it an insult was to be construed as an assault.

No complaint was made by anybody connected with the British Embassy.

While both the arrested pickets denied the statement of the police that they had promised not to picket again, Mrs. Thomas K. Corliss of New York, who is in charge of the picketing demonstration, declined to say what would be the future course of those in the movement. She is going out of town tomorrow, she said, to get recruits. Mrs. Corliss is the wife of an actor who had one of the character parts in the production of "The Bluebird."

Miss Mollie Carroll, who was arrested in Washington for her part in the demonstration before the British Embassy, comes of a family which for more than thirty years has been active in the agitations for an independent Ireland, according to information obtained last night from her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Redmond, 166 West Seventy-ninth Street, with whom Miss Carroll makes her home. Miss Carroll, according to her aunt, is the daughter of Jeremiah Carroll, City Clerk of Boston.

Mrs. Redmond, whose husband is a cousin of the late John Redmond, the Irish leader, explained that Miss Carroll was a daughter by a second husband, her mother having previously been married to Arthur Marsh Forrester, the Irish poet and agitator. Her mother, who died last June, had taken an active part in Irish affairs, both in this country and in Ireland, and her first husband had a price on his head before he came to America.

The aunt of Miss Carroll was herself active in the demands for Irish recognition before she came to this country, more than thirty years ago. She took part in the Land League riots and won the sobriquet of "Rebellious Child." Mrs. Redmond was jailed for her activities, but later was freed and came to this country.

According to her aunt, Miss Carroll is an actress, and has appeared in productions of David Belasco. She had a part in "The Better 'Ole," as well as in "Dark Rosaline."

DUBLINITES SEE RACING INSTEAD OF REBELLION

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, April 5.—Soldiers with fixed bayonets and in full fighting order traveled in the motor cars used by staff officers in Dublin today, the anniversary of the tragic rebellion in 1916. Such a spectacle has not been seen in the city since that rising, but it was a symptom that officials were watchful and alert to all possibilities.

But, fortunately, the only measures required to be employed today were precautionary. The expected coup has not developed and plotters have been content with their attacks upon empty police barracks throughout the country and upon documents of the inland revenue offices. As many county administrations are concerned, they will automatically be called upon to reimburse the government for the destruction of property to the extent of many thousands of pounds, and as the greatest inconvenience resulting from the loss of income tax papers will fall upon the taxpayers, the plans so systematically executed during the week-end have only succeeded in forging a boomerang.

How efficient and extensive must have been the staff work for this orgy of destructiveness is revealed by reports received today showing that 157 police barracks and huts had been destroyed and attempts made on nine others.

Cork produced the greatest number, totalling 22 destructions. Clare followed with 17, Limerick reported 12 and Meath 11. This number is not believed to be the full total, for owing to the cutting of telegraph and telephone wires delay is expected in receipt of information from other districts.

In Galway the damage is estimated at £30,000.

Although the work was carried out by a huge army of men, only one was captured. This incident occurred at Newry, where armed men called upon R. Grady, Income Tax Collector, who closed with one of them while his two daughters pluckily dealth with another. The latter, dropping his revolver, fled from the scene. The daughters then went to their father's assistance. One, the wife of an Indian missionary, seized his nose and reduced him to helplessness by refusing to release her hold until he was almost suffocated. By that time the police arrived and in company with soldiers they made nine arrests.

The police also surprised the raiders at Ballyhaunis, but the latter escaped after a short and sharp fight in which the constabulary suffered casualties from rifle fire.

In only one instance, at Ballinakill, was the police barracks successfully defended, the Sergeant in charging beating off the attacking party after a severe struggle.

Telegraph wires were cut in various parts of the country, and at the moment of writing Dublin is still isolated from Belfast.

A description of his experiences was given today by Mr. Slater, Income Tax Collector of Upper Gardiner Street, whose premises were raided at 9 o'clock on Saturday night.

"There was a knock at the door, which was answered by my wife," he said. "She found two men who stated that they wished to speak to me about their income tax. She invited them into the office opening out of the hall, and they told me they were soldiers of the Irish republic and had come to destroy my books and documents. They opened their coats and showed me revolvers, and added that I was to remain in the office.

"They said it was no use resisting, as the house was guarded both back and front by armed men. Six other men, who were in no way disguised, then entered and proceeded to burn and tear up the most important of my books and documents. Some were burned in the office fire and some in the kitchen grate and others taken away intact. Altogether they were at work an hour, and it will take three or four months to replace the documents. The raiders were most courteous and allowed my wife to go up stairs to attend to our child."

Shots were fired during a raid late this afternoon in Findlater Street, turning off Sackville Street. In lorries and armed cars a party of about fifty soldiers entered the narrow thoroughfare and raided a saloon from the window of which the Sinn Fein flag hung. With fixed bayonets, the military guarded both ends of the street, watched by a large crowd. Suddenly isolated shots rang out and the crowd stampeded to safety, flattening itself against walls or rushing into convenient doorways. It is stated that a mysterious shot was fired in the street and the soldiers responded by discharging a number of rounds into the air. One or two arrests were made upon the premises raided. The flag was removed and taken away by soldiers, with one man trying in vain to wrest it from them.

Crowds at the Horse Races.

DUBLIN, April 5 (Associated Press).—Horse racing drew many thousands of Dublin citizens from the city today, the running of the Irish Grand National being the chief attraction.

Not only were tax offices and police barracks attacked, but private residences of tax collectors were also raided. Papers were removed and destroyed, but in these raids no one was injured.

The destruction of tax records will greatly embarrass the authorities and delay the collection of the income tax. Most payments were made by the end of March, but in hundreds of cases the taxpayers are in arrears, and doubtful and disputed claims remain open, and their clearing up will be postponed.

More than 100 Police Stations and barracks all over Ireland were demolished. They had, however, been previously abandoned by the Government because of the difficulty of the few policemen in charge holding them against attacks by hundreds of armed men.

It has been very quiet today. Until late in the afternoon the absence of soldiers from the streets was conspicuous, but at 5 o'clock a military lorry with armed soldiers drove up and raided a small saloon known as the "Republican bar," off O'Connell Street, and arrested five men. A hostile crowd soon assembled and sang a Sinn Fein song. The soldiers fired a volley over the heads of the crowd, which did no harm.

Warships have arrived in Lough Swilly, in the northern part of County Donegal, and are patrolling northern waters.

A report received here from Strabane, County Tyrone, says that during the attack on the police barracks in Donegal one member of the attacking party was killed.

Saturday's attacks on customs and income tax offices were made in Dublin, Belfast, Cork, Limerick, Dundalk, Tipperary, Galway, Clifden, Downpatrick, Leenane, Newry and other places.

General Wilson in Belfast.

BELFAST, April 5.—Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, Chief of the Imperial Army Staff, arrived in Belfast this morning to receive the freedom of the city.

LONDON, Tuesday, April 6.—A dispatch to The London Times from Dublin says that two morals are generally drawn from Saturday's incidents in Ireland, first, that the republican movement has become a really serious menace to British authority in Ireland, and, second, that the Government must devise a better method of combating the campaign of crime. The dispatch says the brains of Dublin Castle are being outwitted at every turn by the brains of the revolutionary movement.

According to the dispatch the damage resulting from the destruction of barracks aggregated a loss of £50,000.

A strong force of troops and police in an armored car visited the Nationalist quarter in Belfast Monday and arrested six men, but it is understood prominent Sinn Feiners who were sought escaped.

The dispatch asserts that about eighty prisoners, including those convicted under the Defense of the Realm act and others against whom no charges have yet been made, started a hunger strike in Mountjoy Prison, Dublin, Monday, and also that several political prisoners in the prison hospital refused to accept food.

Among the places where police barracks were either burned or blown up on Saturday were Cork, Clonclough, Punkerrin, Clonakerny, Ballymackey, Bolla, Ballinderry, Ardfert, Ballyheigue, Rathcoole and Drinagh. Several barracks in North Tipperary also were destroyed.

Other buildings destroyed include the Ballyvourney Court House, while the Press association reports that the Protestant schoolhouse at Milltown was burned, and at Glin the stained glass windows, the organ and various articles of furniture broken on Sunday night in St. Paul's Protestant Church.

DR. STRATON BLAZES WAY FOR DRY AGENTS

Vice-Hunt Sermon Sufficient Basis for an Investigation, Says Federal Prosecutor.

DOESN'T DOUBT HIS STORY

Asserts Government Agents Find It More Difficult to Get Evidence —Shevlin Redoubles Efforts.

George W. Taylor, Assistant United States Attorney, said yesterday that the sermon of Dr. John R. Straton, in which he told of the purchase of liquor in places he had visited, furnished a basis sufficient for an investigation of these places.

"I do not doubt that Dr. Straton did all these things he described in his sermon," said Mr. Taylor, "but it has been found exceedingly difficult by the Government agents to get such evidence that would be sufficient to convict. The Government agents seem to arouse the suspicion of the dealers. Dr. Straton, however, has furnished the basis for an investigation to ascertain if whiskey is being sold."

Henry D. Mildeberger, the Assistant United States Attorney who has charge of the prosecution of whisky cases, said yesterday that the prohibition agents had continued their operations without the slightest abatement ever since they started, soon after the Eighteenth Amendment became effective on Jan. 16. Every day, he said, from ten to twenty cases are brought before the United States Commissioner against alleged violators of the law by the prohibition agents. Ten cases had been brought yesterday up to noon, he said, and the total since the amendment became effective was 657.

Mr. Mildeberger said that the records of his office showed there had been no letup on the part of the prohibition agents, and that the indictments had been brought against "little fellows" and "big fellows" alike. No prison sentence has been meted out to offenders, he said, and so far they have got off with fines.

Tells of Difficulties.

The prosecutor told of the difficulty of obtaining convictions. The saloon keepers are very cautious, Mr. Mildeberger said the agents told him, and only regular frequenters of places could buy drinks. Occasionally a man who has not been a frequenter, but who looks as if he might be "all right," obtains a drink. Sometimes this person happens to be a prohibition agent perhaps disguised as a workman. The drink usually is poured from a pitcher or other container that can be easily emptied. When the prohibition agent tries to obtain the container as "evidence," the contents are thrown into the sink and a subsequent search of the premises reveals no more intoxicants.

Mr. Mildeberger told of what he described as a "humorous" method of selling whisky, as revealed in court. A dozen or two small vials, each containing a small drink, are placed in a cigar box, which is deposited in the cigar case. In several instances the prohibition agent has been served one of these small bottles and when he subsequently searched the place he found only "empties." The small bottles were filled at some other place and taken to the saloon as needed. In some cases the agents found small bottles containing whisky, but the quantity was so small that the case would not lie against the defendant, invariably the bartender, as the owner makes it convenient to remain away.

Mr. Mildeberger said that at first he drew the warrants to charge "maintaining a nuisance," but with only a pint or half-pint of whisky found on the premises it was rather hard to make out a case, so recently the warrants have charged possession and selling.

It was made plain by Mr. Mildeberger that the United States District Attorney's office is not concerned with violations of the prohibition law until warrants are issued by the enforcement agents, as the office has no agents to do work of this kind.

Shevlin Redoubles Efforts.

James S. Shevlin, Supervising Prohibition Agent, who has charge of the 200 prohibition enforcement agents in the New York territory, redoubled his efforts yesterday against dispensers of non-beverage alcohol, such as is used in barbers' supplies, which, he said, was largely the kind of alcohol being sold in the Tenderloin district. Mr. Shevlin said that what Dr. Straton said of conditions was undoubtedly true. However, he said, almost every citizen of New York knew that his office was continuing to plug away after violators of the law. He considered that with the small force of men he has to work in the vast territory which includes, besides New York City, Connecticut, Rhode Island and many up-State counties, that his department has done good work, and there is little to complain of.

"I think the average New Yorker will admit," Mr. Shevlin said, "that in these days a man can only get a drink by hunting mighty hard for it, and then only after paying $1 or $1.50 for a 'smile.' The high prices that are being charged are the best aid the prohibition law could have."

Referring to the large amount of non-beverage alcohol that is being sold in various places as beverage alcohol, he said, "A man takes his life in his hands today when he drinks the whiskey that is offered in New York City."

WOMEN DEFEND RINK.

Social Investigators See No Foundation for Dr. Straton's Charges.

Social investigators headed by Mrs. John Francis Yawger, President of the Federation of Women's Clubs of New York City, who have been making almost nightly visits to dance halls and similar places of amusement in the city, said last night at the St. Nicholas Rink that the charges of Dr. Straton against the rink were without foundation, so far as their observations went.

Mrs. Yawger, speaking for the rest, said that the rink was not to be compared with the average dance hall or similar places of amusement in this city. Mrs. Yawger said that on some of her visits to various dance halls she had noticed girls of a questionable type.

Included in the group which vouched for the St. Nicholas Rink were Mrs. Bijou Fernandez, Mrs. Walter Werner, Miss Sarah Cleveland Clapp and Mrs. W. T. Wetmore, wife of one of the founders of the Minute Men of America, who has been chaperoning dances for soldiers and sailors given in the army; Mrs. Robert Francis Cartwright, Chairman of the Public Safety Committee of New York; Mrs. Julia F. Lee, Police Matron at the Missing Persons Bureau, and Marias Guffey, director of entertainment at the War Camp Community Service during the war.

CITY WILL SHIVER 'MID WIND AND SNOW

Temperature Drop to Accompany Storm Expected Here This Morning.

Snow during the night with colder weather today, accompanied by a sixty-mile northwest gale, was the prediction last night of the Forecaster of the United States Weather Bureau for New Yorkers, and the storm warnings were hoisted from Jacksonville, Fla., to Sandy Hook, N. J., he said. The snowfall will be light, but the temperature is expected to drop to 30 degrees before it commences to rise.

The heavy blanket of fog which hung over the harbor yesterday forenoon and was accompanied by showers, ended yesterday at 3:30 P. M., when the sky became almost black and electric lights were switched on in all the offices and stores in the city. In twenty minutes a strong northwest wind sprang up which speedily blew away the clouds and fog and sent the temperature downward. By 5:30 the velocity of the wind was 46 miles. From 6 o'clock it dropped until it reached 35 miles velocity and continued at that speed until after midnight. The Forecaster at the United States Weather Bureau said the wind would remain in the northwest, and before noon today would reach a maximum of 60 miles in the squalls, with an average velocity of 50 miles an hour.

People who laid away their heavy woolens and fur coats under the impression that Spring was here were glad to get them out again in order to face the chilly weather in comfort. The storm, the tail end of which will pass over New York City this afternoon, started in Southwest Texas and Kansas and spread throughout the country from Eastern Ontario to North Carolina.

hood seeking conveyances to carry their women companions from the scene of the raid. Many of the ousted patrons went to other prominent restaurants in the "white light" district, but it was learned that "stuff with a kick in it" could not be obtained at any price, the report of the raid having spread among the owners of restaurants and cabarets.

Dr. Straton's Charges.

Regarding this place, Dr. Straton said in his sermon on Sunday night:

"At this restaurant two young women came to our table and seated themselves with us, bringing along with them their bills for us to pay for drinks taken before we entered the place. These women were public women, and not only acted at the table as public women would be expected to act, but gave us their addresses with a view to having us call upon them for immoral purposes. Those in our party purchased whisky at this place, and this was delivered at the table in glasses.

"The air was heavy with cigarette smoke and the fumes of whisky, which was being drunk on every side. The conditions on the dance floor were utterly disgusting.

"We saw in this restaurant many young women who were tipsy and men who were dead drunk and hilarious. In the washrooms there were men so drunk that they were lying in the corners and were practically carried out by their companions. In front of the restaurant some of the young men and women were noisy and boisterous, but no policemen came to stop the disorder."

After the arrests had been made and the liquor seized last night, all remaining persons were ordered out and the doors were locked. The men arrested besides the proprietor were Diovolio Canipa, 22 years old, of 374 Eighth Avenue, an employe; Gallio Ottario, a bartender, and Luigi Tusi, cashier. They were locked up in the West 100th Street Station on a charge of violating the Volstead act.

Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith said last night after the raid:

"This simply shows something of the condition of affairs in that district, due to the utter inefficiency of the man in command."

The facts concerning the raid will be placed before the County Grand Jury on Thursday, it was stated, when Dr. Straton is called before that body.

TWO JURIES CALL STRATON ON VICE

Federal Authorities Want Pastor's Testimony About the Purchase of Drinks.

Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in West Fifty-seventh Street, will appear before the Federal Grand Jury tomorrow and the New York County Grand Jury on Thursday to amplify his Easter sermon, in which he told of whisky drinking, soliciting and vicious dancing in resorts in the district of Inspector Dominick Henry.

Two companions of his tour of several of the best-known and most expensive eating and dancing places also will appear before the Grand Juries. Dr. Straton refused yesterday to name the two men who were with him, but said that they were not professional investigators.

Dr. Straton, who said in a sermon several weeks ago that New Yorkers did not know what sensational preaching was and that he was deliberating on the matter of giving them some, seemed to be highly pleased yesterday with the immediate effect of his sermon on the county and Federal District Attorneys and on the newspapers. He said that he still had a mass of facts of his own observation on vice conditions in this city, which he would hold back no longer than next Sunday, when he would preach again on "The Political, Social and Religious Responsibility for the Present Deplorable Vice Conditions in New York."

George Winship Taylor, Federal Assistant District Attorney, telephoned to Dr. Straton yesterday and made the appointment for him and his anonymous fellow-investigators to appear before the Federal Grand Jury. Mr. Taylor was interested in the statement that drinks of whisky and flasks of whisky were sold openly in some of the best-known and biggest New York cafés.

Smith Visits Dr. Straton.

Assistant District Attorney James E. Smith, who was even more interested in the assertion that women roved from table to table in some of these cafés, making new acquaintances without the formality of an introduction, called on Dr. Straton at his study and had a long talk with him.

Inspector Dominick Henry saw all visitors yesterday at his office at the West Sixty-eighth Street Station, but had little to say. He laughed when asked if he had read the Straton sermon and said that he had not.

When he was told that the sermon discussed dance halls, restaurants and other places in his district, he laughed for half a minute and then repeated:

"I have been told the gist of the sermon, but I have nothing to say."

"Are you making any investigation or have you been called on for any report?"

Inspector Henry found this question more humorous than the preceding one, and after another spell of laughter said:

"No, I have nothing at all to say. Call again."

Cafe and dance hall proprietors who were interviewed denied that the transactions described in the sermon had taken place on their premises. Some question was raised as to the credibility of Dr. Straton's testimony, in view of the fact that his sermon distinctly sets forth the purchase of seven or eight drinks of whisky, but this was settled by Dr. Straton, who explained that he had hardly touched the liquor.

Knows the Taste of Whisky.

"Are you sure it was whisky?" he was asked.

"Yes, indeed, it was."

"Do you know the taste of whisky?"

"I certainly do."

"Well, what did you do with the drinks after you ordered them?"

"I took a sip in each case, just enough to prove that it was whisky. Then I set it down, and my two friends generally took care of the rest."

Dr. Straton, whose severe and clean-cut features impressed all those who saw him yesterday with his resemblance to President Wilson, explained that he had thrown off the clerical aspect by putting on a disguise before he had made his journey to bright and gay, but shocking quarters of the city. It appeared on further questioning, however, that Dr. Straton had merely disguised himself as a layman, putting aside his professional collar and coat and wearing a suit of comparatively lively pattern.

This was not the first experience of Dr. Straton as an investigator. He went to "Aphrodite," with tickets which he said were furnished by a newspaperman, and made that production the object of a pulpit attack, charged with realistic detail. In addition to that, he made a superficial study of New York hotels, where he said that conditions were very bad.

"I have been quietly watching for several weeks," he said, "and then I started to go to the bottom of conditions when I heard rumors that came into my own flock. I have seen increasing evidence that our young people are in absolute danger every time they turn around. I have had some confessions that greatly opened my eyes and amazed me."

Tells of Boy's Experience.

One of the motives for his crusade was supplied, he said, by the boy who acted as an assistant in his office.

"May I tell this story without giving your name?" said the minister turning to his assistant.

"Yes, you may," said the boy, squaring his jaw.

"He came back from his vacation and went to the Y. M. C. A. in search of a room. They were overcrowded and they directed him to a place on their list. Now the Y. M. C. A. is not to blame for this, but it shows how far this condition reaches. He got a room in what was recommended as a highly respectable bachelor's lodging house, with a room-mate who seemed to be a very nice young man. He had only been there three nights when he heard a woman's voice in an adjoining apartment.

"'What is that?' he asked.

"His roommate said that he had forgotten to explain that they had visitors on different nights and added:

"'That will be satisfactory to you, won't it?'

"Fred told him that it was not satisfactory, that he was trying to lead a decent, Christian life and would leave at once."

Dr. Straton's other story was about a woman of his congregation who had taken an apartment in what appeared to be a respectable building, but had soon been driven out by discoveries which she had made. In addition to that, he said, he had more direct information from persons outside of his flock about the conditions in the dance halls and cafés which he had visited.

"I could have gone to a number of other resorts," he said, "but it was unnecessary. It would have been clear to any one that these were but samples of the conditions throughout the city. To do the thing right it was necessary to stay a while in each place. You can't pop in and then pop out and really see anything. I had taken for guides young men that I knew knew these lines fairly well."

Dr. Straton declined to answer questions about these men, and while denying that they were professional vice hunters, would not say whether they were connected with any reform organizations.

Had Seen Enough.

"I let the other places on our list go because I was so nauseated with the conditions I had seen, with the wastage of young life in this city just going the pace that kills."

Dr. Straton said that conditions in New York were undoubtedly worse than they used to be back in the "red light days."

"Do you think conditions are worse than before prohibition went into effect?"

Dr. Straton paused for a second and then answered:

"No, I don't. While I didn't see conditions before prohibition went into effect, I saw what these conditions mean, plus liquor, in one of the places which I visited, and it was absolutely horrible."

When he was asked what he knew about hotels he said:

"I have heard that many of them are very bad. They are deplorable, in my judgment, from what I have heard about them. I took them up a short time ago in a sermon in the Shonts case. The higher up the more refined conditions are, but yet the vice is there. I have made some investigations, but I cannot say much from personal knowledge.

"I had this morning some very touching messages. One mother called up here, weeping. She said that she had called me up as a broken-hearted mother, because she was glad that some one had lifted up his voice against the condition in New York which had destroyed her daughter."

Dr. Straton declined to make public the affidavits of his companions as to the alleged criminal acts noted on the tour, saying that the affidavits and stories of these men would have to be reserved for the Grand Juries.

Wanted to Be Sure of His Ground.

"Some time ago, you will remember," he said, "I had something to say about conditions in the theatre world. At that time it was charged that I did not know what I was talking about. This time I thought I would be sure of my ground, so I went and got my information first-hand with plenty of corroboration."

Dr. Straton was asked about his statement that one of the resorts he had visited paid $500 to the police for protection.

"I don't know anything definite on that subject. A girl there said that there was no need to fear anything there, because the place paid $500 a week for protection."

Dr. Straton said that he regarded his excursion and sermon as a part of the routine of his duties of a minister with a church in the district in which such resorts existed.

"I have not said or done anything more than any other conservative preacher should do," he said.

Dr. Straton said that it was his intention to keep the fight going until the power of vice had been broken in this city.

"While I had a pretty good idea, from what I had heard, of night life in these places, I found it far more brazen and the lawbreaking more open than I had expected. This vicious life is so widespread that it is grabbing hundreds of people where the churches get one."

When it was suggested that the charges of Dr. Straton concerned the Federal authorities as much or more than the police, he said:

"I don't want to discuss the responsibility at present. The responsibility is really far higher. I will discuss the responsibility in my sermon on Sunday night."

Has Attacked the Stage.

Dr. Straton made an attack last November on the stage and actors, when he was invited to join church service of clergymen and actors in the drive for the Actors' Fund. The lights of the church went out at this joint service when a fuse blew out and Dr. Straton in a sermon on the following Sunday suggested that this accident was really a providential intervention in support of his side of the controversy.

In a sermon on Feb. 12 of this year, in commending the author of a magazine article, Dr. Straton said:

"This same writer frankly and fearlessly states the fact, which all who are familiar with conditions know, namely that many hotel and prominent apartment houses in this city are filled with women, supported by wealthy men from the outside."

Assistant District Attorney Smith was highly satisfied with the sermon and with his interview with Dr. Straton. The minister, it is asserted, will be one of his star witnesses against Inspector Dominick Henry, who is under attack by Mr. Smith and under investigation by the Grand Jury. District Attorney Swann said:

"We have invited the reverend gentleman to come here and tell the Grand Jury all that he knows about any violations of the law. If he has any evidence of a crime having been committed, we will ask the Grand Jury to indict. Selling alcoholic liquor, however, is an offense which would come under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government."

Charges Absurd, Says Healy.

Thomas Healy, one of the accused restaurant proprietors, said yesterday that the charges were absurd. He said that he took the greatest possible precautions to keep unescorted women and patrons carrying liquor out of his place. When he was asked if he had much trouble with persons trying to introduce liquor, he said:

"I don't want to say anything about that. I don't want to make any attack on the public."

Edward Yorke, one of the managers of the St. Nicholas Skating Rink and Dancing Carnival, denied that shocking dances occurred there, or that men and women introduced themselves in a free and easy manner. He said that the place was under constant supervision of women detectives from the staff of Fifth Deputy Police Commissioner Eleanor O'Grady.

Judge Malone, in Special Sessions yesterday, fixed the dates for trial in the recent police cases as follows: Augustus Drum Porter, ex-Third Deputy Police Commissioner, April 19; Detective J. J. Gunson, April 26, and Detective Thomas Dolan, charged with assault, April 28. Martin W. Littleton appeared for Mr. Porter and urged that the case be tried on the earliest date possible. Eugene F. McGee asked Judge Malone to place the trial of Gunson ahead of that of ex-Commissioner Porter.

PENNSYLVANIA REJECTS HENRY FORD PETITIONS

State Secretary Finds Defects That Delay His Entering the Primary.

HARRISBURG, April 5.—Nominating petitions purporting to place the name of Henry Ford, of Detroit, Mich., before the voters of Pennsylvania as a candidate for Presidential nomination at the May primary were rejected by the Secretary of the Commonwealth today because they did not give the name of any party and failed to comply with requirements of the Pennsylvania primary law.

In addition to being without any party designation the papers did not present the occupation of Mr. Ford and did not contain the affidavit of the man whom they offered for the primary that he was a bona fide candidate.

When the papers were presented at the Bureau of Elections the defects were called to the attention of the man who presented them and who stated that he had come from Detroit.

The blank forms were obtained a month ago. They will have to be returned to this city in corrected form before Thursday night if the name is to go on the primary ballot.

Representatives W. J. McCaig, Second Allegheny; George R. North, Chester; William C. Alexander and R. H. Heyburn, Second Delaware; Conrad G. Miller, First Luzerne; Philip Sterling, Twenty-sixth Philadelphia, and E. E. Kinsman, Wayne, all Republicans, and R. J. Kantner, Third Schuylkill, Democrat, filed petitions for renomination.

Gives Montjoie Railway to Belgium.

AIX-LA-CHAPELLE, April 5.—The International Commission dealing with questions relative to the new territories of Eupen and Malmedy has decided that the Montjoie Railway shall become the property of Belgium. The British and Italian delegates held that Germany could easily build another railway.

JOHNSON LEADS WOOD IN MICHIGAN

is that suffered by Gen. Wood. Michigan was a strong Roosevelt State and it was expected that Wood would give evidence of having taken over the Roosevelt leadership by a substantial victory in Michigan. The blow, therefore, would be severe, although not necessarily fatal to his fight.

Attorney General Palmer on the Democratic ticket has suffered a severe blow to his prospects. He is running last, despite the organization support, while Hoover leads. The result in Michigan, however, is not of great importance so far as the Democratic race is concerned.

Johnson Victory Claimed.

It was announced at the Johnson headquarters in this city last night that the California Senator would probably carry Michigan by a plurality exceeding 50,000 votes. The following telegram was received from Representative Louis C. Cramton of Detroit, manager of the Johnson campaign in Michigan.

"There has been a very heavy vote in Detroit today, and the indications are that Johnson will carry the State of Michigan by a plurality of more than 50,000. The first two districts to be heard from show Johnson leading all candidates."

BELGIAN LABOR GIVES PLANS

Will Participate in Government to Put Through Its Program.

BRUSSELS, April 5.—The Belgian Labor Congress, which opened here Saturday, has resolved by a large majority upon conditional participation of the Socialists in the Government. If reforms in the cost of living, the taxation of capital and industrial conditions are not adopted at the present Parliamentary session, they will withdraw.

The congress also decided upon a twenty-four-hour general strike on May Day as a protest against the cost of living and with the object of obtaining realization of the Socialist program.

PLAN TO RESUBMIT LEAGUE TO SENATE

the majority to such a point that it will be apparent that the necessary two-thirds vote could not be obtained to pass it over the President's expected veto. The resolution will be considered by the House Thursday and passed after nine hours' debate.

Expect no Definite Result.

It is becoming very plain, judged by the situation in the House and Senate, that the several peace moves, the joint resolution, and the proposition advanced by Senator Hitchcock to separate the League of Nations from the treaty and add it to the joint resolution, will lead to no definite result. Republican leaders appear to be determined to show the country that they intend to exhaust their efforts to obtain peace.

Democratic leaders fear that the joint resolution may be adopted by both houses and meet with the disapproval of the President. They said that such a contingency would be to the advantage of the Republican Party entering the national campaign. The efforts of the Democrats, it became known, will be centred upon defeating the resolution in the Senate, or preventing its adoption by June, when Congress will adjourn or take a recess for the political conventions.

Opponents of the joint resolution are finding new objections to it each day. One of the chief objections is that the resolution cannot safeguard the property rights of Americans in Germany, just as it does not take care of a German national's property seized here by the Alien Property Custodian.

Caldwell Assails Terms.

Representative Caldwell, Democrat, of New York, said that he would vote for the peace resolution, although he did not favor a large part of it. The preamble, he said, was a confession of the weakness of Republican leadership, while the first section, which declares that the war is over, is a misstatement of fact.

"Unless the second paragraph is amended the rights of the Alien Property Custodian will be destroyed and the Emergency Fleet Corporation and the Shipping Board will go out of business, two very large prices to pay for legislative peace," he said. "The peace we buy in this resolution is not an international peace, but only a peace as far as this country is concerned.

"On passage of this resolution every German national whose property has been taken, destroyed or injured can make a claim through his Government that will be passed upon by an international court under the terms of the old German treaty which is revived by Article I. of this resolution, composed of our enemies, for by this resolution we do not make friends with the Central Powers, we insult our allies."

Mr. Caldwell said he would support the resolution on the ground that the "people expect a public official to do something, and even if he does it wrong are more forgiving than if he does nothing at all."

Representative Igoe, Democrat, of Missouri, said:

"It is certain that much confusion and litigation would follow an ending of the war with Germany without proper provision for a ratification of all the acts of the United States, affecting property of German Nationals, and for an adjustment of claims of Americans for property seized by Germany. The joint resolution makes no provision for this."

URGE LEAGUE ENTRY ON BASIS OF NOV. 19

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Those responsible for the appeal presented to President Wilson last week urging a compromise between the President and the Senate that would enable the United States to enter the League of Nations have formulated a plan for carrying their project into effect.

The appeal was signed by many prominent Americans, including Cardinal Gibbons, A. Lawrence Lowell, Cleveland H. Dodge, Jacob H. Schiff, Frederic R. Coudert and the Right Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster. Twenty-five names have been added to the list of signatures of the original appeal.

It is suggested that by agreement between the President and a sufficient number of Senators to assure the two-thirds vote necessary to ratify, the United States should join the League "upon the basis of what are known as the Lodge reservations as adopted by a majority vote of the Senate last November 19 (which were the reservations resulting from the Lodge-Macumber compromise), with such favorable modifications as have since been accepted by the majority, or as may be immediately obtained by negotiations, and leave the remaining questions in dispute to be settled later—by a referendum, if a referendum seems necessary, or by continued negotiation."

"In other words," says the statement of the plan made public today, "we say to the opposing parties, you may take your referendum if you will, but not while the world waits in suspense and agony for the pledge of the aid we are willing to give."

Some of those who subscribed to the appeal have since expressed an unwillingness to be a party to the movement if it indorses the Irish independence reservation attached to the League covenant in March. The answer to this is that the plan proposes the acceptance of the Lodge reservations adopted by the Senate on Nov. 19, which did not include the Irish reservation.

"The effect of the adoption of this plan," says the statement, "would be to set the League of Nations in operation under the provisions contained in Articles XIV. and XV. for the creation of a code of international laws and the erection of a Supreme Court of international justice and with the valuable provisions contained in other articles of the convenant (not excepted by the reservations with which we would enter) by far the most important of which remaining provisions would be the one contained in Article XVI. for the application of the economic boycott, the most powerful instrument in all the covenant for the preservation of peace, the one most ready for use and which avoids all the sacrifices of war.

"There would then remain before the President and the Senate and the American people for settlement, only the questions upon which immediate agreement now seems impossible, chiefly this: Should the Lodge reservations by this agreement adopted and put in force as affecting Article X. remain in force or be withdrawn? Or should they be modified? And if modified, in what way?

"The plan ought therefore to secure the ready approval of a Lodge Republican, since it is a practical acceptance of the majority demands. And it should as readily be welcomed by an Administration Democrat and by every intelligent friend of the League of Nations, because it makes certain to a starving world an immediate full half-loaf of the relief the most ardent friends of the League demand for it, while it leaves open to them the fullest opportunity to ask of the country in a political contest, if it be their wish to do so, a decision upon their highest ideals as expressed in the reservations of their choice."

ENRIGHT ABANDONS INSPECTORS BILL

STRONG OUTSIDE PRESSURE

State Capital Surprised Hylan Is Behind Measure to Separate Detectives and Police.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 5.—Word was brought to the Capitol tonight that Police Commissioner Enright had been compelled, through opposition in the Police Department and pressure brought from without, to abandon his fight for the bill to restore the grade of Inspector on the uniformed force.

Through an amendment to the New York City Charter, enacted while General Bingham was Police Commissioner, an Inspector was made a detail and the Police Commissioner was given power to reduce designated Inspectors to Captains' grade if they failed to make good.

Strong pressure has been brought to bear on members of the uniformed force in lesser grades with a view to breaking down the opposition, but these efforts failed.

News that the city administration was preparing to get behind the Lockwood bill, which practically would take the Detective Bureau out of the Police Department, at any event from the control of Commissioner Enright, by giving to the Civil Service Commission and the Board of Estimate joint power in the making of promotions and the fixing of salaries, came as a surprise. A rumor which none of the New York lawmakers here tonight could verify, had it that the Lockwood bill was to be amended so as to make the appointment of Police Lieutenant Irving O'Hara, Mayor Hylan's bodyguard and brother-in-law, eligible as head of the proposed new detective division.

On behalf of Minority Leader Charles D. Donohue of the Assembly, two bills were introduced tonight to meet conditions which have arisen in connection with the District Attorney's crusade against gambling. One of the bills defines gambling and premises used for gambling as a public nuisance. The other makes the possession of a roulette wheel or other gambling paraphernalia by any one not an officer of the law, presumptive evidence that a place where it was found was being maintained in violation of the Penal law.

Nation to Control Coast Parks.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—A bill giving the Federal Government complete control over the Yosemite, the Sequoia and the General Grant National Parks was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate. Its enactment was asked by the California Legislature at a recent session. Under the bill all park rules and regulations would be enforced by the Federal Government.

FINDS LACK OF MEN IN STATE DEPARTMENT

But Colby Is Not Ready to Say What Specific Reforms He Will Propose.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State, permitted it to become known today that he was not yet prepared to say what specific changes or reforms should be made in the Department of State. Several bills for a reorganization of the department are pending in Congress, but have not yet reached the hearing stage. Before his resignation as Secretary of State, Robert Lansing, who had given exhahstive study to the needs of the department, sent to the Chairmen of the Committees on Foreign Relations and Foreign Affairs in Congress a long letter in which he set forth very fully his views as to what should be done to put the State Department on a more effective footing.

Chairman Porter of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said tonight that he was very much impressed with the views of Mr. Lansing, and that when the committee, later in the year, undertook to hold hearings on the pending measures he would call Mr. Lansing as the first witness. Secretary Colby and others will likewise be called upon to state their views.

"I have read Mr. Lansing's letter," said Secretary Colby today. "But it is a little too early to ask me what my opinion is, as that is a very carefully drawn recommendation of Mr. Lansing.

"Of course there is this to be said about that recommendation: It has many years of a careful study of the Department of State behind it, and it is the recommendation of a man whose views on the subject are entitled to great weight. I had a brief talk with Mr. Lansing on the subject of his letter some days ago.

"As to specific changes or reforms in the department, I am not quite prepared to say at this time what I favor or what I shall indorse or what I shall propose. This is a very large department, and to a newcomer in the department it takes some time to get even a superficial impression of the work. Yet, I may say, there are a number of branches of the department that are undermanned and understaffed at the present time. We have the difficulty that all Washington has in keeping men of highest ability contented in positions that are very onerous and exacting at the very moderate salaries which it is possible for us to offer men. The problem is a very important one and is receiving my very closest study."

WASHINGTON, April 5. — A $214,020,000 pension bill was presented today in the House.

Those benefiting under it number 624,427, Representative Cannon, Republican, of Illinois stated, adding that this was 22,468 fewer than this year. The total appropriation, however, was only $1,010,000 less than that for the present fiscal year.

The names of 50,752 persons were stricken from the list this year, but 28,284 were added.

LEFT HULL HOUSE DEC. 30

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 5.—The body of Jeanne Anna De Kay, the twenty-year-old daughter of John Wesley De Kay, a wealthy packer, now living in Switzerland, was found today floating in Lake Michigan about 100 yards north of the municipal pier.

The body of the young woman, whose disappearance from Hull House on Dec. 30 last caused a nation-wide search that held public interest for weeks, was identified by Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton of Hull House, one of Miss De Kay's closest friends. Mrs. Britton expressed the opinion that the girl had gone directly from Hull House to the municipal pier on Dec. 30, and had thrown herself into the lake. That she committed suicide while despondent is not doubted.

Battered by waves and ice, the body was tossed toward shore with seaweed and wreckage as the lake quieted after Sunday's fierce snowstorm and gale.

"The storm yesterday and the density of the water, which is at a maximum at this season, undoubtedly accounts for the recovery of Miss De Kay's body," said Henry J. Cox, in charge of the Chicago Weather Bureau.

Immediately after the identity had been established Mrs. Britton sent a telegram to the girl's brother, John Wesley De Kay, Jr., in Ashbourne, Va. It was he who accompanied the girl from Switzerland to Hull House. When she disappeared, four days after he had gone back to Virginia to school, he returned to Chicago and conducted the weary search for his sister in hospitals and morgues.

Mrs. Britton also sent a telegram to Colorado, informing Miss Jane Addams that the search for the Hull House visitor had ended.

Jeanne De Kay came to Chicago to work with the poor under the tutelage of Jane Addams. She was born in Waukegan, Ill., where her father was editor of a newspaper. The family came into a fortune about ten years ago and went to Mexico, and later to Europe. Jeanne was educated in an English school.

In Europe Mr. De Kay devoted himself to writing books which won the disapproval of several European Governments. His activity in pacifist circles brought him into contact with Miss Jane Addams while she was in Europe on a peace mission, and it was this meeting that led to Jeanne's coming to Chicago.

DROP SCHOOL USE CHARGE.

Complaints Against Friends of Irish Freedom Meeting Not Proved.

The special committee of the Board of Education, to which was referred the complaints of the Rev. William McNicoll, the Rev. D. D. Irvine and Mrs. W. T. Miller about the use of the public school in Woodhaven, Queens, as a meeting of the friends of Irish freedom on Dec. 7, 1919, and a speech by ex-Congressman Flynn of Brooklyn, in which he is alleged to have said that Congress would vote for the freedom of Ireland, and that "if President Wilson vetoed it, it would be passed over his veto," reported yesterday.

The report stated that no stenographic account of Mr. Flynn's speech had been taken and that statements as to the meeting made by the complainant had been denied. The report said there had been a dozen meetings since Dec. 7 in other public schools by the friends of Irish freedom at which stenographic notes of the speeches were taken, and nothing seditious was uttered. The committee therefore asked to be relieved and the board so ordered.

BOY PLAYS HANGING, KILLED BY NOOSE

CELLAR SCENE OF TRAGEDY

While testing a hangman's noose which he playfully had threatened to use on one of his younger brothers whom he accused of taking a fountain pen cap, Solomon Bernstein, fifteen years old, was accidentally strangled to death yesterday afternoon in the cellar of the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bernstein, 1,165 Forty-second Street, Borough Park, Brooklyn.

Solomon went to school yesterday and was returning home with his two younger brothers, Samuel, thirteen, and Isidore, ten, when he saw the cap of a fountain pen lying on the sidewalk. He picked it up, put it in his pocket, and the three continued on their way home. When they got home the rain was still falling, and they were unable to go out to play. They went to the cellar and Solomon took the fountain pen cap out of his pocket.

The brothers were romping about when Solomon dropped the fountain pen cap, which rolled into an obscure corner. The lads began a search for the lost article but could not find it. Solomon accused the youngster, Isidore, of having it, and demanded its return. Isidore denied he had taken the cap. Solomon said: "If you don't give me that fountain pen cap, I'll give you just one hour to live."

Solomon searched about the cellar for some kind of an "instrument of torture" to make the younger brother "confess." He found a rope and began to fashion a hangman's noose.

"I'll show you the way they used to treat fellows like you in the old days," threatened Solomon. He placed a tub on the floor under a beam, approached the younger brother and started to put the noose around the latter's neck. Just then his mother called the two youngest boys to go on an errand to a store in the block. They made their purchases and returned in about fifteen minutes, and went back to the cellar to brave the mimic wrath of their older brother.

When they entered the cellar, however, they saw the form of Solomon on the floor. The rope was drawn tightly about his neck. A policeman was called, and he sent for Dr. Joseph Bernstein. The physician found the boy was dead. The tub on which the boy had stood was kicked almost to pieces, indicating that Solomon had made a desperate struggle to save himself when he found the noose, which he probably had tried out, playfully drawn too tightly around his neck. He had loosened the rope from the beam but apparently did not have sufficient strength to remove the noose from his neck.

And the entry on the police blotter gave the cause of death as suicide.

ASKS OLD FARE ON CENTRAL.

Cuvillier Urges Attorney General to Proceed Against Road.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 5.—Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier introduced a resolution at the session tonight calling upon Attorney General Newton to institute proceedings against the New York Central Railroad to compel the company to return to the pre-war rate of two cents a mile upon its main line between New York City and Buffalo.

The resolution, in two preambles, calls attention to the fact that under war conditions and while operating under Government control the New York Central was permitted to raise its passenger rate to three cents a mile and to the fact that upon the road being returned to its private owners the higher rate has been continued. It then calls attention to Subdivision 5, Section 56, of the railroad law, which provides for the two-cent rate.

The Cuvillier resolution was referred not to the Railroad Committee but to the Assembly Committee on the Judiciary. It will not require for its adoption the concurrence of the Senate.

Brief sessions were held in both the Senate and Assembly tonight, but no legislative business was transacted beyond the introduction of bills and the resolution.

employes. "They are too conservative to strike in any great number," it was said. J. T. De Hunt, President of the New York District Council of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes, asserted, however, that a great many members of the organization feared the eight-hour day was imperiled and that the situation as regards them was acute. Mr. De Hunt said that he expected to attend a series of conferences, but would give no details nor would he say with whom he was to confer.

The strike leaders are awaiting the return from Buffalo today of T. V. O'Connor, President of the International Longshoremen's Association, with whom the question of a possible strike of all longshoremen will be discussed. William F. Dempsey, Secretary of the Atlantic Coast division of the organization, said that no request had been made for the longshoremen to join the strike and added: "I don't think there will be any." He styled William A. Maher's proposal for a nation-wide strike as "all bunk."

A sympathetic strike of the workers on independent boats was hinted at by Thomas B. Healey, President of the Marine Workers' Alliance. Mr. Healey said complaints had been received from independent boat captains that they had been asked to do railroad work. The violations have not been flagrant enough to warrant a general harbor strike, however, Mr. Healey said.

Quote Central Offer.

Overtures from individual railroads to settle the strike have been made, according to the union leaders. It was said that the New York Central had offered to sign an agreement to give their men an eight-hour day and to make a promise that they would not sell any equipment, as the Erie had done, and thus avoid the eight-hour rule. Mr. Healey said that the Alliance had refused to accept any individual bargaining, and that the New York Central was told that if it really wished to settle the strike it should bring pressure on the other roads to agree to the same terms.

"The situation is improving hourly," Mr. Mantell, speaking for the railroad managers, said after a conference in the morning. Mr. Mantell added that two of the three Erie ferryboats to Chambers Street were running, but that the Twenty-third Street boats were not operating. The Pennsylvania was operating four of its six boats, he said, the Jersey Central three out of four, and the West Shore one boat to Forty-second Street.

"A few more tugs" were in operation, according to Mr. Mantell. The Poughkeepsie Bridge route, the New York Central lines and the ferryboats are being used to help move the freight. No definite figures showing the condition of the traffic could be obtained, but it was admitted that the embargo was still on, except for slight modifications.

Fog added to the irregularity of both ferry and tug movements. There was a great congestion in vehicular traffic, due in part to the movement of freight on motor trucks across the ferries. Deliveries of milk and produce were delayed about four hours. Large quantities were moved across the Lackawanna ferries, whose schedules have not been affected by the strike.

Possible Government intervention under the powers conferred by the Esch-Cummins Railroad law was indicated by the announcement of H. M. Squires, Executive Secretary of the National Adjustment Commission and representative of the Department of Labor in New York, that he was making a survey of the strike. He said that he might recommend a board of arbitration, as provided for by the law.

When Mr. Mantell was told of Mr. Squires's activities he said: "There is nothing to mediate or arbitrate."

"No man who remains on strike will get his job back," a railroad official said last night. It was said, however, that an opportunity would be given for men to return to work voluntarily if they did so immediately.

Disagrees on Raising Services' Pay.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—House and Senate conferees on the bill providing increased pay for enlisted and commissioned personnel of the army and navy failed to reach an agreement today and the House managers will ask the House for further instructions. Disinfection and Health Go Hand in Hand

Fortunately, thousands of men and women are recognizing the danger of disease germs, and are doing their part through proper and regular disinfection to protect health and put an end to epidemics.

Every epidemic of contagious disease can be traced to carelessness or indifference to proper sanitation. And hundreds of innocent victims must pay the price of someone's carelessness.

Don't let contagious disease get a foothold in your office or home. Insist on regular disinfection.

SOCIALISTS PLAN WIDE PROPAGANDA

UNIONS PREPARED TO HELP

Labor Meeting Tomorrow Night—Appeal to Workers Is Headed "The New York Revolution."

The future action of the Socialist Party in the matter of the five Assemblymen ousted at Albany will be determined at a meeting of the Committee of Eight in People's House, in East Fifteenth Street, tonight and at a meeting of the Trades Union Conference tomorrow night.

It was said yesterday that the Committee of Eight will consider the plan of the lawyers in behalf of the ousted five, and it may determine what the policy of the State organization will be, along what lines the propaganda will be carried forward and the character of the support union labor will give. The Committee of Eight is composed of Morris Hillquit, Alderman Beckerman, Benjamin Glassberg, Algernon Lee, S. John Block, James Oneal, Julius Gerber and A. I. Chatcuff. The Union Conference represents the Central Federated Union, the Central Federated Union of Brooklyn, the Hebrew Trades, the Woman's Trade Union League, the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, the Amalgamated Garment Workers of America, the International Furriers' Union, the Brotherhood of Painters, the Workmen's Circle, the Bronx Congress, the Irish Progressive League, the American Labor Party Committee of Forty-eight.

"The New York Revolution."

The National Executive Committee of the Socialist Party gave out yesterday a presentation of the case of the New York Assemblymen. It was headed "The New York Revolution," and was addressed to "The Workingmen of the Nation and All Other Fighters for Human Liberty."

The statement is signed by William H. Henry, George E. Roewer, Jr., and James Oneal. They declare that the "usurping oligarchy in the Capitol at Albany" has abolished the republican form of Government and the franchise of 60,000 voters has been taken away, and it is proposed to disfranchise 100,000 more.

The trial was declared reminiscent of the "black days of the Inquisition," where perjured testimony was introduced and the vote was taken at the orders of the party leaders. The only thing the trials proved, the committee found, was that the Socialists believe that natural resources and the great plants for producing wealth should no longer be owned by an "exploiting class"; that Socialists are opposed to war, and that they seek to have elected officers redeem their public promises.

The statement recites that the party has gained support through the action of the Assembly and that the "masses" are coming to the organization in increasing numbers.

"The Socialist Party will not be driven underground by its enemies," the statement continues. "It will not allow itself to be manoeuvred into a secret organization persecuted by the enemies of the workers. Instead of being driven underground, we shall drive these treacherous oligarchs into the obscurity of private life."

The attorneys who are planning further action, and who will conduct whatever legal action that may be approved, included Morris Hillquit, G. E. Roe and S. John Block.

NEW RENT GOUGING LAWS FILL COURTS

voluntarily and for the first time appeared before the committee and asked that rents be adjusted.

The Mayor's Committee had one of the biggest days in its history yesterday, when 450 to 500 complaints were heard.

The Board of Municipal Justices met in the afternoon in the rooms of the Ninth District Court and listened to Justice Frederick Spiegelberg explain the meaning of the new laws. He suggested that stays should not be granted to tenants in the following cases:

In proceedings where the landlord establishes that he or the purchaser of a building is about to tear it down in order to erect another building for essential purposes.

When a landlord establishes that he or the purchaser of the property proposes to alter it immediately or to reconstruct the building for new families.

When a holdover proceeding is brought in respect to a written lease having a cancellation clause providing a bonus for the tenant, if the tenant received low rent because of such clause.

When the landlord desires the premises for himself or his family. This applies to private houses.

When it is established that the building has been sold on a co-operative basis and one or more tenants are holding out against the co-operators.

Justice Aaron J. Levy, head of the board, declared that the new law's grant of power was greater than the equity power of the United States Supreme Court, and urged the Justices to use the greatest care in rendering their decisions, as the courts would be closely watched both by landlords and tenants, each of whom would be eager to benefit as much as possible from any precedents that might be established. It was necessary to exercise great caution in preparing full records of all cases, he said, so that the higher courts would have clean records upon which to pass when test cases were taken.

The committee appointed by Mayor Hylan to frame constructive legislation designed to stimulate the erection of homes consists of Mr. Mann, Chairman; Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland, Walter J. Salmon, real estate operator; Captain John P. Leo of the Board of Standards and Appeals, Edward P. Doyle of the Real Estate Board and Assistant Corporation Counsel William Mayer.

Hope to Exempt Mortgages.

It is believed that the first bill to be urged by the committee will be one to exempt from the State income tax interest on mortgages. An organization meeting was held last night, and the first formal meeting will be held today in Commissioner Mann's office.

Justice Peter Shiels, in the Bronx Municipal Court, was confronted with 900 landlord and tenant cases yesterday. He disposed of 250 and adjourned the others. Under the law, he granted stays of eviction for two months in some cases. In the case of James Treanor of 301 East 152d Street, whose landlord wanted him to vacate on April 15, he granted a stay of ninety days. Eighty per cent. of the cases disposed of were handled according to the new law, granting additional time to the tenant.

The Brooklyn Municipal Courts were jammed with cases. In one court the calendar measured fifteen feet, instead of the usual two or three short pages. There were 300 cases before Justice Ferguson in the Gates Avenue Court. The dockets were full in the East New York, Howard Avenue, Duffield Street and Bay Ridge Courts.

In the Seventh District Municipal Court 320 rent cases were scheduled. There were 170 cases in the Eighth District Court, and 150 in the Third District.

Max Spector, owner of the house at 1,409-1,411 East New York Avenue, was attacked by a group of angry women in front of the building. The tenants are on a rent strike and refuse to pay increases demanded. Spector was reeling under the blows and kicks of the women when Isidore Self, 18 years old, pushed a toy pistol into the faces of the women, who fled shrieking. Spectators who thought the weapon real sought to overpower Self, who escaped and was run down by a patrolman. He convinced the officer that the pistol was just a toy and he was not arrested.

The Adams Place Holding Company, of which Samuel Ehrlich is President, was convicted in Special Sessions on a charge of failing to provide sufficient heat in the building at 180 Edgecombe Avenue. Sentence will be imposed on April 16.

The Executive Committee of the Tenants' Defense Union will meet tonight in the rooms of the United Hebrew Trades at 175 East Broadway to further plans for the rent revolt on May 1, when it will be sought to have 800,000 tenants refuse to pay what they consider exorbitant increases in rent.

Kaplan Foes Start Disorder.

The mass meeting called last night at Wadleigh High School to listen to speakers explain the new rent legislation was almost turned into a political riot when Senator Abraham Kaplan, a member of the State Housing Committee, began to speak.

Mr. Kaplan is making a fight in the primaries against James J. Hines for State Committeeman. He has the indorsement of Tammany Hall. When he began to speak there were boos and hisses from the Hines followers in the gallery. There was so much confusion that at first Senator Kaplan was unable to make himself heard. The Hines partisans waved pamphlets advocating Hines as committeeman.

"At every meeting that I have attended the profiteering landlords have tried to shout me down," declared Kaplan, and there was a chorus of boos and hisses from his political opponents. Municipal Court Justice Spiegelberg tried to restore order. In spite of his appeal for a square deal to Mr. Kaplan the disorder continued and a hurry call was sent for the police. By the time they arrived the turmoil had subsided. Senator Kaplan said he would speak if he had to remain in the hall all night. He finally finished his address and left the building.

CRITICISES SIMS ON CONVOY SYSTEM

Conditions Fletcher Complained Of Existed for Months Afterward, His Successor Asserts.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Vice Admiral Sims's employment of American destroyer forces in European waters during the first year of this country's participation in the war was severely criticised today by Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, in testimony before the Naval Board investigating Rear Admiral William B. Fletcher's removal from the Brest command by Admiral Sims.

Basing of all destroyers used in convoying American troops and supply transports into French ports on Queenstown, instead of Brest, up to the Spring of 1918, Admiral Wilson declared, meant that the destroyers "worked only one way" and "wasted mileage" in the long trip back to Queenstown for refueling.

If originally based on Brest, he declared, these destroyers could have worked "both ways," convoying transports out as well as into the French ports, and thus made to render their maximum service, as was demonstrated some eight months later, he added, when this plan was permitted.

Disagreeing with the testimony of Captain Byron C. Long, Sims's aide for operations at London, who said Admiral Fletcher's request that destroyers be based on Brest was denied because of a lack of oiling facilities there, Admiral Wilson declared that at the time he succeeded Fletcher facilities at Brest were adequate for "quite a large force."

Admiral Wilson declared the five converted yachts, which it was testified had been the only force available for outward convoy of transports during Admiral Fletcher's command at Brest, were "worthless" for that service.

Captain N. C. Twining, counsel for Admiral Sims, questioned the witness's "competency to pass judgment upon the adequacy of Admiral Fletcher's force when you were not acquainted in detail with what he had to do with it."

"I need no details," replied Admiral Wilson. "I know that he had to escort troopships to sea and that he had only a worthless force to do it with. There is no question under heaven about his forces having been inadequate, because I had to suffer under the same thing for months."

Testifying that he took three staff officers and a considerable office force with him to Brest, Admiral Wilson declared that he "found practically nothing to work with" in the Brest organization when he got there.

On succeeding Fletcher at Brest, Admiral Wilson told the committee he at once decided not to send transports to sea under "such camouflaged escort" unless positively ordered to do so by Vice Admiral Sims. The witness said he urged the necessity of basing an adequate destroyer force on Brest for the outward convoy of American troop and supply transports in several communications to Admiral Sims shortly after assuming command. In one of these communications, placed in the record, Admiral Wilson directly attributed the sinking of the Antilles to the ineffective yacht escorts.

There were only five coal-burning destroyers at Brest on Nov. 1, the Admiral said, while a total of thirty-three were based on Queenstown.

Concrete Warehouse, Navy Dept.

Each week our purchasing department charts the prices of building materials, supplies and equipment, and works out comparative costs for erecting buildings in various materials — steel, concrete, brick, etc. It studies the trend of the market and anticipates price increases, shortages, strikes, embargoes, etc.

In letting sub-contracts, this department analyzes the ability, organizations and equipment of sub-contractors, selects the most capable and reliable, and confers with them frequently on prices, quality, deliveries, etc.

It also keeps in close touch with the job to see that everything and everybody gets there when needed.

Do you want this kind of service on your next factory, warehouse, or coal pocket?

The Dawn of Comfort

THE Humphrey Automatic Gas Water Heater brings a long-wanted comfort to the home—an unlimited supply of fresh, piping-hot water, all over the house, day or night, winter or summer, by simply turning a faucet.

The Humphrey Automatic Gas Water Heater dispenses with the old, expensive, furnace-coil system. It overcomes the limitations of the storage tank. With a Humphrey you are not restricted to one tank or even twenty tanks of hot water. Nor is unused water heated over and over again.

The Humphrey Automatic Gas Water Heater gives you an unlimited supply of hot water—freshly heated and hurried to you as fast as the faucet can carry it. It matters not whether one or a dozen tub-fuls are wanted—the Humphrey gives you a constant flow of clean, hot water as long as faucets are open. Best of all, the Humphrey is entirely automatic. It is practically trouble-proof. Gives no bother of any kind. No fires to keep up—not even a match to strike. The Humphrey Automatic Heater works like magic. Any time—every time—you open a hot water faucet the flow of water turns on the gas which lights at once from a tiny pilot. Hot water comes in an instant—flows as long as the faucet is open. Close the faucet, the gas shuts off—saves you expense—heats only as much water as required at the time.

Not only is the Humphrey a tireless, constant servant and the cleanest, easiest hot water supplier, it is the cheapest. The wonderful service and comfort the Humphrey gives costs less than a smoker's cigars for the day. Heats a big bath of twenty gallons of water for about two cents.

Can you afford to endure the discomfort of an uncertain, limited, bothersome, hot-water supply when for a few cents a day you can have this wonderful, automatic hot water service?

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

The world needs peace; France and Germany need peace. The occupation of Frankfort, Darmstadt, Hanau and Homburg by French troops would embitter feeling in Germany, and in France; the day of ultimate reconciliation, if there be such a day, will be still further deferred. But who is to blame?

The German Government is under obligation, by the Treaty, not to "maintain or assemble" armed forces, either permanently or temporarily, in the neutral zone which includes the Ruhr district. That was a definite promise in the Peace Treaty, which did not make any exception for rebellions. When the French refused permission for this new violation of the Treaty, coming on top of so many other violations, the Germans promised to respect it and not to send their army in. They broke that promise. The French protested; the Germans said that certain military units had moved under a misunderstanding. And a day later the German Envoy in Paris told M. Millerand that the troops had been moved by orders of the Ebert Government; that the French were confronted with a fait accompli and might as well make the best of it. The procedure was truly German—German in the style of 1914.

To the Ruhr insurgents the German Government made the same promise as to the French, that the Reichswehr would not be sent in. That promise, too, was broken; the Reichswehr is going into Westphalia to restore order. It is commanded by a reactionary General who seems to have sided with Kapp and Luettwitz in the recent Junker rising. It is a reactionary army, on its way to stamp out a movement less dangerous for Germany and Europe than a militarist reaction would be. Meanwhile, the reactionary conspirators who so nearly overthrew Ebert are unpunished; the reactionary military formations which backed them are not disbanded. Rebellion by the Junkers is punished by promotion; rebellion by the workers is subdued by treachery and punished by the well-known methods of Schrecklichkeit. The Ebert Government reforms as often as the town drunkard, and to about as much purpose.

So we have the reactionary army occupying the Ruhr coal fields, in violation of a double promise. When there were no German troops on the Ruhr the deliveries of coal to France were something like one-seventh of the amount stipulated in the Peace Treaty. The Germans are doing as much as they are compelled to do, and no more; and the French hear their allies saying that the Germans must not be asked to do even that. The Allies in effect revised the Treaty provision relating to war criminals; the answer was the rebellion of reactionaries emboldened by what they regarded as a sign of weakness. Yet in England and in Italy there is talk of being kind to Germany, of more concessions, of a thorough revision of the Treaty. The French can hardly be blamed for observing that England and Italy have got all they need, that both are secure against a German revival. France is not secure; she sees a German army of the old type marching into the coal fields, where it will be able to stop even the driblets which have so far been coming out.

By the Treaty of Peace such a movement of German soldiers is an act of hostility toward the signatories of the Treaty, and "calculated to disturb the peace of the world." That is to say, it is an act of hostility against England and Italy as much as against France, but England and Italy will do nothing about it. America has rejected the Versailles Treaty and ignored the treaty of alliance which was to have pledged our aid to France against an unprovoked attack. And in Germany every item of the Treaty is debated, opposed, resisted or fulfilled, if at all, grudgingly and only so far as is unavoidable. The French at last are trying to stop this sort of thing.

While the world will earnestly pray that no renewal of war or war measures will be the result, the attitude of France is understandable. France treats as a hostile act what we all promised to treat as a hostile act; the rest of us have no pressing need so to regard it, so we ignore it. But for France the war is not yet over, so long as a German army of the old sort is moving toward the Rhine and Germany is deliberately breaking every promise that her peace delegates made at Versailles. It would be a great misfortune for the world if hostilities should begin again; but if they do the fault will lie precisely where it lay in August of 1914. And the United States, for its behavior in regard to the treaties, is chargeable with the grossest contributory negligence.

REPRESSION AT ALBANY.

If Speaker Sweet persists in throttling the women's welfare bills, Governor Smith's reconstruction measures and the rest of the current program of reform legislation, he is likely to find that a policy of universal repression is barren of political fruit. It is senseless to treat in this way measures of sane and enlightened progress. Last year the throttling of the welfare bills encountered a protest which even the Speaker recognized as menacing. This year there is the added interest of a constructive program as important economically as it is politically.

The eight-hour bill and the minimum-wage bill embody some highly contentious matter, and have encountered an opposition which may not be altogether self-seeking. They could scarcely fail to do so, for they deal with problems that are comparatively new in politics and that touch the very heart of our future well-being. But for that very reason they deserve the most thorough possible publicity and the most enlightened criticism of which the lawmakers are capable. That there is need of some remedy is manifest. The forces of economic change, as irresistible as they are often blind, have thrown vast and increasing numbers of young girls and women into shop and factory, where they encounter conditions of work and of pay that call for change. To the appeal of common humanity their case adds the appeal of national self-interest, for the welfare of the women of today is the welfare of the citizens of the future. That any effort in such a cause should be stifled is intolerable, and the effort which focuses in the present bills is of very unusual enlightenment and ability.

As to Governor Smith's reconstruction program there should be but one opinion. It embodies the reform contemplated by the Constitutional Convention of 1915; and, though that effort failed, the idea it stood for has since been put in force in numerous other States, and always with triumphant success. Governor Lowden owes his nation-wide fame, his very being as a candidate for the Presidential nomination, to the signal success of his reorganization of the Government of Illinois. No candid observer doubts that Governor Smith's program means vastly enhanced efficiency and a saving of public funds. In the Republican opposition to the measures there are two strong motives—the politician's aversion to a reduction of available offices and salaries and the tactician's unwillingness that the opposing party shall have the credit of a beneficent reform. Neither motive will appeal to the great mass of voters who, in addition to financial burdens already crushing, will have to pay in further taxes the cost of Speaker Sweet's obduracy.

There is still time for a sharp fight against the forces of blind self-interest, and it bids fair to be used to the utmost. That failing, Governor Smith has it in his power to call an extra session, and meanwhile stump the State in behalf of his women's welfare bills and his program of reconstruction. Now or hereafter he cannot fail to win; for he has on his side the great forces of right feeling and of constructively progressive thinking.

MR. MONDELL'S PLEA FOR ECONOMY.

Representative Mondell's warning that the country must economize or it will invite disaster is not his first appeal of the sort to the common sense and the character of the American people, who had common sense and character enough to pinch and save and deny themselves during the war when defeat would have meant ruin. It will be said by some that Mr. Mondell is speaking to his associates in Congress, and not to the American people; he is addressing both, and if the people insist upon economy in appropriations, Congress, which represents their desire and should be responsive to their will, must heed them. But the people themselves must practice thrift and avoid hazardous business ventures for the hope of excessive profits, or all that Congress can do to save a critical situation will be of no avail. There can't be thrift by Congress and an orgy of speculation and of profligate spending by the people, for if the people are indifferent to the scaling down of appropriations to meet the bare needs of the Government Congress will play fast and loose with the revenues and back any expenditure that seems popular. In January Mr. Mondell said this:

> There are at least three compelling reasons why we must economize, why we must reduce our appropriations in excess of a billion below the estimates, and why, having done that, we must decline to appropriate for objects and purposes not included in the estimates unless they are absolutely imperative. First, we cannot do otherwise without doing violence to a budget policy which we have approved; second, we cannot follow any other course without nullifying all of our professions and our efforts to reduce the high cost of living; third, we must follow this course or we face a deficit at least three times as great as our yearly total of expenditures prior to the beginning of the World War. We cannot increase taxes; we should not issue bonds; there is no course open to us but to economize, and to economize to the limit.

It will be observed that Mr. Mondell put increase of taxation before the issuing of bonds as more culpable; and yet a design to tax the people more heavily to raise $1,500,000,000 to pay bonuses to ex-service men regardless of the question of disability in the line of duty has been seriously proposed within a day or two by members of Congress who have an eye upon the vote of the men who wore the uniform in the late war. Mr. Mondell, in his statement published yesterday, is silent upon this phase of appropriation by Congress, but if he is sincere, and he speaks with feeling about the financial breakers ahead, he cannot personally approve of the bonus agitation. What he shows is that the Government is hard put to it to pay current obligations as they fall due. As he says, "the Treasury cannot perform miracles, and the best management of the Treasury cannot avert disaster unless we keep public expenditures within our income." The floating debt, he declares, "must not be increased by a dollar or disaster threatens."

It is not necessary for him to explain what he means by disaster. It would be felt in every household in the land. "A further bond issue is unthinkable," says Mr. Mondell. And so is the imposition of more taxes for anything short of the absolute needs of administration. The Government must pay its just debts as they accrue, and where its honor is concerned, as in providing living pay for the officers of the army and navy, it must not be found wanting.

EDUCATING THE CONSUMER.

The country is in a fair and fast way of being educated out of its "economic illiteracy" by the co-operative efforts of labor and capital alike. Labor puts up wages, and sellers put up prices, while buyers "pay the freight" for both. The singular thing is that both sides think and publicly say that the education of the victims will lead them to take sides contrary to their interests. Hugh Frayne, a spokesman whom labor will scarcely disavow, thinks that if the employer were only educated in the union point of view the strike difficulty would be solved. The coal miners think and say that if the users of coal understand the methods of the operators the price of coal could not be advanced. The commission which made the award also is strong for the correction of the coal trade troubles by the education of the public into perception that it is a party to the controversy, and has a duty itself to discharge if it wishes to be protected against both labor and price troubles. Railway operators take the same position regarding the demand of railway men for a few more hundred millions of dollars addition to wages, which they argue cannot be granted without a corresponding addition to freight rates, as shippers ought to know or be told.

The education in economics which would go furthest in settling the troubles of capital and labor is the same sort of education as that which is on the point of victory over entrenched prejudice and interest in defense of the excess profits tax. The intelligent and educated have always known that the money taken from trade was prejudicial to trade in proportion to the unwisdom of the methods of taxation. Soon that will be the view of all but the hopeless economic illiterates. It is just as true regarding wages and prices as regarding taxes that the price includes all. If only wage earners could be educated into perception that the wage payers are only collectors of wages from the ultimate consumer, they would see that the increase of costs reacts against wage earners to a greater degree than any others. Wage earners are ultimate consumers to the extent of seven-eighths or nine-tenths of all products of ordinary living. The very rich are the least sufferers from the cost of living, because the total of what they spend on both necessaries and luxuries is small in comparison with the total of what wage earners spend. But labor cannot see that, because it thinks that capital pays wage increases out of itself. There is not enough capital to do it, and, if there were, it would be consumed and soon no capital would be left to employ labor. When the tax collector reduces profits he also reduces tax collections. When by its wage demands labor hinders capital from collecting labor's share of the fruits of industry it reduces wages and profits together. It can need no demonstration that wage payers will not produce what they cannot sell, and what they are unable to sell to the ultimate consumer cannot contribute to the wages fund.

THE PRIMARIES TODAY.

The New York primaries of all the parties are to be held today. Enrolled voters, men and women alike, may vote. In every polling district of the State the voter can vote for four delegates at large and four alternates and for two district delegates and two alternates to the National Convention of his party.

MR. TAFT ON CALIFORNIA.

Ex-President Taft devotes a column and a half of The Philadelphia Public Ledger to a discussion of the Californian candidates for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. The point of his argument is that Mr. Hoover is more "regular" than Senator Johnson. There is not much doubt of that. Hoover has been a Republican all his life, except for a slight divagation during the war, when he said that a Democratic Congress ought to be elected in order to back up a war Administration.

On the other hand, Senator Johnson ran for Vice President on a third party ticket and made speeches denouncing about everybody who had anything to do with the management of the Republican Party. He stayed out of the Republican Party for some years after that and his friends ran for office on the Progressive ticket. Now Johnson demands the Republican nomination. He has a right, but Hoover certainly has an equal right and possibly more. Hoover's loyalty to the Republican Party did not deviate in 1912 when Johnson was denouncing "Mr. Penrose, Mr. Barnes and Mr. Smoot" just as liberally as did the head of the ticket. What is a suggestion that a Democratic Congress might well be elected in 1918 compared with an effort to split the Republican Party wide open in 1912?

Besides, Johnson's efforts were effective where Hoover's efforts were not. In 1912 the Republicans ran as a third party and carried only two States, Utah and Vermont. The mild effort that Hoover made in 1918 was wholly ineffective and the Republicans carried the House.

After all, with due respect to Mr. Taft, what can he expect of California? A regular candidate from an irregular State is not to be thought of. If Johnson and Hoover were both to retire, whom would Mr. Taft expect to be the candidate? Chester S. Rowell? That would be about the best he could get.

THE HARBORD REPORT.

General Harbord's report on Turkey is sent to the Senate several months after it ceased to have any practical value. That we are cutting ourselves off from any participation in the Near Eastern settlement has been evident for a considerable time; perhaps that is right, perhaps it is wrong; at any rate, the Senate and the public could have formed opinions on the basis of better information if it had been given out long ago, and if the Crane-King report on the Near East, which still slumbers in executive retirement, had been given out also.

To be sure, the Harbord report would probably not have brought America into Turkey; it carried its own rejection with it. The frank warning that many thousands of soldiers and several hundred million dollars would be needed at the outset, even if the enterprise became self-supporting within a few years, would have effectually disposed of the matter in the present temper of the American people. Moreover, General Harbord pointed out plainly enough that this involved a great intrusion into Old World affairs, almost certain to cause diplomatic difficulties with European Powers and entailing the diversion of a material part of our forces to a field where they could easily have been cut off in case of trouble. Such a responsibility could be assumed by a great imperial nation, interested in and understanding foreign affairs and willing to undergo heavy expenditures and take on great burdens for the sake of maintaining its ideals abroad and doing a bit of clean-up work where it was needed; but in spite of our flurry of expansionism at the beginning of the century, America is not that sort of nation and never seems likely to become so.

This, of course, refers to the only measure which General Harbord considers practicable—the assumption of a receivership for the whole of Turkey outside of Syria and Mesopotamia. Published summaries of the report are vague as to the argument for the adoption of this plan; the reasons for believing that nothing could be done for Armenia without taking over Constantinople, Thrace and Anatolia are dark to most of us. Such a mandate involves the maximum of difficulty; it takes into no account some of the national problems of the territory involved; it would be justly resented by civilized peoples whom America would prevent from the fulfillment of national aspirations, as well as less justly by the great Powers whose economic enterprises might be hampered by an impartial administration. And it leads nowhere; unless America was prepared to take and hold Turkey forever—hold the Straits against Russia or England, hold Smyrna against Greece—the unitary mandate would mean that whenever America let go, whether in five years or in a hundred, the Turkish problem would have to be settled all over again from the ground up. This was most certainly not the way to do it. It is by no means certain that it is impossible to do anything for Armenia without concerning ourselves with Anatolia or the Straits; but it is unhappily quite apparent that America is not going to do anything for Armenia but say a great many kind words and perhaps ship a little food.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Question Needing an Answer. To read the names newly proposed for as much of immortalization as is given by New York's Hall of Fame is to raise in the reader's mind a question that has been there before. Is it the object of this institution to make men famous or to recognize that they are famous?

No very definite answer to that inquiry has ever been given, and probably none ever will be, but it has its interest, nevertheless, and chiefly, perhaps, because the first of the purposes mentioned can never be realized, and yet its attainment seems to be the one sought by a majority of the Hall of Fame nominators, now that so many of the country's really famous men—the men on whom fame has been bestowed by the general voice, and therefore is an actuality—already have their names inscribed in honorable companionship.

Now the effort apparently is to bring to public attention the names of men whose characters and achievements were such, in the judgment of a few admirers, as to create a just claim to fame, though the claim, through some accident of fortune, has escaped the notice of the tall lady with the trumpet. To win the deserved meed of praise for those to whom it has been denied is a worthy and pious task, of course, and those who attempt it are to be commended, but to say that a man is famous is one thing and to say that he ought to be famous is quite another, and there is something wrong, or at least something unwise, in confounding the two.

Confessions Perhaps Dangerous. To say about any of the names now proposed for enrollment in the Hall of Fame that it belonged to a person unknown is to invite the indignant or derisive comment from occupants of the circle where it is a subject of admiration or affection. It may even lead to exclamatory references to astonishing or disgraceful ignorance. Risking those dangers, however, a bold critic might go over the list and frankly admit that of them all he never even heard any of these names except those of Frederick Douglass and Henry Bergh. Artists, patrons of art and those familiar with the history of American painters would have excuse for wondering in what backwoods seclusion he had lived to whom the names of Inness, Martin and Wyant were unfamiliar, but, whether it is pardonable or not, great armies of Americans who went at least to high school and not a few regiments of college graduates would stare blankly if asked to tell what they know about John Clarke, Titus M. Coan, J. M. Carnochan and William Shippen, Jr.

Not to know who these men were is no cause for pride, but also it need not, or at any rate it will not, deeply humiliate many of those who confess to that limitation of their biographical information.

This Will Give Much Pain. It is not calculated to soothe the irritations or cool the rages of those in this city who are now wondering where they are going to live after May 1 to inform them that their troubles and anxieties are not due to competition among themselves, but to the sudden invasion of New York by a multitude of immigrants from the American hinterland. What makes this information the more trying to the old New Yorker's temper—the New Yorker who has been here for something like four years and therefore counts himself among the old inhabitants—is the additional information that the majority of these invaders are people who in some way or other have made a lot of money out of the war and have come here to spend it with the lavishness characteristic of possessors of wealth suddenly and easily acquired.

This, at any rate, is the tale that is told, and it gets a lot of plausibility from the fact that most of us, when we stop to think, realize that the present outcries at, and lamentation over, high rents and unattainable housing usually come from people hitherto comfortably quartered in apartments for which they were able to pay, and that they are finding themselves turned out by metropolitans of briefest standing.

This cannot be true in all cases, for New York has a few war profiteers of its own breeding—at least a dozen, and perhaps two dozen—and they, too, seem to be little worried by high rents. It must be a fact, however, that the war profiteers of the rest of the country are coming here in numbers large enough to aggravate the city's housing problem, if not to create it. Where else would they go to make a loud splash?

Not Much Is Now "Verboten." Dispatches from Berlin expatiate on the great increase of crime, especially thefts, in that city. They do not make clear, however, whether this change means that many Berliners who once were honest have turned thief, or whether those who were dishonest before the war have been able to multiply their activities because the old restraints of government and the police have weakened.

Whether the one or the other theory be true, there is to be seen in the admittedly overwhelming "crime wave" in the German capital proof that the stern control to which the whole population was subjected in the old days, though its immediate effects were admired by the visitor from cities less efficiently and minutely policed, was not the best of training for a time when order and safety were dependent on the power of the masses to take care of and govern themselves in large degree.

That is the inevitable and invariable failure of benevolent despotism. When it breaks down the next thing is anarchy, more or less nearly complete.

Quick Telephone Connections.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I noticed an item in your paper some time ago "Got Buffalo in Four Minutes" (on the telephone). I had a similar experience getting Montreal a few weeks ago. I told the operator to get Montreal, and within four or five minutes I had finished talking with my party. This was somewhat quicker than a telegram, as I had occasion to send one on Feb. 1, and as yet same has not been delivered.

THE 25 PER CENT. LAW.

It Merely Places the Burden of Proof, Mr. Lockwood Says.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your editorial article of this morning you say of "the twenty-five per cent. increase": "The law brings in its train a swarm of injustices and abuses from which multitudes will suffer and which probably could have been avoided if, instead of jamming through the bills, time had been taken for criticism and measured deliberation. While checking the extremer forms of profiteering, the rent increase law legitimizes many a sharp exaction."

The fact is that the committee which recommended this legislation held over one hundred public hearings covering a period of eight months, consulted most eminent legal experts, both in New York and Washington, D. C., and, instead of being accused of haste, as in your article, has more often been accused of delay. As Chairman of the committee I know it acted only after mature deliberation and that all interested who asked to be heard had a full and fair opportunity to present their views.

The law does not legitimize any "sharp exaction" or any increase whatever in rent. The law seems to be generally misunderstood. It merely provides that where there is an increase of twenty-five per cent. or less the burden is on the tenant to show the increase is unreasonable. Where the increase exceeds twenty-five per cent. it is presumed to be unreasonable and the burden of proof is on the landlord to show that it is reasonable.

The newspapers keep advocating legislation similar to that put in effect by Congress in the District of Columbia under the so-called Salisbury resolution. This resolution was declared unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia.

CHARLES C. LOCKWOOD.

Relief Work in Hungary.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In his very interesting letter appearing in your issue of March 28 under the heading of "In Budapest and Vienna," Mr. Vernon Kellogg, in speaking of the work of Mr. Hoover's relief organization called the European Children's Fund, says:

"This is an organization now providing a supplementary daily meal to more than two and a half million children in the war-ravaged countries of Eastern Europe extending from the Baltic to the Black Sea. It began its humanitarian work in Vienna and Hungary in 1919."

In order to keep the record straight, as lawyers would put it, may I not call attention to the fact that that relief work, in so far as Budapest and Hungary are concerned, was inaugurated and is being conducted by a committee of Americans of Hungarian origin, under the name of American Relief Committee for Hungarian Sufferers, and the funds are being raised by voluntary contributions? The funds now aggregate close on to $500,000, to which Mr. Hoover's committee contributed $25,000.

The overhead charges of the feeding stations and other incidentals are covered by the Hungarian Government, which set aside 20,000,000 kronen for that purpose.

This statement is in nowise intended to minimize or detract from the splendid and noble co-operation given by Mr. Hoover's organization toward this work. The New York office, under the direction of Captain Rickard, as well as the Budapest office, headed by Captain Gardener Richardson of Mr. Hoover's staff, have been doing marvelous work in organizing and managing the relief work, the actual administration of which in Hungary is in charge of local committees under the supervision and control of Captain Richardson and his aids.

The work is of such magnitude and the results are so far-reaching that "there is honor in it for us all."

Vice Chairman, American Relief Committee for Hungarian Sufferers.

William Loring Andrews.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In the death of William Loring Andrews New York loses a very fine citizen. Born in this city and living here throughout his life its history became to him an absorbing interest, many of its public institutions objects of personal concern and its traditions a cult. One result was the authorship of monographs on special phases of city history, embodied in books of beautiful typography and illustration, which are of high repute among book lovers, as are many other works from his pen of more general historic and artistic scope. His zeal for books made him a widely known collector of volumes specially selected for quality of typography and binding appropriate for worthy contents. His love of art brought within his home works of wide range and of a character that gave evidence of the refined taste of the collector. But his books were not held by him as a mere possession, nor were his art collections formed to be tokens of culture. While his tastes in art were varied and sometimes changeful, they were always genuine and developed in sincerity.

His love of New York led him to join in the formation of the Society of Iconophiles for the permanent record, through engravings, of the fast disappearing buildings and characteristic scenes of the earlier city. His appreciation of the need of good bookmaking made him one of the founders of The Grolier Club, organized for the promotion of the arts that enter into the making of books, an institution of which he was at one time the President and at the time of his death an honorary member. His deep concern in all matters of art naturally brought him into early membership in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, of which he was a patron and a fellow in perpetuity, a member of the Board of Trustees, and during many years prior to his death the Honorary Librarian. Other institutions of public educational value within and without the city shared his regard and considerate generosity.

Landlord's Revenge.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Banks and title companies lost very heavily on real estate until the present boom, and that is the sole reason why not many care to back any more building.

The price of painting has gone up three times what it was. Also the price of glass has increased over 210 per cent. Taxes and valuation have increased quite materially.

Lastly, the people have no one else to blame for the present conditions. When apartments were not scarce they made it so hard for the landlord that no one cares to be interested in real estate. Solomon was right when he said "Every dog has his day."

HARRY ROSEN.

New York, March 24, 1920.

MARK TWAIN'S HOUSE.

Lo, men for gain would tear his homestead down—
The home of him who touched the heart of Youth
To leaping laughter at his living truth
Of dreaming Boyhood in a Western town;
Now Tom and Huck, the Prince and Pauper frown,
The Yankee to King Arthur cries; "Forsooth,
My modern fellows do but show the tooth!"—
Joan smiles wise in a blue-silvered gown.

He needs no bronze or stone memorial:
His art brought down a white undying Fire
To shine on Time and gleam through this gray day;
Yet we will keep his home a sign to all
Of our deep debt to him whose high desire
Found lusty joy along the common way.

STATE OFFICES TIED UP.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, April 5.—A day having passed with New Jersey minus a Secretary of State and Commissioner of Motor Vehicles as a result of the legislative tangle over Senator Allen's so-called "Ripper" bill, there was still uncertainty late tonight as to what the outcome would be. The best guess, however, was that the Assembly would refuse to override Governor Edwards's veto of the measure, and that the Senate would then confirm the reappointment of Secretary of State Thomas F. Martin. Mr. Martin was at the State House ready to be sworn in and to reappoint William L. Dill as Assistant Secretary of State. Dill would then automatically succeed himself as Motor Vehicle Commissioner.

When first introduced, it was represented as legislation designed to force Governor Edwards to provide for the retention of Dill. The Governor accepted the challenge of the Republicans and let it be known that he would rename Martin and that Martin would in turn rename Dill. The Republican "Board of Guardians" decided to "grab" the office anyway and succeeded in having the Senate pass the bill over the Executive's head. The necessary votes could not be obtained in the Assembly last week, however, to take similar action there, and the Senate refused to confirm Martin's reappointment pending that action. His term expired last night and Dill's with it.

The House tonight passed a Republican substitute for the Democratic bill to reorganize the State Highway Commission. The new bill would create a bi-partisan commission of four members at $7,500 a year each. The Democratic bill was for a partisan board of three members at $10,000. The present board of eight members is now salaried.

The Senate again tonight refused to act on the Daylight Saving bill, pending final action on the question by the New York Legislature, and the Mackay measure that would set time ahead one hour this Summer was laid over until next Monday.

Senator Allen of Salem County, the Republican floor leader, said Speaker Sweet of the New York Assembly had informed him that that body would repeal the New York law Wednesday of this week.

PHONE CALLS TO BE REVISED

New Numbers Will Follow Installation of Automatics.

With the introduction of automatic telephone switchboards in this city next year the telephone directory will show a new arrangement of numbers, according to the information contained in a supplement of the Telephone Review for April, just issued. Because it will be impossible to spell out the name of any exchange on the automatic dials, the names of the central offices will be shown in the directory with the first three letters in heavy type—thus FORdham and BRYant. In calling a number the subscriber in an automatic district will use only the first three letters, after which he will turn the dial giving the number of the call.

Subscribers' stations in the automatic districts will be provided with the usual kind of telephone instrument, which will be equipped with a dial mounted at the base of the desk stand. In this dial will be ten finger holes with the numerals, 1 to 9 and also the letter O and the word "Operator." Each hole will contain three letters of the alphabet. To call a number the subscriber places his finger in the hole of the dial showing the first numeral of the number he is to call, gives the dial a turn as far as it will go in the direction of the hands of the clock and then releases it. It automatically returns to its normal position, and then he dials for the next numerals.

In calling from a mechanical station to a station operated through the present kind of switchboard, the subscriber in the automatic district will dial for his number and an operator will make the connection in the "manual" district. A person calling from a "manual" district will call his operator as he does at present, and she will dial for the number in the mechanical district.

NO TAX ON NON-RESIDENTS.

But Bill Before Legislature Would Impose It on New Basis.

ALBANY, April 5.—"Correspondence recently received at the State Income Tax Bureau," said State Controller Travis today, "discloses the existence of considerable confusion regarding the status of non-residents under this law. Since the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company was adverse to the State there is now no provision of law taxing non-residents on incomes from New York State sources."

"Early in February," continued the Controller, "there was granted a general extension to non-residents to file their returns either thirty days after this decision or thirty days after the present session of the New York Legislature adjourned. This extended period is still running because the Legislature has not yet adjourned."

Mr. Travis said further: "Non-residents should be aware of the present measure before the Legislature, taxing them upon their incomes for 1919 from property owned and business or profession carried on in New York. This legislation gives non-residents the same exemptions as those now granted to residents and gives them until June 30 to file their returns."

FEED 4,000 AUSTRIANS.

American Red Cross Gave Easter Gifts to Destitute Refugees.

VIENNA, April 5.—Four thousand destitute Austrian civilians, who during the war were interned in foreign prison camps and who are now temporarily lodged in municipal barracks outside this city, received Easter gifts from the American Red Cross. Each adult received a supply of sugar, coffee, cocoa, canned meats and crackers, and every child a package of chocolates and several cans of condensed milk, the gift of the Junior Red Cross of America.

Twenty-four hundred pairs of shoes, 1,000 women's and girls' overcoats, 2,000 blankets and 2,000 pairs of stockings were also distributed.

PLANE LANDS ON WARSHIP.

Feat Accomplished During Recent British Fleet Tests.

LONDON, March 29.—The first airplane to rise from and alight again on the deck of a warship was one of those aboard the Furious while the British fleet was off Vigo recently, says The London Times.

Airplanes were used to ascend from the Furious during the war, but were unable to make landings on the vessel again. This time it was successfully accomplished.

FAVORS FARE RISE IN HUDSON TUBES

JERSEY CITY TO FIGHT PLAN

Company Will Act on Proposal and File New Tariff on Basis Suggested.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Interstate Commerce Commission wrote Oren Root, President of the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company, today that it would in effect grant an increase on a zone system rather than the straight 8-cent fare requested by the company in its petition filed recently. It indicated that if the suggestion was acceptable the company could file tariffs on that basis, which is taken to mean that increases in fare deemed fair by the commission would be granted.

In the letter to Mr. Root it was indicated that the company was entitled to a 6 cent fare from Hoboken and Jersey City to Hudson terminal and a 10 cent fare from the Jersey terminals to uptown New York. The letter gave permission to file tariffs on these increases and intimated that the increases would be allowed.

The company asked for a straight 8-cent fare, which would have given them an increase of $3,213,117, or 4.7 per cent., while the proposal of the commission would increase the revenues by $2,344,012, or 4.32 per cent. on its allocated debt of $70,263,300.

The letter says that no increase will be permitted for interline passengers. The action of the commission in making this suggestion is unprecedented. If the Hudson & Manhattan Company accept the suggestions and file tariffs, the fare increase of 6 and 10 cents will be allowed without further hearing.

John Bentley, Corporation Attorney of Jersey City, said yesterday that he had received information of the action of the Interstate Commerce Commission and that he would oppose the ten-cent rate by a direct appeal to the commission.

Oren Root, President of the company, sent out this statement:

"The Interstate Commerce Commission has advised the Hudson & Manhattan Railroad Company that the suspension of the proposed tariff effective April 4—an eight-cent fare—is without prejudice to the company's filing with the commission a tariff carrying instead of the flat eight-cent fare a fare of ten cents from Hoboken and Jersey City stations to uptown New York, and a fare of six cents from the same stations to the downtown terminal in New York.

DELAY ACTION IN DELAWARE.

House and Senate Reconvene, but Do Not Take Up Suffrage Question.

Special to The New York Times.

DOVER, Del., April 5.—While no resolution or other agreement was reached by either the House or the Senate of the Delaware Legislature today as to sidetracking the suffrage amendment, both bodies got down to general business shortly after reconvening today.

That the suffrage resolution, defeated in the House last week, will not or cannot be recalled was held today by anti-suffragists. The resolution in the Senate, which was ready for report the first of last week, still remains in committee, and Senator Walker, sponsor for the roslution, gave no intimation today when it will be reported.

MAY OFFER 20% WAGE RISE.

The anthracite coal operators went on record yesterday as opposed to the granting of the demands of the miners for a uniform wage scale for various occupations in the hard coal fields at the session of the sub-committee of miners and operators, who are trying to negotiate a new wage contract. The operators presented statistics and data to show the impracticability of such a proposal.

It is understood that the operators today will begin offering arguments in reply to the demand of the workers for a five-day week and a six-hour work day from bank to bank for all classes of inside and outside day labor. They will attempt to show that such an agreement would curtail production and increase overhead expenditures. It was reported last night that the mine owners are considering offering a wage advance not exceeding 20 per cent. as a counter proposal. They also were reported to be favorable to the "closed shop," but against the "check off" system of collecting union dues.

BAR WILL DISCUSS NEW CIVIL CODE

COMMITTEE FAVORS CHANGE

Special Body Says Greater Flexibility Would Result from Proposed Revision.

At a special meeting in its quarters at 42 West Forty-fourth Street tonight, the City Bar Association will determine finally its position toward revision of the Civil Code, as introduced in the Legislature by a joint legislative committee, of which Senator J. Henry Walters is Chairman, in the form of a proposed new civil practice act. A special committee of the association, of which John Godfrey Saxe is Chairman, and which has been at work for five years, has approved the proposed new act.

Defining the scope of tonight's meeting, to the extent that it may prove controversial, Mr. Saxe said in a statement last night:

"Great interest is being taken in the outcome of the meeting, inasmuch as there appear to be three factions—the radicals, who desires to abolish virtually all practice statutes and leave everything to court rules; the conservatives, who object to any revision, except occasional piecemeal amendment, section by section, and, the middle group, represented by the two committees now reporting, who are working to simplify practice, but, at the same time, have consistently opposed the introduction of the new-fangled names and notions."

This special committee in a report under recent date said that in so far as the Joint Legislative Committee had attempted to simplify the code itself it "has done this part of its work in excellent manner." The report drew attention to these five problems underlying a revision:

"The simplification of the code itself, including the elimination of matters of substantive law; the simplification of practice; increasing the flexibility of court rules as to procedural matters; accomplishing these reforms along simple lines, without resorting to new nomenclature and without abolishing familiar forms and methods, and achieving a reform so substantial as to fully justify the temporary inconvenience to the Bar and the confusion attendant upon a period of judicial construction."

The committee concurred with a committee of the State Bar Association, headed by Henry W. Taft, that the proposed revision "would undoubtedly result in much greater flexibility than that existing under our present system."

'PETER RABBIT MENU' ACTED BY SOCIETY

A Peter Rabbit entertainment and dance was held last night at the Ritz-Carlton for the benefit of the special Americanization work carried on in New York's "Little Italy" through the Harlem House Settlement. Many prominent women served as patronesses. The Entertainment Committee was made up of Mrs. John Wolfe, Mrs. Frances Rogers and Miss Symphorosa Bristed. Three thousand tickets were sold for the affair.

A feature of the program was a dance called the "Melting Pot." This was preceded by a short professional program, all arranged in table order and called Peter Rabbit's Menu.

Miss Byrnes's orchestra started the menu off at 10 o'clock, with Miss Ekrieda Wynne appearing in song as hors-d'oeuvre at 10:15. Then came Val and Aimie Stanton, with Taylor Holmes as an entree. A burlesque on "Declassee" was staged as a roast, with Miss Grace Bristed, Henry Platt Smith and Julian Thompson appearing in the cast.

The "Melting Pot" number was described as dessert. A group of débutantes represented seven nations, Miss Olive Foster singing appropriate airs. Miss Dorothy Donnelly wrote the lyrics for this number, and also directed. Miss Sara Sturgis appeared as Scotland, Baroness Elizabeth Rosen as Spain, Miss Eleanor Landon as Italy, and Miss Barbara Kissel as England. Poland was represented by Miss Olivia Erdmann, France by Miss Elise Hughes, and America by Miss Frances Fairchild. After two Chalif dancers appeared as a demi-tasse, in Polish dances, general dancing began.

MUSIC

Mrs. Martha Phillips, whose concert earlier in the season was postponed on account of her sudden illness, appeared last evening in Aeolian Hall and sang songs of many styles in Italian, English, Norwegian, Russian and French. She had been heard before in New York. She disclosed a voice of pleasing quality, not of great weight or power, nor apparently in its first freshness, an artistic style and an intelligent understanding of the music she undertook.

She began with an interesting group of old Italian airs by Veracini, Freschi and Gaffi, to which was added Mozart's "Warning," charmingly sung. Of Strauss's "All Soul's Day," she gave an intelligent and artistic performance, to which a more sensuous beauty of voice would have given a deeper effect. Two of Grieg's songs she gave in the original tongue, as she did two more by Tschaikowsky and Balakireff, the latter's "Gold Fish," being set down as sung for the first time here, as very likely it was. Her final group was of American songs by Kramer, La Forge, Seneca Pierce and Marion Bauer. Mr. La Forge played her accompaniments with a well remembered skill.

John Meldrum's Recital.

John Meldrum gave a piano recital yesterday afternoon in Carnegie Hall, in which he disclosed praiseworthy qualities, great seriousness in his artistic efforts, a competent technique, musical feeling. His playing gave pleasure, and it was heard sympathetically by an audience who could pardon such shortcomings as he showed in view of the fact that the young pianist is blind. No announcement was made of the fact, and no stress was put upon it; and his listeners found all the more to admire in his offerings because he chose to present himself solely on the basis of his musical attainments.

His program included Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue, in which he seemed a little overweighted. He played with agreeable results arrangements by Mr. Godowsky of pieces by Rameau and Weber; and followed them with groups of pieces by Brahms and Chopin, and numbers by Glazunow and Dohnanyi.

"Butterfly" Sung for Last Time.

With but three weeks' opera remaining, "Madame Butterfly" was sung for the last time to the Monday subscribers at the Metropolitan last evening, with Farrar in her popular rôle, Messrs. Hackett and Scotti assisting, and Mr. Moranzoni at the baton. The opera house has been practically sold out nightly for weeks now, and orchestra chairs last evening were up to $10 on the few tickets resold by their regular holders. Next Monday's bill will be a double attraction, "L'Oracolo" and a last "Pagliacci," with Caruso.

Mona Gondre and Paul Leyssac.

Mona Gondré, a singing actress of the Paris Odéon and one of those who entertained American soldiers over there, made her second appearance yesterday at the Princess Theatre. She added to her old Norman and French-Canadian folksongs an example in English of the "Songs from the Hills of Vermont," and in conclusion she acted with Paul Leyssac in Bertot's "Marriage of Columbine." Mr. Leyssac also recited French poems and tales to piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Ethel Cave Cole.

DR. JOHN A. LEE DEAD.

Prominent Surgeon's Death Due to X-Ray Burns Many Years Ago.

Dr. John A. Lee, President of the Medical Society of Kings County, and a prominent figure in the medical profession in Brooklyn, died on Sunday at his home, 23 Revere Place, Brooklyn, of carcinoma of the lungs resulting from X-ray burns that he received many years ago. He was in his forty-seventh year.

A succession operations from 1908 to 1919 caused the removal of a finger and two tumors in the chest. Yet the disease persisted and entered the lungs.

Dr. Lee was born in New Britain, Conn., and was graduated from Yale College and the Yale Medical School, after which he served as an interne in St. Mary's Hospital, in Brooklyn. Since 1908 he had been attending surgeon at that institution. Dr. Lee served as Surgeon-in-Chief on the hospital ship Comfort during the recent war and was subsequently promoted to the rank of commander. He was a brother of Dr. Fred Lee, former Deputy Health Officer of the port of New York.

President Pavlovitch.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The death of President Pavlovitch of the Provisional National Assembly at Belgrade Saturday was announced in a cablegram today to the Czechoslovkian Legation here.

CITY'S CHANCE FOR MEDICAL LEADERSHIP

War Brought It, and Aid to Post Graduate Drive Will Keep It, Says J. G. Bowman.

In the opinion of John G. Bowman, director of the American College of Surgeons, who is in New York to aid the New York Post-Graduate Medical School and Hospital in its $2,000,000 endowment fund campaign, American doctors are demanding a broader post-graduate educational system and are seeking knowledge of advanced medicine in greater numbers as the result of the great developments in medicine and surgery made during the war.

Mr. Bowman believes that the logical place for doctors to get this higher education is New York City, and he expects the Post-Graduate Hospital to play the most prominent part.

"New York to the rest of the country is a fairyland, where big things come true," said Mr. Bowman yesterday, "and the rest of the nation expects big things from the metropolis. America is today winning the leadership in the medical world. If New York does not take her opportunity now to become the centre of modern medical knowledge some other American city will.

"But our medical schools must have businesslike methods to encourage doctors to study in them. Because of conditions at the Post-Graduate, doctors are attracted here, and the institution has great possibilities.

"The people of America are waking up to the realization that in illness they have the right to the best of care. To give the people this care is the doctor's recognized duty. To keep abreast of the times he must take post-graduate training. This hospital is now the largest institution in the world giving exclusively such training. Hence its need for development at this time.

"There has been a revolution in the hospital world in the last two years. Today there are about 7,500 hospitals in this country and Canada, of which 1,300 are general. Two years ago only 198 general hospitals had laboratories and record systems. Now about 500 have them.

"But even now some doctors do not know how to diagnose cases by the results of laboratory tests and they are realizing that they must learn this important science. There is only one institution in America where they can get the knowledge. It is the Post-Graduate.

"Many of our doctors feel they need more complete training. Twenty-eight hundred physicians enrolled in the medical corps of the army during the war had to be sent back to training schools because they could not be trusted to handle difficult cases. Now they are back in practice, but they have realized and are demanding higher education.

"Last year one in every 154 prospective mothers—a total of 15,000—died in childbirth. When women demand better care this condition will be changed. They are demanding it and it is changing.

"It rests with great institutions like the Post-Graduate. They can teach the doctors and thus perform a lasting service to humanity. We are seeking $2,000,000 not to win a greater reputation, but for humanity."

cient she was, that my wife could assist me in handling my business affairs as well as Richard could. She wrote a good letter, and showed that she had sense. Still I did nothing about it until some three years had passed, and then I heard in Ireland some things which led me to write to the Equitable Trust Company to send me all the canceled checks that Richard had drawn. I wrote to a person of authority there—I have forgotten now what his position was—and he wrote me that Richard refused to allow him to send me these checks. When I returned to New York I asked Richard about this. He denied he ever told the official to tell me so. I also found that my safe deposit box, which had stood in Richard's and my name jointly, was taken in his name alone, and I could not even look into my own box.

Warns Son of Inquiry.

"I handed the trust official's letter to my lawyers and instructed them to start an inquiry and find out a lot of different things. I remember that in 1918, when we returned from Ireland, Howard and Mary met us at the boat and took us to the Savoy. That was the first time, I think, that we had not gone to Richard's house. Mrs. Croker and I offered Glencairn to them to occupy during the remainder of the war. We would have been glad to have had them use our home. That was before the power of attorney was taken away. I told him at that time I was going to have an investigation made, and that I hoped that would show up all right.

"I tried my best for years to get along with Richard. The fellow didn't know enough to get anywhere. I would take him out to dinner, and when things would be half over he would be gone. He would never stay anywhere long enough to do business. I spent a good share of my time telephoning him and trying to get hold of him, but he was always getting dressed or getting undressed or in his bath or out of town or somewhere else, and I finally came to conclude that I could do nothing with him.

"I have never been happier than during the last six years. I wish my children had been as happy. Except for my wife, whom they are now trying to lay it onto, I would have been in my grave."

Mr. Croker's attention was called to the fact that his son, Richard, in his affidavit charges that the father would never make it possible for him to give an accounting, as he would neither let him have access to records which he had returned to his father nor go over the accounts the son had in his office. Answering this charge, Mr. Croker said:

"I never received any records whatever from my son, with the exception of one checkbook. I asked him repeatedly, to no avail, for the other checkbooks, covering a period of several years, but never got them, and, as I said, I could not get the checks from the Equitable Trust Company, because they wrote me that my son Richard refused to allow that. I did not go to his office and look into what he and his stenographer had got ready for me, because there was no use wasting my time. I knew I couldn't deal with them. He even got into a rage when I referred to her as his stenographer. He said she was his secretary."

Mr. Nathan, whose firm had been counsel for Mr. Croker in New York for many years, was asked what attempt had been made by them, carrying out Mr. Croker's instructions, to get an accounting from his son. He said it was a matter handled by his senior partner, but that he knew it was in the office for a long time, until they finally gave it up in disgust.

"Was any attempt made by Richard Croker, Jr., or his attorneys to get an accounting?" he was asked.

Delays Disgusted Counsel.

"We got little statements at various times," said Mr. Nathan. "Brief summaries that would not suffice at all. We would reply with demands for further data, something tangible that we could do something with, and we would get practically nothing at all, nothing that we could handle. As I have said, we finally gave the whole thing up in disgust. We have filed an action in New York in answer to one of their suits demanding that we have this accounting."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Croker were asked about an affidavit by Howard Croker, saying that on March 24 last he saw Mrs. Croker come out of the Post Office in Palm Beach and tear up a piece of paper; that he caused these pieces to be collected and put together, and discovered them to be a canceled note for $11,000, and that the deponent believed that she was destroying a record of her financial transactions.

"That note," said Mr. Croker, "was one I put in the bank to meet some taxes; my wife and I both signed it because the account in that bank was in our joint names and my wife and I have property here that we own jointly. I got a payment of $11,000 on a piece of land that day and I said to my wife, 'Let's go to town and pay off that note,' which we did. I had just been in the bank with her paying it off."

Dr. Green, who formerly was in charge of the medical staff of the Florida State Hospital for the Insane, has completed his observations of Mr. Croker at Mrs. Croker's request, the Court not having taken action as yet on the demand that his sanity be looked into. The specialist made an examination of his blood and conversed with him and observed him the greater part of the time for forty-eight hours. Dr. Green said he found no evidence of the senility alleged in the affidavits filed by Mr. Croker's sons and added:

Children to Reject Alienist.

Counsel for the children of Richard Croker, Sr., in the injunction proceeding instituted at Palm Beach, Fla., against their stepmother, Mrs. Beula E. Croker, declared yesterday that the examination of the former Tammany chieftain at Palm Beach by Dr. Ralph N. Green, formerly in charge of the medical staff of the Florida State Hospital for the Insane, would have no status in the proceeding, which is expected to begin early next week.

William F. McCombs of McCombs & Ryan, who will represent Howard Croker, petitioner, in the injunction proceeding, intimated that Dr. Green was a personal friend of the elder Croker and his wife, and that the only examination of Mr. Croker, Sr., that would have any status before Judge Donnell, in the Palm Beach Court, would be that made by a commission appointed by the Court, if the Court should decide to grant the son's request for the appointment of such a commission.

Mr. McCombs said he expected to leave for Palm Beach in a few days and that no further action would be taken on behalf of his client until the beginning of the proceeding before Judge Donnell.

Dr. Green said Mr. Croker was not only sane, but unusually sound physically and mentally and should live to be a hundred years old. Dr. Green was not acting for the court, but merely for Mr. Croker's lawyers. No alienist has been appointed yet by a court to examine Mr. Croker.

In connection with Mr. Croker's reference to the Lusitania, it is recalled that the Crokers went on the last complete trip made by the Lusitania, eastward, the last out of New York before the one on which she was sunk, starting April 3, 1915. Most of the passengers booked canceled their bookings and went on the New York.

DODGERS ARE RUDE TO YANKEE PITCHERS

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 5.—In a comic opera exhibition, played in an embryonic sandstorm, the Yankees finished a bad second to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 9 to 3, here today. It was the first appearance of the two clubs since leaving their training base at Jacksonville, and the climatic change was hardly beneficial to either, a drop in temperature of some thirty degrees and a sandy, rough diamond handicapping the players so badly that neither team took the affair seriously.

Today's victory gave the Dodgers a big edge on the series, which now stands six to three in their favor, with seven games yet to be played, four en route north and three in Brooklyn.

To all intents and purposes, today's affair was decided as early as the first two innings, during which the Dodgers fell on Walter Smallwood for a matter of eight hits and six runs. Three runs came in the first when young Gleich slipped while going after Myers's liner, the ball rolling to deep left for a home run. Neis and Wheat scored on it. Prior to this happening Olson had singled, raced to third on Neis's safety to right and had scored as Wheat was outrunning an infield hit to Peck.

With one out in the second the Dodgers opened up on Smallwood. Pfeffer doubled to left and resumed the remainder of the journey home a moment later as Olsen bobbed up with a similar hit.

Ruth saved considerable trouble by racing into left centre for a pretty bare-hand catch of Neis's effort, but Johnston singled and fetched Olsen in.

Muesel's carefree throw to the stands on Pfeffer's easy chance, following Chuck Ward's single, staked the Dodgers to another tally in the fourth. Smallwood then took his unlamented departure in favor of Bob McGraw. The latter was something of an improvement, although yielding another run in his first inning, the fourth, as the result of Wheat's double beyond the clutches of the harassed Gleich and Konetchy's single in the same general direction.

The seventh saw Harry Biemiller, the Jersey City recruit, ascend the mound, and Harry, who has been permitted to languish on the bench at Jacksonville for a month, gave a very presentable exhibition. He uncovered a slow ball of no mean proportions and his control was quite fair.

The Dodgers got away against him as though determined to make a day of it, scoring at the outset as the result of Konetchy's single, Ward's force-out and a drive to right by Krueger which must go down on record as the world's longest single. Ward scored standing up all the way from first base, but Kruger fell round the bag and was forced to return. Thereafter Brooklyn could do little with Biemiller, who improved as the game went on.

Babe's Bats Not Overworked.

One of the largest crowds the Yanks and Dodgers have yet played turned out to see the game and incidentally see Babe Ruth hit one over the fence. They were disappointed in both instances. However, Ruth was walked twice by Pfeffer, Rube Marquard struck him absolutely out in the fifth, and young Mohart disposed of him in the eighth and ninth via an infield out and a base on balls, respectively.

As to their anticipation of seeing a ball game, it was to laugh right forcefully and well. The inclement weather and poor field prompted Miller Huggins to trot out his second string pitchers only and warn his players to take no chances. In this his word was literally obeyed, the Yanks taking just as few as possible—in short, only those that came their way.

They began auspiciously enough with Peck's walk and Wally Pipp's home run over the centre field fence in the first inning, but although Pfeffer was content merely to lob the ball plateward, their subsequent efforts were productive of nothing in particular. Marquard came on for a three-inning turn, starting with the fourth, and was supreme all the way.

Yankee Hits Are Sparse.

Recruit Danny Murphy got an infield hit with two out in the fourth. Pipp doubled, with two out in the fifth, and Vick came through with another to open the sixth, but the subsequent batters were helpless. George Mohart pitched the final three innings, but only a gift run in the ninth came to the Yankees.

O'Doul, batting for Biemiller, expired harmlessly, but successive singles by Gleich and Peck sent the former to third, from whence he tallied as Ward was disposing of Peck at second on Pipp's grounder. The bases were filled when Ruth and Vick were passed. But Meusel ended the agony by grounding into a force-out at second base.

Following the game, Colonel T. L. Huston, part owner of the Yankees, announced that in the event that the local chapter of the American Legion, which promoted the affair, had lost money on the venture, he would make good the deficit personally.

RICHMOND, Va., April 5.—Convinced that it is impossible to play exhibition games in every hamlet on the face of the globe and at the same time keep a ball club in condition, the officials of the world champion Cincinnati Reds and the Washington Americans today called off their training trip here. Both teams will leave tonight for their respective cities, there to attempt to get back into a semblance of the shape they were in when they left their Southern training camps. The players of both teams, it is said, had grown tired of miserable traveling conditions and unseasonable baseball weather and were on the point of mutiny when the decision to cancel the balance of the trip was reached. Since leaving their training camps the teams have been working their way north under the most trying weather and traveling conditions, and all they got were expenses.

GIANTS HALTED BY SNOW AT ASHEVILLE

Special to The New York Times.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 5.—Another idle day was the lot of the Giants and Red Sox today, cold weather and protracted snow fall making necessary the cancellation of the game scheduled to be played here. The clubs left Knoxville last evening, arriving here very early this morning, and when the players opened their eyes they beheld a lively flurry of snow. Snow fell in fits and starts all day and the temperature hovered around the freezing point most of the time.

The inability of the clubs to play today made certain the fact that the Giants cannot get worse than an even break in the series, even if the Red Sox undergo a miraculous change of form and win all five games remaining on the schedule. To date the clubs have played eleven games, of which the Giants have won eight.

Another move has been made by Ed. Barrow toward consummating a deal with the Yankees, having scornfully rejected Miller Huggins's terms, which were Derrill Pratt, Ping Bodie and Truck Hannah for Wally Schang, Oscar Vitt and Mike McNally, or a pitcher. Barrow has come back with terms of his own. He says he will trade Vitt for Pratt and Bodie, and further than that he will not go.

Barrow, incidentally, has released two of his recruit pitchers. "Cuddy" Murphy, former Dartmouth college football and baseball star, and Harry Holboro, a New York boy who gained some fame as a pitcher for shipyard and semi-pro teams in and about New York last Summer, have been sent to the Toronto club of the International League.

ELIS HIT WEAKLY, BUT WIN.

Special to The New York Times.

NORFOLK, Va., April 5.—Yale defeated William and Mary College here today by 3 to 1 in a game punctuated by errors and poor judgment. Both teams were woefully weak at bat. The pitching was the bright feature, Coxe for Yale and Settle for the Indians exhibiting brilliant work.

Despite the chilly wind 1,800 fans journeyed to the park to witness the game, and the rooting was characterized by the usual college "pep" and enthusiasm which is always infectious.

VIRGINIA BEATS LAFAYETTE.

Scores Victory by 5 to 1, Hodgson Allowing Only Two Hits.

Special to The New York Times.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 5.—On a gale-swept diamond the University of Virginia defeated Lafayette today, 5 to 1.

Hodgson, pitching his first game for the Southerners, held the Pennsylvanians to two hits. Their lone run came in the eighth, on three errors and a passed ball. With one run in and the bases filled Hodgson caused Captain Reeves to send a pop fly to third and fanned Bradshaw and Carney.

McGRAW DENIES FRICTION.

Special to The New York Times.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., April 5.—The following statement was issued by John McGraw, manager of the Giants, at Asheville tonight:

"Reports that have been published from time to time to the effect that Charles A. Stoneham, President of the Giants, and I are not on the best of terms and that I seriously contemplate quitting the club, are absolutely unfounded. Mr. Stoneham and myself have a sound business understanding and our personal relations are most cordial. Some of the printed statements to the contrary are in the nature of propaganda, which, I am sure, will not be accepted for anything but what they are by Giant fans.

COLLEGE MEN LEAD IN BOXING TOURNEY

Eagan, Yale Heavyweight, Among the Victors in Olympic Trials in Boston.

BOSTON, April 5.—The boxers from whom the United States sparring representatives at the Olympic Games will be chosen were in action tonight at the national amateur boxing championship tournament at Mechanics' Hall. The bouts in eight classes were advanced to the semi-finals, where they will be resumed tomorrow night.

Boxers of the colleges met those of the athletic clubs, each group including present national title holders and champions of almost every section of the country. The college men, headed by Edward Eagan of Yale, were more often victorious. The Yale captain, who won the heavyweight title last year, defeated Frank Grayber of Pittsburgh, the Allegheny title holder, in three rounds.

Gale Farquhar of Los Angeles, an undefeated boxer, maintained his record after he had advanced to the second round in the 158-pound class without competition by defeating Jack Shraven of Weymouth.

Fighting with the earnestness and willingness of champions, tonight's boxers drew one of the largest gatherings that ever saw a national event with some of the fastest fighting ever seen in a home ring. The men who contested in the trials proved the best fighters for amateurs ever seen in a championship tournament here.

Women in Gathering.

For the fourth time in the history of amateur boxing a liberal gathering of women saw the contests.

The tournament opened with a bout between local men in the 108-pound class. Then followed a series of intercity matches that supplied the audience with some stirring contests.

Frank Scire of East Boston and C. J. Mack of Boston ushered in the tourney. The judges disagreed and Mack resigned rather than fight the extra round. A. J. De Vito of New York and William Salevski of Cleveland were the first of the intercity entrants to clash. De Vito won in three rounds of hard milling. Terry McManus of Pittsburg and George Delano of Charlestown fought the first intercity bout in which a Boston representative figured. McManus accidentally struck low in the opening round, but the damage inflicted was hardly enough to lose him the bout. Delano was not hurt in the least.

One of the sensational bouts of the night was that between Benny Bass of Philadelphia and James Dunning, the San Francisco candidate for 108-pound honors. The Golden Gate boy had the greater skill, but for hard hitting Bass took the honors. The latter scored often in the three rounds and won with points to spare.

Shine Wins Fast Bout.

Billy Shine of Weymouth and Joe Rooney of Pawtucket, R. I., furnished what will probably go down in amateur fighting circles as one of the greatest battles fought in Mechanics Building. The little amateurs, striving in the opening bout in the 125-pound class, virtually fought themselves out in the initial frame, but the bell found them standing toe to toe in the centre swapping punches at a rate of speed that was little short of bewildering. For three rounds the two did little else but sway each other, willing to give and take. The pace proved too hard for Rooney to maintain and the bout ended in the middle of the third round in favor of Shine.

One bout in the 135-pound class resulted in a clean win for B. Ponteau of New York over Ed. Gill of Boston in three rounds.

Edward Eagan's victory over Frank Grayber was easy, for the Yale man had too much class for the Pittsburger. After watching the wearer of the Blue one does not wonder that Carpentier passed him up in a friendly bout. Eagan is a natural fighter. He is clever and punches with great force with both hands.

Perrin Bothers Peterson.

Rudolph Peterson of California, a southpaw, and Ernest Perrin of New Orleans furnished a fast bout for big fellows. Peterson's awkward style bothered Perrin in the first round. The southern city man fought better in the second round and had his man in distress several times. Peterson carried the fighting to his opponent hard in the final round and won before the bell.

TURNER OUTPOINTS ANDERSON IN BOUT

Georges Carpentier, Europe's fighting heavyweight champion, sat through the boxing bouts at the Newark Sportsmen's Club, held in the First Regiment Armory, Newark, N. J., last night, and enjoyed himself immensely. The visiting French idol attended, accompanied by his manager, Francois Descamps, and several friends, for the purpose of viewing the efforts of a collection of American heavyweights. The competition gave Carpentier considerable amusement, for he laughed almost continually. So did Manager Descamps. They saw no boxing ability which would cause any worriment for the French heavyweight and, as reflecting the thoughts of himself and Carpentier, Manager Descamps was seen, with a broad smile lighting his countenance, to significantly tap his chin with clenched fist three times, evidently to indicate to one of the party how extensive an effort would be required for Carpentier to dispose of the contending array of heavyweights.

Carpentier saw one real American fighter in the three eight-round matches, a boxer of ability and a cool ring general. This was Clay Turner, Indian light-heavyweight, who substituted for Charlie Weinert of Newark, against Ole Anderson of Seattle, Wash. Weinert was unable to engage in the bout because of an injured left eye. Turner gave Anderson a weight advantage of 13 pounds and a severe drubbing in eight rounds. During this match Carpentier kept his eyes glued steadily on the combatants for, in the manner in which Turner outpointed his heavier rival, there was much of interest.

The Indian boxer, with clever use of a stiff left hand jab, carried off the laurels in every round. Occasionally Turner would cross or hook or uppercut with his right with jarring effect on Anderson, but the latter, showing great courage, assimilated the punishment and instead of retreating came boring in for more. One round was a repetition of another in this match. Anderson, making his first local appearance, sought courageously to polish off the Indian. The Seattle heavyweight got home with some telling blows to the face and body, but the force of the majority of Anderson's punches was spent before they reached the elusive Turner.

Indian Shows Speed.

Willie Meehan, San Francisco heavyweight, fat and flabby, engaged Al Roberts, the Staten Island shock absorber, in the closing eight-round number. Meehan won with plenty to spare, but there was nothing impressive in the Californian's success. Meehan, built along the lines of a barrel, knew but one thing, it seemed. That was to flail away with both hands in indifferent fashion while he had the strength. Despite his avoirdupois Meehan showed the nimbleness of a dancer compared to the slow, heavy-footed Roberts, and the result was that Meehan carried off the laurels in seven of the eight rounds.

Meehan's roundhouse swings had Roberts completely baffled. The California sailor, his arms swinging, resembling nothing so much as a windmill, hammered away industriously at Roberts's body in the early rounds, and in this way weakened the Staten Islander considerably. Meehan, at times, would wind up like a baseball pitcher, or swing his arms after the fashion of a club swinger before starting his attack. Then the sailor would crash into Roberts with steady rights and lefts to the stomach which had the Staten Islander covering and at a loss as to how to defend himself.

Meehan Is Aggressive.

Though he gained the popular verdict Meehan's showing failed to impress the crowd of 4,000 which witnessed the bouts, particularly in view of the fact that the Californian has a four-round decision to his credit over Champion Jack Dempsey.

Dan O'Dowd of Boston, was scheduled to oppose Gene Tunney, Greenwich Village light-heavyweight, in the other eight-rounder, but it developed that he had notified the management of his inability to box, and a substitute was sent against Tunney. Knockout Sullivan of Shenandoah, Pa., was selected to take O'Dowd's place and was knocked out by Tunney in the first round. The bout had gone 2 minutes 15 seconds when Tunney crashed over a right to the jaw which laid Sullivan low.

In another bout Leo Badgeley of Orange knocked out K. O. Mike Nestor, a New York boxer, in the third round.

HONORS FOR CARPENTIER.

Heavyweight Boxer Enrolled as Comrade in Canadian Veterans.

Canadian soldiers will in future hail Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight champion, as Comrade Carpentier. This distinction was conferred on Carpentier yesterday when he was enrolled as an active member of the Toronto unit of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada. Francois Descamps, Carpentier's manager, received similar honors, while Mme. Carpentier was presented with a ladies' auxiliary button. Phil Daniels, representing the Canadian organization, enrolled the visiting French boxer and presented him with a silver medal, a symbol of the organization.

In making the presentation Mr. Daniels referred to the Frenchman's sacrifices in the war and said that Canadian soldiers were deeply honored in being associated with French soldiers, to whose activities in the war Mr. Daniels paid high tribute. The honorary patrons of the Army and Navy Veterans are their Majesties the King and Queen of England, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught, the Duke of Devonshire and Major Gen. Sir Sam Hughes.

Harvard Will Not Finance Crew for Olympic Games

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 5.—If a crew of Harvard oarsmen rows at the Olympic games it will not do so under the name of the university, but under that of the Weld Boat Club, which is one of the rowing clubs of the university and is also connected with the National Rowing Association. Harvard will not finance the crew if it makes the trip. It will travel at the expense of the American Olympic Committee. For the crew to gain the privilege of a trip to Antwerp it must win the national regatta at Worcester in July and be taken over as America's representative.

Coach William Haines is so confident of producing a winning crew at Worcester that he has declined a flattering offer to spend the Summer as a coach in Cuba.

SCHOOLBOY CREW RACE ON PROGRAM

A schoolboy crew race, open to all high and public school eights in the country, will be one of the features of the annual Memorial Day regatta on the Harlem River this year, according to action taken last night at a special meeting of the Board of Stewards of the New York Rowing Association. Crews from every school throughout the country, with the exception of private institutions, will be invited to compete in the event, which will be a quarter-mile straightaway.

The prize for the winning shell will be a silver cup, twenty inches high, to be called the Samuel A. Cramer Trophy, in memory of the late Vice President of the Lone Star Boat Club, who died last year. The latter organization is donating the cup, and it will be one of the most valuable prizes ever put up in rowing competition. Mr. Cramer devoted many years of his life to the coaching of schoolboy crews, shifting his affiliations from year to year and generally developing a winning eight.

Another special trophy has been offered in the junior single scull race by John J. Mulcahy of the Atlantic Boat Club and the New York A. C. This will be the first event on the Memorial Day program on the Harlem.

It was also announced at the meeting that Jack Kelly of the Vesper Boat Club, who is national single sculls champion, will row in this year's regatta. He will appear in two events—the one-mile senior single scull and the quarter-mile senior single scull. The titleholder had also intended to row in the senior double scull event, with James Costello, a cousin and clubmate, as partner, but the omission of that race from the program defeated his intentions. Kelly's entrance into the Harlem regatta will be his first appearance here in six years.

The stewards also made a definite selection of the program for this year's regatta. Fourteen events will be held and the curtain raiser, the one-mile junior single scull tussle, will begin at 1:30. The other events will follow at intervals of twenty minutes. If there are more than five entries in any race, preliminary heats will be held in the morning and the final in its regular place on the afternoon program.

Following is the complete program: Junior single sculls, intermediate single sculls, association single sculls, senior single sculls, junior double sculls, intermediate sculls, junior quadruple sculls, junior four-oared gigs, junior four-oared barges, senior four-oared barges, junior eight-oared shells, senior eight-oared shells and eight-oarded high and public school shells.

Much of the discussion at the meeting was devoted to the efforts being made by the N. Y. R. A. to have the Middle States Association regatta held on the Harlem next Labor Day. At a recent meeting of the entire association this step was decided upon, and a formal bid has been made by the local association to the Middle States Association. Action on the proposal is expected when the latter organization holds it annual meeting at Philadelphia on May 29.

If the New York association is successful in its attempt it will be the first time in eight years that the Middle States regatta has been staged in New York City. Last year it was held in Philadelphia.

MIXSELL AND TOBEY TO MEET IN FINAL

Latter Has Trouble Disposing Of Harvey in Princeton Club Squash Tourney.

Dr. H. R. Mixsell and Harold Tobey are the finalists of the Princeton Club squash tennis tournament, and will meet for the club title some time this week. The latter yesterday eliminated Harold Harvey in a close five-game semi-final at 5—15, 15—11, 15—9, 14—18, 15—11, while the former disposed of George A. Walker, Jr., more easily and in three games scored 15—5, 15—11, 15—1.

Tobey and Harvey were practically evenly matched, and for a time the loser seemed to be having the better of the argument. He took the first game in one-sided fashion, finding the left-hander wild in his hitting, whereas his own shots worked well almost from the outset. The second game, however, reversed matters, and Tobey won handily at 15—11, adding the third session still more decisively.

Harvey then braced and made a determined bid for the match, eventually making things all square by a hard-won victory in extra hands. This effort used up so much of his endurance that he was unable to stand off the aggressive attack of his rival in the rubber. Tobey became more and more accurate in spite of his increasing speed, and the match was his at 15—11.

Walker made a good fight against the experienced Mixsell in the second game of their match, in which he almost succeeded in forcing extra points, but the rest of the way his opponent's hard hitting was too much for him, and he could score only once in the final game. Mixsell recently defeated National Champion Cordier, and is now at the top of his game, while Tobey has also greatly improved on his early season form.

Penn-Cornell Game Postponed.

PHILADELPHIA, April 5.—The University of Pennsylvania baseball team was unable to play its opening game with Cornell here today on account of rain.

TO PICK MARATHON RUNNERS

Olympic Committee Undecided on Race That Will Determine Team.

Decision is expected to be forthcoming in a few days from the American Olympic Committee as to whether or not the Boston A. A. Marathon race to be held on April 19, from Ashland to Boston, shall be designated as the official tryout for the games at Antwerp.

Suggestion has been made to the Olympic Committee that, to determine the American representatives in the Belgian Marathon, it would be well to hold a race separate from the Boston classic, which has always been considered as determining the national Marathon championship. If it is decided to hold this separate tryout, the event would be scheduled for the early part of May only a week or two after the Patriots' Day race. It would also be held over the Ashland-to-Boston course.

On the other hand, those who are in favor of allowing the Boston A. A. Marathon to do the double service of deciding the national champion and the make-up of the Marathon team for the Olympics at the same time are urging that it is too much to ask the country's leading Marathoners to engage in two such gruelling competitions over the space of only two or three weeks.

WIND FATAL TO LOW SCORES

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., April 5.—Francis Ouimet and Sam J. Graham won their respective semi-final matches in the North and South tournament here today and will oppose each other in the thirty-six-hole final contest for the championship title tomorrow. Ouimet's opponent was Harold Weber of the Inverness Club, Toledo, who played successfully through the first five rounds of the last British amateur championship in 1914.

Weber qualified two strokes ahead of Ouimet in the present tournament and was generally expected to give Ouimet a hard fight in today's semi-final match. The Toledo golfer did some fine work toward the end of the contest today, but he was altogether outplayed in the early stages, and although he worked up to only one down at the fifteenth hole, he finally lost to the great Bostonian at the seventeenth, by 2 and 1.

Graham was opposed by R. E. Bockenkamp, the young St. Louis golfer, whose forty-hole match against Nelson Whitney is still a matter of recent memory.

Graham Forced to His Limit.

Graham had to play the best golf of the day to win, and but for a great putt from the edge of the sixteenth green, which put the Greenwich golfer 1 up, and a poor drive for the seventeenth on the part of Bockenkamp, which gave Graham the match, there is no telling what might have happened.

It was a wild and windy day and all the players had a hard time on the greens, putts of three and four feet going astray on the sand with startling and almost amusing frequency. Nobody did better than 80—Ouimet and Graham both finished in that figure, while Bockenkamp went around against Graham in 81 and Weber took 84.

After Bockenkamp and Graham had exchanged holes at the first and second the latter made himself 1 up with a ten-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the third. Bockenkamp, who had been playing in and out of traps on each hole, drove into the woods on the fourth, but won the hole with a par 4 and followed this up by taking the fifth after trapping his second shot. Graham was 1 down going to the eighth, and he started inauspiciously by hooking into the woods and putting his second into a trap. Then he played out to the green and sank a long putt for a winning four. Bockenkamp was comfortably on in two, but took three putts.

Coming in, Graham took the tenth and fourteenth and Bockenkamp won the eleventh and fifteenth. With the match all even, Graham trapped his drive for the sixteenth, but got on in three and sank a fifteen-foot putt for a winning four. Then he brought the match to an end by getting on with his drive at the seventeenth and going down in three, while Bockenkamp drove into the rough and took a four.

The cards:

Out—
Graham	5	5	3	5	6	3	6	4	3—40
Bockenkamp	6	4	4	4	5	3	6	5	3—40
In—
Graham	4	6	4	4	5	5	4	3	5—40—80

Weber Rallies Too Late.

The match between Ouimet and Weber did not develop any particular interest until the first twelve holes had been disposed of. The Bostonian was 4 up at that stage of the proceedings. Weber was wabbling badly, and when he trapped his second shot for the thirteenth it looked very much like dormie 5 for his opponent.

Then the Toledo golfer began to show his golf. He played a great out to the green on the top of the mound, sank a long putt for a winning 4, took the fourteenth on a stroke under par, halved the short fifteenth and won the troublesome sixteenth with a putt from the edge of the green.

This combination of events reduced Ouimet's four-hole lead to a single hole. Weber drove into difficulty on his way to the seventeenth, however, while Ouimet reached the green on his drive, and took the hole and the match with a 3.

Out—
Ouimet	5	4	5	4	4	5	5	4	4—40
Weber	5	4	5	4	6	4	6	4	5—43
In—

PROS WILL COMPETE AT FLOSSMOOR CLUB

National Golf Tourney to be Held Aug. 16 to 21, Following Open Championship.

The schedule of national championship golf tournaments was yesterday completed, when the Professional Golfers' Association of America awarded its third annual fixture to the Flossmoor Country Club of Flossmoor, Ill., on the outskirts of Chicago. The dates set were Aug. 16-21, the week immediately following the national open tournament, which will be played at Toledo.

In the two previous years of this newest of national events for professional linksmen the sites chosen were metropolitan courses. In 1916 Jim Barnes won his first title at Siwanoy and last September, after a three years' lapse because of the war, defended his championship successfully at the Engineers' Country Club.

Complying with the request of Middle Western golfers, the P. G. A. officials in January decided to send this year's tournament to Chicago and permission to that effect was obtained from Rodman Wanamaker, donor of the diamond medal and the cash purses aggregating each year $2,580. Originally the Skokie Country Club of Glencoe, Ill., and the Westmoreland Country Club of Evanston, Ill., were considered, but neither course would be available until the last week in August. Then Flossmoor invited the pros to use its links and the dates corresponded with the idea of the P. G. A. committee. By holding the P. G. A. tourney immediately following the national open fixtures there will be the minimum of travelling necessary. Professionals of this country and the visiting British men will be on hand in the Middle West from Aug. 7 to 14 at the Inverness Club in Toledo and will be able to move immediately to Chicago.

Under the conditions governing the annual P. G. A. championship thirty-two contestants must qualify early in the season. These are allotted by districts. The New York Metropolitan section gets twelve pros, the Chicago district gets eight, New England has four, the Southwest has three, Pennsylvania has three and the South has two. Last year there were only two defaulted matches in the first round of match play, Jose Rosman of Westmoreland and Willie Kidd of Algonquin failing to report at the tee.

The local branch of the P. G. A., through Alex Pirie, the National Secretary, has already selected both Staten Island courses as the venue for the qualifying test. No date has been selected, but the time will be during the first part of July. One round will be played over the links of the Richmond County Country Club and one over the Fox Hills course, both the same day. George Fotheringham, the new professional at Richmond County, said yesterday that purses totaling $1,200 would be subscribed by the two clubs as prizes for the twelve Metropolitan pros who qualify. This sum is several hundred dollars more than the total offered last year at Shackamaxon, where the qualifying test was made.

MAY RECONSIDER DECISION.

Hope Held Out That Mitchell and Duncan May Play Golf Here.

Although announcement has come from abroad that neither Abe Mitchell nor George Duncan will visit America this Summer, it became known yesterday that golf officials and promoters had not given up hope entirely. In some circles there is a strong feeling, because of recent correspondence with English golf officials, that both may reconsider their decision and that they may join Harry Vardon and Ted Ray when they pay another visit to the United States to compete in the national open at Toledo.

Officials of the Inverness Club of Toledo, the scene of the national open event, have been carrying on negotiations with the heads of the golf clubs in England, where Mitchell and Duncan are engaged as professionals. Representations, first made secretly, and later through the medium of the United States Golf Association, have been communicated to the Britishers. The argument is used that the placing of golf on a basis of international competition during this, the first season possible after the war, would have a wonderful effect on the game on both sides of the Atlantic. It is pointed out that the original plan of having Mitchell, Duncan, Vardon and Ray meet such players as Hagen, Brady, Barnes, McLeod and Diegel would establish a golf precedent of tremendous interest throughout the world. It would tend toward an ultimate fixture on the links of equal importance to the international tennis matches for the Davis Cup.

Mitchell's reason for not coming is that his new contract with the North Foreland Club in England will not permit of his absence for several weeks. The North Foreland Club has among its leading officials Lord Northcliffe, and it was said yesterday that Directors of the Inverness Club at Toledo had communicated the request to Lord Northcliffe direct to give his support to the plan to have Mitchell visit the United States this Summer. Three pros from this side, Hagen, Barnes and Tom McNamara, will go to England next month and compete in the British open in June. It is argued that, similarly, golfers on this side want to see Mitchell, who is regarded as England's greatest golfer, in tournament competition.

A fourth American may possibly join the invasion of British links. New England professionals have been invited by a Boston newspaper to compete in a special elimination tournament, the winner of which will be sent abroad with full expenses paid. Such an event would bring into competition such pros as John Cowan, George Bowden, Louis Tellier and George Gordon. Mike Brady, however, would be ineligible because of his transfer this Winter from Oakley, in Massachusetts, to Oakland Hills, at Detroit, to succeed Hagen.

Miss Marion Hollins, metropolitan champion, is reported to have purchased a piece of land at Pebble Beach, near Del Monte, Cal., intending to erect a house and make her home there for part of the year. Miss Hollins, who is to sail April 17 for England to compete in the British Ladies' championships, recently returned from California, where she spent several weeks, mostly at Santa Barbara. While at Pebble Beach she played over the course with W. Herbert Fowler, the British links architect, and on one occasion her score was 90 to his 70.

There is a possibility that Charlie Hoffner of Philadelphia, the professional at Philmont, will join the group of American pros in their invasion of England next month. Hoffner is considering making the trip with Hagen, Barnes, Hutchison and McNamara, and his brilliant playing during the last few weeks at Southern courses stamps him as a serious contender for the British open title. Last year Hoffner led the first round of the national open at Brae Burn with 72, but finished at thirteenth position. He was third in the metropolitan open, at North Shore, behind Hagen and Emmet French.

BULLET PROOF IS WINNER AT BOWIE

BOWIE, Md., April 5.—That S. A. Clopton's Bullet Proof is not only one of the best three-year-olds developed on the Winter tracks, but can also hold his own against more seasoned horses without any material difference in the weights, was demonstrated here this afternoon when this fine son of Helmet captured the Jubilant Purse for his second easy victory at this meeting. This was a seven-furlong dash in which the five starters included such good ones as Chief, Fort Bliss and My Dear, and Bullet Proof led home this field with two lengths to spare, Fort Bliss taking the place from Chief.

Although a good card had been arranged the day was marred by miserable weather. The rain stopped falling before the first race was run off, but by that time the track was deep in mud and in some places entirely covered with pools of water, so that the horses had to plow through a veritable sea of mud. The weather did not have much effect on the attendance, as another good-sized crowd turned out, but a cold wind swept across the course that was reminiscent of the late Winter.

Bullet Proof ran like a very good colt today and was so much the best that there was no time when he was in danger. While Chief was obliged to carry 116 pounds against 103 for the winner, the others in the race were not so highly weighted. Bullet Proof was forced to break from the rail position, which is a big handicap on this track, but he was out in front of Chief in a few strides, and after that the race developed into a procession in which the others fought it out for the second and third positions. At half the distance Bullet Proof was four lengths in front and once he had turned into the stretch Coltiletti eased him up so that the colt was never fully extended.

Fort Bliss was second most of the way and seemed to be easily the best of the others. He was second by six lengths at one time and was tiring toward the finish and had to be hustled along to hold on and save the place by a length. Chief, which had rushed away with a show of his best form, dropped back almost at once and was badly outrun for the first half mile. But, making the turn, he began to move up on the others and, with a fine drive through the stretch, was gaining on Fort Bliss very rapidly and was third with plenty to spare. My Dear and Bondage seemed to have little speed and My Dear particularly showed a dislike for the going.

The horses which raced at New Orleans and Havana are still showing better form than those but recently returned to the races. This was demonstrated again today by the various winners on the day's card. The third race, a six-and-a-half-furlong sprint, was captured by Onico, which made a show of eight other sprinters and won by fifteen lengths from General, with Ina Kay third. The track was suited to Ettahe and he gained the lead at the start. He drew away with every stride until he was six lengths in front at the head of the stretch. From there to the finish he had the track all to himself, and was fifteen lengths to the good at the end, the others having given up the chase.

Sea Mine scored handily in the first event, which brought out three-year-old maidens for a five-and-a-half-furlong test. This filly was in front all the way. She liked the sloppy track, and had the race in hand from the start. She finished three lengths in front of Capt. Evans, while Short Change was third. Teacher's Pet was a contender for three furlongs, but tired badly and dropped out of the contest.

The other sprint event on the card went to Mrs. T. Francis's Onico, which defeated Tarascon and Huron 2d, among others, over the six-and-a-half-furlong route. Onico went to the front early in the race and set the pace all the way to the finish line, but wore out in the final furlong and Zoeller had to ride her hard to make her last. Tarascon made a strong challenge in the stretch and raced Huron into submission 50 yards from the end.

SPEAR AND WHITE WIN AT BILLIARDS

Two matches were played in the 18.2 balk-line billiard handicap tournament for the Poggenberg Cup at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon and last evening. In the afternoon, George Spear, who won the Memorial in 1918, defeated Francis S. Appleby by a score of 115 to 125. Appleby is a Class A player and he was playing for a total of 250 points. Spear, being a Class C player, played for 115 points. In the evening Charles White, who won the tournament last year, defeated Frank W. Boyd, 250 to 113. White is a Class A player and Boyd a Class C player.

As a result of these games, Robert Steinbugler is the only player in the final round of the tournament who has not been defeated. He has engaged in two matches and won them both. Spear is riding in second position having won three of the four matches he has played. Francis Appleby, who had been tied for the lead with Steinbugler, dropped into third place when he was defeated. Frank Boyd is tied with him. Boyd, too, had been tied for the lead.

It was Charley White's second appearance in the tourney. Having won the event last year, he was not compelled to compete in the preliminary round. In the first game he was defeated by George Spear. At that time White was away off his game, but last night he was in stroke and showed much of the fine brand of billiards that featured his playing a year ago. Boyd gave him a real tussle for honors and for a time it appeared that White was doomed to defeat.

White Slows Up.

After a very impressive start, White slowed up considerably and it was while last year's winner was loafing along and seemed unable to get going again that Boyd gained on him and came within two points of winning the game. In the first ten innings White made a total of 132 points, an average of better than 13. In these early innings he made his high run of 36 and also knocked off clusters of 34, 28 and 27. Then he seemed to lose control of the ivories and Boyd came to the fore with a rush.

When White went to the table for his thirty-second inning he needed 30 points, while Boyd needed five. White got 27 points by some pretty close playing at one of the tables. The majority of the points made by him during this seance were gathered by close nursing. On only two or three occasions was he compelled to drive one of the object balls the length of the table. Then he missed.

Boyd ripped off three points in a hurry and it looked as if he would save the game. On his fourth shot he was confronted with a comparatively easy shot, but he missed and White was able to get the three points he needed to win.

Although it was a close shave for White, he played some of the best billiards that has been seen in the tourney. He had many innings in which he failed to count at all, but most of the time he was able to gather the balls quickly and to hold them together pretty well. He showed enough billiards to convince the large gallery present that he had recovered much of the form which carried him through to victory last year. He has been ill most of this season and has had but little opportunity to practice. This was apparent in his first game, but last night his stroke was delicate and positive at the same time.

Too Big a Handicap.

Appleby made a brave effort to overcome the big handicap he was called upon to concede George Spear, but it could not be done and instead of being able to give Spear 135 points, the Class A player managed to score only ten more points than his opponent, giving Spear the victory.

Spear started off strongly. In the first five innings, he made a total of 70 points, and an average of 14. In the same length of time, Appleby was able to collect only 5 points. It was in Spear's fourth inning that he made his high run of 26. The fact that he averaged 7 3-16 for the game shows how strongly Spear played.

Appleby's best effort was a cluster of 30 made in his fifteenth inning. At that time Spear was beating him better than even. The score then stood 94 to 85 in favor of Spear. Appleby averaged 7 13-16 for the game.

When you reach that ripe old age you expect to live to, what condition will your feet be in? Will they be doubled up with rheumatism, will you be compelled to hobble around with the aid of a cane, or will they still have the same pep that they now have? It largely depends on the shoes you wear today.

If you wear the Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoes, your chances will be much better than if you wear other shoes. These shoes will aid materially in saving your feet for later years.

Most styles $12 to $15

RICH WINDOW SHOWS MARK 5TH AV. WEEK

OPENING MARRED BY RAIN

Stage Lighting System Is Introduced by Merchants to Set Off Displays.

Although intermittent showers made it necessary to remove the bunting and flags for a time, Fifth Avenue Week, inaugurated by the Fifth Avenue Association to demonstrate the wonders of this famed thoroughfare, started auspiciously yesterday. Merchants and storekeepers along the avenue said that the announcements of the celebrations had brought out many who would have ordinarily remained at home on such an inclement day.

But the rain did not affect the window displays which, in point of elaborateness and richness, outrivaled any previous attempts of the merchants and manufacturers. Spurred by the enthusiasm of Robert Grier Cooke, President of the Fifth Avenue Association, every member has spared no expense in adding to the success of the gala celebration.

While all of the windows are especially decorated a few of them deserve mention by reason of the exhibits. For example, Reed & Barton, the jewelers, at 378 Fifth Avenue, are showing in their windows a silver service, valued at $125,000, which was made for Sir Ranjit Singhji, Maharajah of Barwani, in Central India. The service consists of 500 pieces. A life size painting of Cardinal Mercier, set in an attractive background, is featured by the art shop of A. Muller Ury at 539 Fifth Avenue. In one of the windows of Lord & Taylor's is depicted a scene in Venice with life size figures of a couple being piloted in a gondola by a Venetian boatman.

The smoking room of H. M. S. Renown, which brought the Prince of Wales to the United States has been reproduced in the display window of Knabe's piano store at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street as a setting for a type piano used on the ship.

When the lights were turned on last night spectators along the avenue saw a widespread adoption of the stage lighting system copied by the merchants to set off their exhibits. Recently the New York Edison Company has been demonstrating to merchants the possibilities of lighting show windows by method used in theatres. All of the shops and galleries were illuminated until midnight, and this will be repeated throughout the week.

The orange colored street lamps familiar to New Yorkers in past celebrations were again evident and flooded Fifth Avenue in a blaze of light. The association has provided extra globes, which have been placed at conspicuous points. Shops on the side streets were illuminated also. A concert will be given tonight in the Plaza Square, at Fifty-ninth Street.

Perfume as a Selling Aid.

Appealing to as many of the senses as possible has been one of the fundamental principles of advertising and may often be used by a salesman to his advantage. A seller of high class brassieres, for instance, has been accustomed to carry with him an atomizer and a supply of fine perfume. With these he keeps his sample line well scented and thus brings into play another sense of the buyer. As he has been quite successful, he believes the idea has merit.

Linoleum Buyers at Sea.

Never before in the history of the linoleum business in this country have buyers been "up against it" to quite the extent they are now. With the Fall season more or less informally opened buyers who want to contract for goods for that delivery, or for nearer delivery as well, find the leading mills with practically nothing to sell them. The result is that they will hardly know where they stand before July 1. This will not be of much aid to the jobbers in meeting the demands of the retail trade. Floor oilcloths have been practically abandoned by leading manufacturers, and lines of table oilcloths have been sharply cut down. One well-known line, for instance, has been dropped to about half a dozen patterns, when normally around 100 would be offered. Even at that, the concern in question is hard put to meet the demands for the two biggest sellers, plain whites and marble effects.

Wet Weather Hurts Shoes.

Regardless of how the matter is looked at, according to a well-known local shoe man, wet weather is a great friend of the shoe trade. "If a man or woman goes out on a wet day without overshoes," said this man yesterday, "the shoes get wet, and in getting wet they lose a certain amount of their resistance to wear. If rubbers are worn, the wearer loses out also. The rubbers cut off all the circulation of air about the feet, causing them to perspire. This perspiration, if the rubbers are worn long enough, usually becomes sufficient to soak through the shoe lining and the acid in it attacks the leather from the inside. In the meantime it has taken a certain toll from the lining.

In a quarter well posted on color tendencies, the prediction was made that for the coming Fall, reds with blue in them, and blues with yellow, should prove the leading shades for the season. Attention was called to the fact that for some time there has been just as wide a call for colors as for styles, with no pronounced vogue for any one except blue. Green, this authority explained, should prove a good color for the rest of Spring, but the range of reds from ashes or roses to warmer tints of the same hue, including burnt orange, may prove the favorites for Fall.

One of the largest factories in the silk trade is preparing for a Fall demand expected to develop on crepes. The reasons put forward for predicting that such constructions will become the favorites of the new season are that straight-line garments will be most popular, and that other materials have either had their vogue or are suffering from an over-popularity. Crêpes, a representative of this house explained, have not been cheapened to the extent of other fabrics in the market. The demand, he said, should come principally on the better class of georgette, meteors and radiums.

Gray Goods Prices Firm.

Firm to slightly higher prices prevailed in the local market for gray goods yesterday, although, taken as a whole, the day's trading cannot be said to have been active. Buyers continued to confine their attention very largely to printcloths, mostly for spot and nearby deliveries. About the only feature was the selling of July-September shipments of 39-inch 72-76s at 28½ cents. Spots of the same construction brought 30 cents. April business was done at 23¼ cents on 38½-inch 60-48s. Large sales of spot 38½-inch 64-60s were made at 25 cents. Sheetings and specialties had a rather quiet day.

Fancies Later On.

Although fancies have not been so largely featured in Fall lines of woolens, there is a feeling among mill men that greater attention will be paid to goods of this description in the Spring showings. One of the greatest drawbacks to the sale of fancies, it is explained, has been the unwillingness of both the clothing and garment manufacturers to take such materials with their workmen disposed, as they are at present, to "take things easy." Plaids, for instance, offer difficulties in "matching" that the average workman does not fancy. Later on, the needle trade operative may become more tractable, and when that time comes the prediction is made that more fancies will be seen.

Worsted Decorations Used.

To overcome the shortage of silk of the variety used for decorating woolen fabrics, worsted decorations have been employed in Fall goods. Some months ago the silk manufacturers professed themselves unable to obtain sufficient supplies of spun silk to take care of the needs of the woolen mills. The situation in such material has shown some signs of improving lately, and there have been more supplies coming from abroad, but conditions are said to be still far from normal. The absence of the usual showings of fancies, however, has helped the woolen mill agents to adjust themselves to the shortage of silk for their purposes, and worsted decorations are answering the purpose for the time being.

Nacre Taffetas Being Used.

Nacré taffetas, more commonly known as changeable, are one of the newest developments in women's hats here. These fabrics have been offered to the retail millinery trade for several seasons with only moderate success, but with the current vogue for blended colors, it is thought that they will do better than they ever have before. Hats of the taffetas in question have been made in a number of attractive effects. One of these is in the form of a two-piece tan, with a wide band of tagel around the head band. A mixed weave of cherry and blue, or blue and green, is popular for this purpose. Flat celophane ribbons are used a good deal with this fabric, and are especially liked for making brims of hats which have soft-draped crowns of nacré taffeta.

New Prices in Effect on May 1.

The last of the leading carpet and rug houses to announce their Fall prices did so yesterday, when the Bigelow-Hartford Carpet Company issued a list that will become effective on May 1. Until April 30 the company will continue to fill Spring orders. The new prices show average advances of 10 to 15 per cent. over those named on Jan. 1, which, in turn, were 5 to 10 per cent. higher than the prices quoted at the opening of the Spring season last October. The selling conditions under which business is taken at the new quotations specify that all unfilled orders for the new season will be canceled on Oct. 31. In addition to the usual stipulations about discontinuance of patterns, strikes, fires, &c., the company asserts: "Should our cost be increased by conditions over which we have no control, we will give you ten days', notice of the advance, with the option of either canceling your unfilled orders or allowing them to stand at the new prices. This applies to all stock, special and contract orders." Goods are sold f. o. b. mill, Sept. 1 dating, with 4 per cent. discount for payment in ten days. Anticipation will be allowed at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum.

BUSINESS RECORDS

WILLIAM J. FARRELL—Judge Mayer of the United States District Court has appointed William R. Willcox and Herman H. Eggers receivers, with a bond of $100,000, for William J. Farrell, exporter and importer of cork wood at 80 Water Street, on application of the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company of Guilford, N. C., a creditor for $20,000. The liabilities are stated to be $900,000, and assets not sufficiently "quick" to meet obligations, include merchandise in this city, valuable contracts and accounts receivable, largely to foreign creditors. ELEVATOR MEN WANT INCREASE IN WAGES

15,000 Operators and Starters Demand Rises Ranging from $5 to $10 a Week.

4,000 OWNERS AFFECTED

Ask for Eight-Hour Day and Time and a Half for Overtime—Fix April 15 for Settlement.

Fifteen thousand elevator starters and operators, members of Local Union No. 16,429, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, are demanding an increase in wages of $5 to $10 a week, an eight-hour day and time and one-half for overtime. The demands were sent out last night to 4,000 owners and agents of office buildings, loft buildings, apartment houses and department stores. The employers are given until April 15 in which to negotiate the agreement on the new basis.

Members of the union held an overflow rally last night at Arlington Hall, 19 St. Mark's Place, at which the demands were discussed by a number of speakers, including Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland, Edward F. Boyle, Chairman of the State Industrial Commission; James P. Holland, President of the State Federation of Labor; Hugh Frayne, New York representative of the American Federation of Labor; Former Judge Henry W. Unger, Alderman Abraham M. Beckerman, Alderman Charles A. McManus, James Roach of the American Federation of Labor and others. About two thousand persons got into the hall, while several hundred were turned away for lack of room.

Dr. Copeland told the meeting that the position of elvator starter or operator was an important one and that the health requirements of the individual demand a wage sufficient to provide the necessities of life. In many instances, he said, he knew that the workers were not receiving the pay they were entitled to, and wished for the members of the union success in their movement.

Hugh Frayne, after reviewing the trade unionist movement and speaking of the betterment of conditions brought about through organization, declared that the movement of the union for increased wages met with his hearty approval. "We don't want any strike," he told the meeting, "if we can help it, but if we have got to we will fight." Edward F. Boyle, chairman of the State Industrial Commission, told of several bills favored by the commission. One provides for a day off in seven for elevator operators and another that no woman under 18 shall operate an elevator.

OFFICE BUILDINGS.

	Demands.	Wages Now.
Starter	$38.50	$28-$35
Hallmen operators	35.60	25- 30

	Demands.	Wages Now.
Starter	$33.00	$25
Operators	28.00	$22- 25

"In view of the fact that the cost of living has steadily increased," read the letter of William B. Clancy, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, "we believe that the above reasonable rates of wages should be established in order that elevator starters and operators in your employ may enjoy better standards of living. We feel satisfied that if these conditions are agreed upon a higher efficiency will be rendered."

MINERS STRIKING IN TWO STATES

KANSAS AUTHORITIES ACT

Summon a Score to Court Under New Law and Warn That Strike Must End.

MANY MINES MADE IDLE

Farrington Will Call a State Convention in Illinois to Discuss the Situation.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 5.—Two thousand miners employed at ten mines in the Kansas coal field are on strike today.

Announcement of the strike came while the new Kansas Court of Industrial Relations was holding a hearing in a wage increase case started by employes of the Joplin & Pittsburgh Railway Company, the street and interurban line operating through Southeastern Kansas.

Dissatisfaction with the awards of the National Coal Commission is given by union officials as the cause for the extensive idleness of miners. The men are said to be dissatisfied with the award of the commission on dead work, wages, automatic penalty, cost of supplies and working conditions.

Alexander M. Howatt, President of Mine District No. 14, characterized the Federal award as an "outrage," and asserted that the strike was voluntary on the part of the miners.

Twenty-four witnesses were subpoenaed tonight to appear before the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations tomorrow to explain the strike. It was announced by the Attorney General that prosecutions will follow if the strike is not called off at once.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 5.—Dissatisfied with the advance given them by the wage contract signed by the General Scale Committee of coal operators and miners of the bituminous field at New York on March 31, company men in several down-State Illinois mines refused to work today.

Frank Farrington, President of the Illinois miners, said work in at least twenty mines was seriously affected, according to reports to his office. Mines at Staunton, Gillespie, Kincaid, Johnson City and Stonington were reported affected by the strike.

Under the recent wage contract the company men were to have a minimum wage of $5.75 a day and a maximum of $6.

President Farrington announced that he would call a State convention in Peoria April 20, when he would explain the steps that led to the present agreement. District officials of the union and the Scale Committee will meet operators and representatives in Chicago on Thursday to effect a district scale agreement.

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio, April 5.—Only three of Tuscarawas County's mines were in operation today as the result of 800 men joining the ranks of the miners who walked out Friday. The men said that they were dissatisfied with the $1 increase over their present wages of $5 a day.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 5.—Three thousand Eastern Ohio coal miners who went on strike Friday, refused to enter the mines today in spite of the efforts of union leaders to have the men call off the walkout. The miners expressed dissatisfaction with the manner in which the 27 per cent. wage increase was applied.

THEODOSIA IS FINAL BASE OF DENIKIN

Anti-Red Leader Plans to Defend Crimea, but Foreign Officers Are Not Optimistic.

THEODOSIA, Crimea, March 31 (via Constantinople).—With the coming of the army of General Denikin, the anti-Bolshevist leader in South Russia, and the allied fleets, this little Black Sea town in Southern Russia suddenly has become the pivotal point in the Crimea in which the anti-Bolshevist troops will make their last stand against the Reds.

The population in this part of the Crimea has been increased from 25,000 to 60,000. Many persons are living in freight cars or in small boats anchored in the harbor. There is much sickness. The hospitals are filled with persons suffering from typhus. The disease has been propagated by an influx of infected persons, the medical corps being entirely insufficient to maintain a quarantine.

Theodosia has become the base of both the volunteer army and the allied fleets. Denikin's forces hope to hold the armies and maintain a connection between the Crimea and the Russian mainland. Supplies of various sorts, especially food, are short, and consequently the situation is likely to become critical unless shipments are received from across the Black Sea.

Foreign military officers who have watched the evacuation of Novorossisk and other places in the south are not optimistic about the defense of the Crimea, because they assert the morale of the volunteer troops is low and there is no general disposition to make a vigorous defensive campaign.

LONDON, April 5.—On the Caucasian front the Bolsheviki are advancing along the Black Sea toward Nohougskaia, northwest of Touapse, according to an official statement sent out by the Soviet Government at Moscow today.

Carmania Brings $10,000,000 Gold.

HALIFAX, N. S., April 5.—The steamship Carmania, which arrived here today on the way from Liverpool to New York, had aboard gold valued at $10,000,000 destined for the United States Sub-Treasury in New York. The gold was in 332 boxes in the ship's strong room.

Canada Reserves Isles for Eskimos.

OTTAWA, April 5.—Banks and Victoria Islands, in the far north of Canada, are to be preserved for the native Eskimos, according to an order in council made public today, which also forbids trapping and hunting there by foreign sportsmen. Many trappers who had planned a three years' stay on Banks Island will be forced to leave.

25 to 40 Year Prison Terms For the Centralia Slayers

MONTESANO, Wash., April 5.—The seven men convicted here March 13 of second-degree murder for the slaying of Warren O. Grimm, Centralia Armistice Day parade victim, were sentenced today to not less than twenty-five nor more than forty years each in the State Penitentiary by Judge John M. Wilson after he had denied a motion for a new trial.

DANISH STRIKE OFF; AMNESTY GRANTED

NEW CABINET TEMPORARY

King Bowed to the Firm Will of the People, a Socialist Paper Says.

COPENHAGEN, April 5.—A definite agreement to call off the general strike which resulted in forcing King Christian to dismiss the Liebe Cabinet has been reached by employers and workmen here.

The result of this strike is the second remarkable illustration within a few weeks of the entirely novel use of the strike weapon, which has hitherto been employed almost exclusively in industrial disputes. It has been employed with surprising effect in two important constitutional crises. The first was in Germany, where the reactionary Government set up by Dr. Wolfgang Kapp was forced to relinquish power at the end of five days. The second was in this country, where it was employed with almost as quick success.

An encounter resulting in a number of casualties in wounded took place early today outside the Foreign Office between extreme Socialists and the police. A police motor car was overturned and destroyed, and two policemen were badly beaten. Revolver wounds were sustained by a few of the demonstrators. This is virtually the only instance of apparently premeditated violence during the crisis here.

The agreement for a settlement of the industrial crisis was reached early today at a conference between representatives of the employers and the workers. Later a general meeting of the representatives of the labor unions decided to call off the general strike.

The Social Demokraten, commenting on the settlement, says that King Christian was compelled to bow to the firm will of the people, and that the road now is clear for the democratization and socialization of the State. None of the bourgeois papers appeared this morning.

The first act of the new Ministry was to comply with the Socialist demand that general amnesty be granted to all political offenders now in prison.

The official list of the new Cabinet is: M. Friis, Premier and Minister of Defense; Oscar Scavenius, Minister of Foreign Affairs; M. Sonns, Agriculture; H. P. Prior, Trade; M. Vendel, Interior; M. Schroeder, Justice; M. Kofoed, Finance; M. Jensen, Labor; M. Pedersen, Education; M. Riishansen, Communications; M. Ammentorp, Worship.

The Ministry is purely provisional, and, according to the Social Demokraten, is composed exclusively of men opposed to the King's recent action in dismissing the Cabinet of Zahle. M. Scavenius is a relative of former Foreign Minister Erik de Scavenius.

The Ministry seems to meet the general approval of the parties. It is composed largely of the permanent secretaries of the different Governmental departments, who obviously have been chosen, for the most part, to carry on the routine of the departments in the Government, which is considered purely temporary in character. The other portfolios are held by men who, although representative of various political parties, are not considered as likely to make any radical changes in the conduct of their departments.

The reinstatement of H. P. Hanssen as Commissioner for Schleswig affairs, which is announced, has given great satisfaction to those who object to an annexationist policy regarding the disputed Northern Schleswig plebiscite zone. It is stated, however, that the appointee's political friends are endeavoring to persuade him not to accept the post, fearing that his presence in the Government would be used in propaganda against the temporary Cabinet.

LENIN TO CENTRALIZE ALL POWER IN RUSSIA

Fear of Cholera Epidemic This Summer Expressed by Commissioner of Public Health.

MOSCOW, March 29 (Associated Press)—Consolidation of party interests and centralizations of departmental activities as the result of Russian victories "on all fronts" were emphasized as the keynote of the Soviet Government's policy by Nicolai Lenin, Bolshevist Premier of Russia, speaking at the opening session of the ninth convention of the Communist Party here today.

"That this miracle of victory happened," he declared, "notwithstanding the imperialist world was against us, was due to centralization, sacrifice and discipline."

Recent peace proposals received by the Soviet Government denote a "change of sentiment in the outside world and an Entente policy indicative of lack of unity," Lenin said, adding: "Our position cannot be determined from the viewpoint of jurisprudence."

JAPANESE CONSUL KILLED.

Tokio Sends Envoy to Russia to Investigate Peace Offer.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5.—The Japanese Vice-Consul, Ishida, who was reported missing after the recent fighting at Nikolaevsk, Eastern Siberia, during which the Consulate was burned, was killed by the Bolsheviki, according to cable advices received by the New World, a Japanese language newspaper here today.

The same advices said that the Russian Government formally had asked the Japanese Government for peace and the Japanese Government has responded by sending Yagoro Mivra, its special Envoy at Paris and former Minister to Switzerland, to Russia to investigate.

Prices realized on Swift & Company sales of carcass beef in New York City for week ending Saturday, April 3, 1920, on shipments sold out, ranged from 14.00 cents to 21.00 cents per pound and averaged 15.69 cents per pound.—Advt.

PRIMARIES TODAY TO PICK DELEGATES

All Polling Places Will Be Open from 3 o'Clock in the Afternoon Till 9 at Night.

INTEREST IN HOOVER FIGHT

Two Women Supporters in 17th District Are Contesting Old Republican Leaders.

From 3 o'clock this afternoon until 9 o'clock this evening polling places will be open all over the city for enrolled voters of the Republican and Democratic parties to choose Delegates and Alternates to the National Convention to be held in June. Members of the State and County Committees of the two parties will also be chosen today. In nearly all cases the polling places will be the same as those used at the election last Fall. Only those who enrolled last Fall are eligible to vote today.

Although there are contests in all the eight Brooklyn Congressional districts and in several districts in Manhattan among the Republicans for the selection of delegates, the greatest interest is centred in the fight being waged in the Seventeenth Congressional District in Manhattan, where two candidates are pledged to support Herbert C. Hoover for the Presidential nomination, and in the Eleventh Assembly District among the Democrats for State Committeeman and leader of the district. With the exception of the Hoover contest in the Seventeenth District, all the fights for delegates in the Republican Party are being made by candidates who favor the nomination of United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California.

Former Senator William M. Bennett, a Johnson supporter, is making the only contest as a candidate for delegate at large. He has directed his fight principally against William Boyce Thompson, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee of the Republican National Committee. Bennett has a chance, however, to defeat any one of the other three Big Four candidates, Nathan L. Miller and United States Senators William M. Calder and James W. Wadsworth, Jr. Angus McSween, Eastern manager of the Johnson campaign, declared yesterday that Mr. Thompson was picked as a delegate at large because the State and national organizations were under obligations to him.

Bennett Scents Fraud.

Bennett declared yesterday that the sending out of a circular letter to County Committeemen to see that fully 60 per cent. of the women Republican voters cast their ballots today for the organization candidates, looked to him like an attempt at fraud. Ordinarily not more than 25 per cent. of the women vote in the primaries, he said, and he added that in every district where the women vote seemed excessive he would ask for an inspection of the ballots after the primaries.

In the Seventeenth District the Hoover candidates, Miss Mabel Choate and Julian S. Myrick, are making a hard fight against two of the best known Republican leaders in the city, Herbert Parsons and Albert J. Berwind. Mr. Parsons is the Republican National Committeeman for New York and formerly was President of the Republican County Committee.

When the Hoover candidates first entered the contest they thought it was hopeless, but they said yesterday that so much Hoover sentiment has developed that they now feel sure of a good chance to win. A final meeting of the Executive Committee and Captains of the Hoover Republican Committee of the district was held yesterday. Watson Washburn, Chairman of the Committee, said after the meeting:

"Reports received by us today from all parts of the Seventeenth Congressional District indicate that Herbert Hoover is now the leading candidate in the minds of the Republicans of this city for the nomination for President at Chicago. His declaration of yesterday has materially accentuated the drift of straight Republicans toward him, and there is every reason to feel that when the votes are counted on Tuesday night, the delegates from the Seventeenth Congressional District, instructed and pledged for Mr. Hoover, will be elected by the enrolled Republicans of the district."

PHILADELPHIA PLANS WOOD RECEPTIONS

Elaborate preparations are being made for big receptions in honor of Major Gen. Wood when he begins his Philadelphia tour in the interest of his candidacy for the Republican Presidential nomination, it was announced yesterday at the local Wood headquarters. General Wood is scheduled to speak in Philadelphia on the afternoon of April 16. Although the Wood managers have attempted no campaign in Pennsylvania for the General, it is said that interest in his candidacy is widespread throughout the State.

The Wood managers are working on the theory that Pennsylvania has a favorite son in Governor Sproul, and that most of the delegates will favor his nomination on the first ballot. After that the Wood forces believe that the delegates will turn to General Wood, and that the sentiment for him for second choice is so well established that it is useless to make a contest. A local Hoover organization has put up several candidates, but the Wood forces will not oppose them, believing as in New York State the regular Republican candidates are for General Wood anyway.

Having decided not to enter the Pennsylvania primaries, the Wood managers received a jolt yesterday when it became known that a candidate named Wood had filed a petition in Philadelphia. He proved, however, to be John Randolph Wood of that city, who was a delegate at large to a Republican convention several years ago. The time for filing petitions for the Pennsylvania primaries expires Thursday night.

The question whether the Calder or the Livingston forces in Brooklyn should invite General Wood to dine there on the eve of a meeting at which the General is scheduled to speak on April 17 was smoothed out by Republican leader Jacob A. Livingston suggesting that the Wood managers handle the situation themselves.

Plans for a national meeting of the supporters of Herbert C. Hoover at Chicago the middle of this month, at which it was proposed to establish a national organization, have been changed, it was admitted at the headquarters of the Hoover campaign in the Vanderbilt Hotel. Harold A. Vivian, in charge of the local organization, said that a Hoover conference would be held this week in New York City, at which it would be decided whether to hold a Chicago meeting.

WILL OPPOSE WOOD MEN.

Mulvihill Wing of Mississippi Republicans Also to Name Delegates.

JACKSON, Miss., April 5.—The Republican State Executive Committee, representing the wing of the party led by National Committeeman Mulvihill, at a meeting here today arranged for a State convention at Vicksburg May 5 to select four delegates at large to the Chicago convention.

Committeeman Mulvihill in a statement issued today to the Republicans of Mississippi characterized as "irregular" the convention held here last Thursday, which selected delegates at large pledged to Major Gen. Wood.

Queen Marie Blames Berlin for Son's Marriage; Feels Shabby as Bolsheviki Have Her Crowns

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 1 (Associated Press).—"It was German agents who manoeuvred and brought about the marriage of my son Charles," said the Queen of Rumania today in speaking of the morganatic marriage contracted in September, 1918, between Crown Prince Charles of Rumania and Zyzis Lambrino, a young woman who is said previously to have had little social rank or wealth.

"I am convinced that it was not a case of true love, except on the side of Charles," said Queen Marie. "I have never seen the girl except at public balls. She is not pretty, but she succeeded in capturing the affections of Charles. She is intelligent and ambitious. She saw her chance to obtain a great advantage, and she took it.

"However, it was against the public policy of the country to have a member of the royal families intermarry locally and become mixed in party intrigues. I begged my son to consider these facts, and he promised to forego his personal wishes for the benefit of the country. Nevertheless, the marriage took place in Odessa, aided by Germans. Later it was annulled as illegal, both under the laws of Rumania and of old Russia, as no banns were published.

"Later Charles joined his regiment, which he was compelled to do under military discipline, and went to Budapest with our army. Associated with patriotic Rumanians, he saw his duty and realized how foolish he had been to lose his country for a girl. Lately he has accepted a mission to Japan, where he will stay for six months. Should the girl marry another person the affair will be ended.

"The reconstruction of Rumania is the great task for which we now are working," continued the Queen. "This is one of the reasons I hope to visit America, possibly in September.

"I am sure that any one who invests money here will get a return with a handsome profit. We have several loans offered us, and we would accept them if the conditions were reasonable and we could adopt methods of payment such as our oil and timber against imports. Our pockets are empty now, because the National Treasury is deposited in Russia, as well as the crown jewels.

"It is an old tradition that a Queen should wear a crown. I have had several very smart ones. It is uncomfortable to go abroad and feel shabby. I do not know if the Bolsheviki have sold my crowns. However, the safety of the National Treasury is guaranteed by the Allies."

HARDING DENOUNCES WILSON POLICIES

Ohio Senator Advocates a Budget System in National Affairs and Straight Thinking.

United States Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, in a speech at the Dickinson High School, Jersey City, last night, where he was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience, devoted most of his speech to a criticism of the foreign policies of the Administration and pleaded for Americanism against an idealistic internationalism.

The meeting was presided over by Ralph Hendrickson, a Jersey City lawyer, who is President of Standfast Club, under the auspices of which Senator Harding spoke. George Warren, Jr., and Charles Lee Meyers, candidates for delegates to the Chicago Convention from the Twelfth Congressional District, and pledged to the support of Senator Harding, also spoke.

Senator Harding said in part:

"America must think straight and act straight and resolve to preserve our inheritance and determine to maintain just relationship. There are certain fundamentals which are everlasting. We may submerge them in chaos to the disappointment and distress of the present generation if we yield to folly, but sanity must assert itself ultimately. What I want more than all else is the understanding which will save our own generation.

"Wilsonian democracy has not only proposed to surrender our nationality in paralyzing internationality, but it has centralized authority and usurped power, in the name of war, until democracy is appalled and discouraged. The biggest thing for America tonight is to get back to the Constitution and the freedom it guarantees, back to the simplicity of government and representative democracy, with power distributed as planned by the founding fathers.

"What this country needs more than anything else just now is co-ordinated government and conservation. If the President had remembered that he asked for a Congress in 1918 to do his bidding and the people rebuked him, if he had awakened amid world dreams to recall that the founding fathers had ordained that the Senate stand guard against betrayal in treaty making, if he had advised with the Senate where ninety-six Americans utter the convictions of the constituencies as they understand them, if he had advised with the Senate as every President had done from Washington to Roosevelt inclusive, instead of dismissing that body as pigmy-minded obstructionists, there need not have been any delay about peace or any broken hearts of the world."

Senator Harding declared that the country was weaned of Government ownership of the railroads, and made it plain that he had voted for the return of the roads to their owners. Some of the candidates, he said, had not declared on this question. He urged the adoption of a budget system for the administration of the Government's financial affairs.

PROPOSES TO REPEAL SEVEN WARTIME ACTS

House Democrat Moves to Offset Republican Plan to Declare War at End.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Seven wartime acts, including that giving the President broad powers to consolidate and change Government departments, would be repealed under bills introduced today by Representative Wright, Democrat of Georgia.

This is understood to be the first move by the Democrats of the House to offset that of Republican leaders to pass a joint resolution declaring the state of war at an end.

Besides the Overman act, those which Mr. Wright would repeal are the Selective Service law, the War Housing act, the War Finance Corporation law, the Trading With the Enemy act, the law regulating explosives, and the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Rights law.

Jack Johnson Arranges Surrender.

CALEXICO, Cal., April 5.—Jack Johnson, former world's heavyweight champion pugilist, sent for Sheriff Applestill of Imperial County yesterday and arranged to have the Sheriff take him personally into custody when Johnson crosses the international line to meet Federal charges pending against him in Chicago. Johnson said he hoped to be ready to surrender soon.

LOWDEN ASKS WOOD ALSO TO OPEN BOOKS

WANTS GENERAL TO DO SAME

Idaho Senator May Seek an Investigation of Expenditures of All the Candidates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Louis Emerson, Secretary of State of Illinois and manager of Governor Lowden's campaign for the Republican nomination for the Presidency, called on Senator Borah today and stated that Governor Lowden was ready to submit his records of campaign expenses to scrutiny by Senator Borah or any one the Senator would name, with full permission for publicity. He added, however, that it seemed fair that if Governor Lowden's expenditures were to be made public, those of General Leonard Wood and the other candidates should be given out at the same time.

Mr. Emerson said he had come prepared to let Senator Borah examine the Lowden books. He did not refuse to let them be examined if the other candidates declined to submit their accounts to similar examination.

"I was unable to assure Mr. Emerson that the other candidates would do as Governor Lowden," said Senator Borah. "Mr. Emerson left after telling me that he would come on at any time with the records if I would telegraph him."

The Lowden forces are known to favor a Senatorial investigation. They are almost as eager as Senator Borah to have the public learn what has been spent in behalf of General Wood, it was stated here today, and have hoped that the decision of Governor Lowden to open his accounts would be followed by similar action by General Wood's managers.

Senator Borah said that no word had come from General Wood, except his public statements in reference to the Borah charges, and that Mr. Proctor, General Wood's manager, had declared publicly he would not submit the books to the public.

The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections has been called to meet this week to take up Senator Borah's bill to limit pre-convention expenditures of Presidential candidates to $10,000 in any one State.

Senator Borah and some of his colleagues are considering introduction in the Senate of a resolution for an investigation of campaign expenditures. If certain assurances can be obtained concerning the resolution, it may be introduced in the next day or two.

Mr. Borah thinks that if the facts concerning the Wood expenditures were known, it probably would be possible to give the public a complete financial history of the campaigns of all the avowed and some of the receptive candidates. But until the Wood figures are available it may be impossible to persuade the other candidates to tell how much was contributed to their campaigns and how it was spent.

JOHNSON ASSAILS HOOVER.

"Running on All Tickets," Californian Charges.

Opening his New Jersey campaign in Newark last night, where he spoke before a large audience in Coliseum Hall, Senator Hiram W. Johnson referred to his rival for the Republican Presidential nomination, Herbert C. Hoover, as "the candidate who is running on all the tickets." He was applauded when he declared that the people of the United States would this year in one way or another pass directly upon the League of Nations. Referring again to Mr. Hoover, he said:

"I am well aware there are certain gentlemen in the City of New York, led by J. P. Morgan, who would decide this question without your interference. I have nothing against my adversaries on the question, but the man I have criticism for is the one who is on both sides of the question—the man who would run with the hare and hunt with the hounds."

At no time during his speech did Senator Johnson refer to General Wood or to the primary fight in Michigan, from which State the Senator had just returned, but he frequently mentioned Mr. Hoover as "the candidate on all the tickets."

Colorado Court Bars Dry Vote.

DENVER, Col., April 5.—A referendum on the prohibition question will not be held in Colorado this Fall. The Supreme Court denied today a rehearing to the wets in their mandamus suit to compel Secretary of State Roland to file their petition, which sought to place the question before the voters in November.

9 ILLINOIS TOWNS WELCOME GEN. WOOD

AGAIN HITS FAVORITE SONS

Wants Will of the People to Rule Conventions—Favors Most Efficient Navy.

Special to The New York Times.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 5.—Major Gen. Leonard Wood, in furtherance of his campaign for the Republican nomination for the Presidency, was welcomed today by citizens of nine Illinois cities. He made his first speech at Kankakee at 9 o'clock in the morning, and tonight his day ended with a mass meeting in the Springfield Armory.

Everywhere General Wood had the warmest of welcomes, the scene at the farming centre of Monticello being a reminder of the old days before the advent of the automobile.

The reason for this was the condition of the roads which, as a result of yesterday's blizzard, were impassable for gasoline-driven vehicles. But the farmers refused to stay at home and so they came in buggies and wagons, there being perhaps a hundred ancient vehicles of the horse-drawn types parked in front of the Monticello hall when General Wood arrived.

At Kankakee a large crowd gathered about the train and listened to a ten-minute speech by General Wood. At Gilman and Paxton he received other fine receptions, while at the university city of Champaign he was the luncheon guest of the Rotarians.

Speaks to Capacity Audiences.

From Champaign he went to Monticello to meet the farmers, and then to Decatur, where he spoke to an audience of more than 2,000 persons who jammed to capacity one of the largest auditoriums in that city. At Clinton he spoke to another capacity audience which greeted him in the courthouse. The same was true of Lincoln, the last scheduled stop before reaching Springfield.

General Wood is campaigning in Illinois on a special train arranged for by his Illinois friends. The kindness of these friends is fully appreciated by General Wood, but he made it plain to THE TIMES correspondent that he wishes they had left the special train at home.

"I traveled on handcars, in buggies, on switch engines, and in freight cabooses in South Dakota," said General Wood, "and if necessary I could have done the same thing in Illinois. I was willing to have a special car, but I did not want this special train, and the first that I knew that I had one was shortly after I left Chicago this morning."

Tonight General Wood sent half of the train back to Chicago and will finish his trip with a three-car instead of the six-car special which had been chartered by his Chicago supporters.

Colonel Nathan W. MacChesney of Chicago, Chairman of the Illinois Wood Committee, said that if he had had reason to think General Wood would object to the train he would not have chartered it.

Again Hits "Favorite Sons."

"I have no patience," he said, "with the favorite son idea in dealing with national questions. It seems to me that a man must have other qualifications than the accident of birth, residence or marriage. We hear a great deal about the lack of courtesy in treading on the preserves of some favorite son. It seems to me the favorite son is still at an advantage in his own State if he has the stuff in him and that he need not worry about other people coming in. It is a national issue now, not a State issue, and I believe the people have a right to make their choice from the nation at large.

"There has been little in the way of political propaganda that has been more vicious than the favorite son idea. It has resulted in the presentation to the convention of men who did not represent the will or wishes of their State, and has resulted in National affairs and State affairs in bringing about situations such as the one described by the representative of a distinguished political leader the other day, when he said that he cared little for the vote at the primaries because the nomination this year would be decided by a group of fifteen or twenty weary men in a smoke-filled room behind locked doors at about 2:11 in the morning."

More than 3,000 persons attended the mass meeting at which General Wood spoke tonight. He was repeatedly interrupted by applause, particularly when he defended reservations to the League covenant and urged a fair deal between capital and labor.

"What we want today is to have the will of the people openly and frankly expressed, and then to have that will represented by the people who represent the State at the National Convention. We want to get away as far as we can from that type of control which has always been vicious and kept as near as we can to a control which is represented by popular opinion, honestly expressed at the polls."

In beginning his speech General Wood eulogized Abraham Lincoln as the greatest of Americans. In this city Lincoln lived when elected to the Presidency, and here his remains are interred.

Questions of national importance discussed by General Wood were universal military service, the League of Nations, the ratification of which, with the Senate amendments, he advocated; labor and capital, foreign affairs, the public school problem, the navy, which he said should be the most efficient but not the largest in the world; taxation and the problems of the farmers.

CHALLENGE BY ANDERSON.

Demands Assembly Put Him in Jail or Disavow Silencing Him.

Demanding that the Assembly either proceed forthwith to try to put him in jail or disavow the action of the joint committee "in obedience to the demand of a wet member of the Assembly" in denying him free speech, William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, yesterday wrote a letter to Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet.

"It was alleged as the basis for this denial of free speech," the letter continued, "that the Assembly had unanimously voted that I was guilty of contempt, and must apologize or go to jail. This statement is untrue, as is likewise any statement that I ever attacked the personal war record of Assemblyman Gillett or any other soldier."

Mr. Anderson asserted that "if the Assembly does not immediately do its utmost to put me in jail, then its threat so to do will be understood as a high-handed attempt to intimidate me into silence, and, failing in this, an outrageous effort to furnish an excuse for barring me, by force, at the behest of a mob."

RECEIVER FOR W. J. FARRELL.

Liabilities Placed at $1,000,000 and Assets at $2,500,000.

The exporting and importing business of William J. Farrell passed into the hands of receivers yesterday through an equity action begun by the Hunter Manufacturing and Commission Company of Greensboro, N. C., a creditor in an amount exceeding $20,000. Mr. Farrell's liabilities, it was said, aggregated $1,000,000 and his assets about $2,500,000. Federal Judge Mayer appointed William R. Willcox and Herman H. Eggers receivers with instructions to continue the business.

ACCUSES PRESIDENT OF SOVIET LEANINGS

COLT URGES RATIFICATION

Uninstructed Delegation to Chicago Is Named—Platform Calls for Greater Economy.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 5.—Condemnation of the "marked socialism of President Wilson" and warning against the "trend toward nationalization of industries, as suggested in his partiality to the Soviet plan," were voiced at the Republican State Convention here today by Representative Simeon D. Fess of Ohio.

"The Republican Party believes that the progress of a nation depends upon the freedom of initiative in the exercise of talent in invention and discovery," the speaker said. "It condems the marked socialism of President Wilson, who, under the stress of war, has extended Government activities to cover all productive agencies and who has called to Washington the strangest polyglot of Socialists ever invited into positions of responsibility. We deplore his effort to unstabilize the business of the country and warn the nation against the trend toward nationalization of industries, as suggested in his partiality to the Soviet plan."

The State convention and the district conventions held at the same time elected an uninstructed delegation of ten members to the national convention, without opposition.

The platform declared for ratification of the Peace Treaty with "such reservations as will fully safeguard America," favored a large merchant marine, reduction of Government expenditures, an adequate standing army, with a citizens' reserve, and equal suffrage.

In regard to the treaty the platform said:

"There should be no doubt that the United States retains its right to withdraw from the League of Nations after reasonable notice; that no obligation is assumed by the United States to send its military or naval forces abroad unless Congress shall so direct; that the Monroe Doctrine shall be preserved, and that no foreign power shall have any control whatsoever over the domestic policies of the United States."

The delegates at large elected are Governor Beeckman of Newport, Frederick L. Jenckes and Col. Joseph E. Fletcher of North Kingstown and Theophile Guerin of Woonsocket. The alternates at large are Isaac B. Merriman of Barrington, William B. Maccoll and G. Pierce Metcalf of Providence, and Arthur L. Perry of Westerly.

MRS. TUREK ARRESTS WOMAN IN GEM THEFT

She Accuses Caller of Abstracting Diamond She Reported as Worth $22,000.

Mrs. Florence Lenson, 28 years old, of 64 West Ninety-third Street was locked up in the West Sixty-eighth Street Station last night after she had been arrested by Mrs. Claire Leicester Turek, wife of Joseph Turek, a builder, of 450 West End Avenue, on a charge of stealing a diamond ring which she valued at $22,000 on Saturday last, but which is said in the complaint to be

Mrs. Turek alleged that on the day she alleges Mrs. Lenson, who is said to be the wife of a former army officer, took the ring, which was an egg-shaped brilliant in a marquise setting, Mrs. Lenson called on her in her apartment and extracted the ring from a mesh bag which, she declared, contained an open watch set with diamonds, several diamond set bracelets and other articles of jewelry.

Mrs. Turek alleged that she asked Mrs. Lenson to take a memorandum from the bag and that she believed that while her caller was getting the memorandum the diamond ring was taken. On the night the ring disappeared Mrs. Turek called in Detectives Joseph Daly and Ernest Moore of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station and informed them she suspected Mrs. Lenson took the diamond ring.

Later, while the detectives were searching Mrs. Turek's apartment in quest of the ring, she said, Mrs. Lenson came in, but Mrs. Turek admitted last night she did not repeat her charge against Mrs. Lenson.

The detectives later told Mrs. Turek that they did not feel they were in a position to arrest Mrs. Lenson, as there was no proof that she had taken the ring. Mrs. Turek admitted that she did not see Mrs. Lenson take the ring from her mesh bag, but she declared she was convinced Mrs. Lenson was the only person who could have taken it.

Mrs. Turek said she was in bed on the afternoon of the disappearance of the ring when Mrs. Lenson called on her to make arrangements for paying her the rent of an apartment the caller occupied in one of the houses owned by Mr. Turek. While in bed, Mrs. Turek told the detectives, she asked Mrs. Lenson to get the memorandum from her meshbag, which contained, besides various pieces of jewelry, several cubes of sugar which, Mrs. Turek explained, she carried with her to feed horses in the streets.

Mrs. Turek said last night that she employed private detectives on the case and that it was through reports submitted by them that she decided to demand the arrest of Mrs. Lenson. When she called in Detectives Daly and Moore last night and said she wanted Mrs. Lenson placed under arrest, they told Mrs. Turek they would not assume responsibility, but would accompany her to the station house with her prisoner.

At the station Mrs. Lenson indignantly denied she knew anything about the theft of the ring. She said she would be represented in the West Side Court this morning by a lawyer, with whom she communicated before she started for the station. She also telephoned to friends who undertook to obtain bail for her.

Explaining the different valuations placed on the ring, Mrs. Turek explained that $7,500 was its value when her husband bought it several years ago, but that she had it appraised recently and, owing to the increase of the price of diamonds, it was estimated to be $22,000.

SENATE TAKES UP NEW ARMY MEASURE

WADSWORTH LEADS DEFENSE

ADVANCES NATIONAL GUARD

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The fight over universal military training was begun in the Senate today when Senator Wadsworth of New York called up the Army Reorganization bill framed by the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

It was indicated at the outset that many Senate Democrats intended to oppose the universal military training provisions.

Senator Hitchcock said he had not heard from Mr. Wilson about it, but that the opposition he expressed today was his own view. Democratic opposition to the proposal was based, he said, on its reversal of American practice with respect to imposing liability for military service.

Some Democrats are prepared to oppose universal training also on the ground that it will cost a huge sum. Senator McKellar of Tennessee and some of his colleagues declared that universal training would cost more than $1,000,000,000 a year.

Citizenry Must Bear Burden.

In presenting the measure today, Senator Wadsworth pointed out that in all wars the burden of the fighting had fallen upon the citizenry of the country, and not on its few professional soldiers.

"Seven-eighths of the fighting has to be borne by the citizens," he said. "The question for Congress to decide now is whether in future emergencies the young men of America shall go into battle with a decent chance for their lives.

"The United States cannot ever keep a standing army big enough to defend us. The War Department's Army bill provided for an army of 675,000 men at a cost of $800,000,000 annually. That army would not be big enough in a great war."

The bill, Mr. Wadsworth said, would leave the States the same degree of protection by the National Guard as formerly, but would give the officers and men of the Guard a new opportunity, by putting them on an equality with men of the regular army. It was the plan to have 25 per cent. of the General Staff officers picked from the reserve, which would mean that National Guard officers would get on the General Staff, where they never before could serve.

"The bill makes the National Guard primarily troops of the United States, and the officers reserve officers of the United States, and secondarily State troops and officers," said the Senator. "There is no limit under the bill to the advancement of National Guard officers."

Reducing Regular Army.

"The first year," he said, "the regular army would consist of 280,000 enlisted men and 18,000 officers. During the ensuing five years there would be a reduction of 5 per cent. a year in enlisted personnel and 2 per cent. in officers, so that at the end of six years the army would consist of 210,000 enlisted personnel and 16,200 officers. At that time there would be more than 3,000,000 trained men in the citizen reserve."

Senator Hitchcock inquired why the country could not get along with an army of 210,000 now as well as six years from now.

"I wouldn't care to be responsible for a bill reducing the Regular Army below 250,000 under present world conditions," said Senator Wadsworth.

"But we now have several million trained men, veterans of the World War," said Mr. Hitchcock.

"How long are we going to ask them to be responsible for our defense?" retorted Mr. Wadsworth. "It isn't fair to ask those men, who have already done their share, to go on being our defenders. It's time that their successors in age began to take up that task."

Denies Excessive Cost.

As to the cost of the military establishment under the bill, Senator Wadsworth said he could not find the basis for statements that it would exceed a billion dollars a year.

"Six years from now," he said, "when the Regular Army has reached 210,000 and 16,200 officers, it will cost $658,000,000 a year for the whole establishment.

"The figures have been prepared after exhaustive calculations by the War Department. They show that it will cost $135,000,000 to train 500,000 young men annually. That is the number we will have to train for the citizen reserve. It will cost $124,000,000 for the National Guard, and $399,000,000 for the regulars. That makes a total of $658,000,000."

Included in the figures, Mr. Wadsworth said, were transportation, food, clothing, equipment, laundry, medical attendance, upkeep of quarters, pay and the cost of registration of the men subject to training.

"The money we save by the annual reduction in the regular force will almost exactly offset the cost of universal training, other assertions to the contrary notwithstanding," the Senator added.

WOMEN GET PRIMARY POINTS

Mrs. Van Zile, Wood Supporter, Explains Today's Ballot.

Information regarding today's primary was given to a gathering of women voters at a Leonard Wood meeting held by Mrs. Cecilia Farwell at 7 Gramercy Park last evening. Mrs. Edward Van Zile, from the Wood headquarters in the Imperial Hotel, explained the details of the ballot and the requirements for the voting privilege.

J. B. W. Gardiner of the Publicity Committee of the Wood campaign was the only other speaker giving his reasons for supporting the General's nomination. Mrs. Farwell, widow of a Spanish war officer, presided.

The expertly heralded revival of "Florodora" packed the Century Theatre last evening with an audience as large and festive as the Alumnae Association of the original sextette. There was great rejoicing, for this favorite of twenty years ago, now sung and mounted and played far better than ever it was in its youth, proved to be an abundantly entertaining piece with no disappointments in it for one who had thought it grand when he applauded the first production from the vantage point of a gallery seat. There is the singing of Eleanor Painter and the clowning of George Hassell and, again and again and again, there is the perennial number written for the double sextette, the song that set a fashion in musical comedy which has only just begun to exhaust itself.

It was the "Tell me, pretty maiden" melody for which last night's audience was waiting and there was a great hullabaloo when it began, with the heads nodding and the hats lifting as of yore. But the greater excitement was manifested in the more elderly bosoms when, for an encore, there emerged from the wings six pompadoured girls, clad in the flapping hats and long black gloves and flowing trains of the first sextette. When "Floradora" was new these costumes seemed very saucy indeed, but now they suggest nothing so forcibly as an A. B. Frost illustration for a story by Alice Brown. Not that all the elements of the original enchantment were present. For where are the waistlines of yesteryear?

Miss Painter as Dolores—you remember the damsel of the sheltering palm—is a radiant vision with a golden voice, a voice that works wonders with two interpolated numbers. As far as light opera goes, she was never more clearly the first lady of the land, and the music and the vitality and the sparkle of her performance last evening were a gentle reminder that certain of the more ambitious musical projects of the season would have fared better had she been among those present.

George Hassell is a gorgeous low comedian—booming away in the rôle of the comic phrenologist with all the gusto he brought to "The Tempest" when he went a-clowning in that piece on the same stage some years back. He can be funny with nothing funny to say—which, in this instance, is just as well. "Florodora" was never a mine of laughter and, though its time-worn script has been industriously refurbished with new jokes, it is not convulsing even now. The refreshing process has taken the form of quips about "departed spirits" the most persistently recurrent wheeze of the season and is inclined without warning to burst into humor of this variety.

"Oh, Lady My. How rude?"

Of the rest, it may be said that Walter Woolf gives a good account of himself with the "Oh, My Dolores" song, which was once such a favorite, that Christie Macdonald does only passably well with the "Tact" song which Edna Wallace Hopper used to make chic, voice or no voice, and that Margot Kelly is in the cast. Abashed by the reception which greeted her vocal efforts in "A Little Bit of Fluff" and admonished by her great success in "Pierrot the Prodigal" when she said never a word, she is careful to remain supremely inaudible throughout "Florodora," even when she appears to be singing with great abandon. Her talented hair, however, reaches to the uttermost corners of the auditorium and the rest of her is swallowed up in such interpolater choral numbers as "Hello, People," and the like—songs tucked quietly into "Florodora" from successes of other seasons.

"THREE SHOWERS" ARRIVES

Colonel John White	Walter Wilson
Anna Mobberly	Vera Ross
Ray White	Edna Morn
Willie Mobberly	Andrew J. Lawlor, Jr.
Peter Fitzhugh	Paul Frawley
Hudson Gatling	William Winter Jefferson
'Rastus Redmond Reynolds	Lynn Starling
Riley	Wilbur Cox
Bruce Payne	Norman Jefferson

Two members of the chorus in hoop skirts told the audience at the Harris Theatre last evening before the first curtain that "Three Showers" was meant to recall an old saying about making a wish on a day of three showers and it is sure to come true. It was something that many had forgotten and others never knew, and after all it was not a matter of great importance. Mr. and Mrs. Coburn offered the entertainment as a "comedy with music" which brought up pleasant memories of "The Better 'Ole," and Anna Wheaton, back from a time in vaudeville, was to appear in it. Both the Coburns and Miss Wheaton have many friends who gave the "comedy with music" an enthusiastic send-off.

The Coburns have attempted to give to "Three Showers" a new twist and a coloring of their rightly admired originality, and they doubtless would have succeeded better with better material to start with. Unfortunately, the book, by William Cary Duncan, is only moving picture writing or magazine fiction of distinctly second grade. For a long time it looked as though it were to be new and old prohibition jokes set to music, plus a bit of motion picture melodrama. However, it took a turn for the better toward the end, when the author's "big idea" was expressed in a pistol shot and the chorus sang the best song, "The Old Love Is the True Love."

Miss Wheaton was hampered, too, by the strange and improbable things she had to say. Miss Wheaton in riding togs, in a farmerette costume with pink and white checked trousers and red waist, Miss Wheaton climbing a ladder and sliding down a rope, Miss Wheaton in a wheelbarrow! She brought out her whole line of tomboy tricks. They were not enough.

In the music of "Three Showers" the hand of the music publisher is clearly visible. Many of the numbers will doubtless be sung and played around town for a while, and, in part, they are already being sung and played under other names. Each recalls something else. Yet the music is melodious and the dance tunes have good "lifting power." A colored quartet worked hard to "put over" the songs of Messrs. Creamer & Layton. At the same time they were guilty of the only bit of bad taste in the "comedy with music" in a song that should have been discarded.

"Ruddigore" for Roosevelt Memorial

Last night's performance of "Ruddigore" at the Park Theatre was under the auspices of the Woman's Roosevelt Memorial League, the proceeds to be devoted to the fund to restore the house in which Colonel Roosevelt was born. Addresses were made by Mrs. John Henry Hammond, President of the society, and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mr. Roosevelt's sister.

C. E. Lobdell on Farm Loan Board.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—President Wilson today designated Charles E. Lobdell, Kansas, Republican, as Commissioner of the Federal Farm Loan Board, succeeding George W. Norris, who resigned to become Governor of the Philadelphia Federal Reserve Bank. W. H. Joyce, formerly President of the Federal Land Bank at Berkeley, Cal., took up his duties as a member of the board. Mr. Lobdell has been a member of the board since it was created.

WYNN CARNIVAL HILARIOUS.

Comedian and Acrobats Regal and Moore Make Fun Continuous.

Principals: Ed Wynn, Henry Regal, Simeon Moore, Richie Ling, Lillian Durkin, Ted Roberts, Herbert Russell, Frank Ridge, Lillian Fitzgerald, Three Meyakos, Lillian Wood, Fay West, Trixie Jennery, Evan Burrows Fontaine, Marion Davis, Earl Benham.

The genial Ed Wynn, at the head of his own company—and at the foot of it and in the middle of it, too—came triumphantly back to town at the New Amsterdam last night and brought upon himself one of the most enthusiastic welcomes of the season. Part of this, of course, came from a determined delegation from the Equity, mindful of Wynn's rôle in the late strike, but there was plenty more from the regular theatregoers.

It is a good show, the Ed. Wynn Carnival, made so chiefly by the irrepressible Wynn and a pair of first rate comedian-acrobats named Regal and Moore. Wynn, for all that his mood is generally the same, never palls, and while he holds the stage the fun is as close to continuous as any one man can make it. Like Hitchcock, he is the "proprietor" of the show, and constantly rushing hither and yon to see that all goes well. Like Hitchcock, also, he greets his audience personally—but at the end of the performance, instead of the beginning. Unlike Hitchcock, he is the author of most of the current entertainment—of all of his own patter, and of a good deal of the rest of it, even some of the music.

When Wynn is absent the Carnival is just average revue, with the aforesaid Regal and Moore and the interesting Evan Burrows Fontaine walking off with the remaining honors. If the show has a weakness, it is in its feminine principals, none of whom—there are some three or four—is particularly well equipped with voice, personality or general ability. The chorus, too, is not over-endowed with the qualities that a chorus ought preeminently to possess. But none of it mattered much to the audience, so long as Wynn was in form; and presumably it will matter no more to future audiences.

Those who have followed the comedian through his various adventures hereabouts will recognize one or two of his bits, such as the episode of the violin—quite the funniest thing that he does—and that of the lightning calculator. Most of it, however, is new—new and hilariously funny. In the gray of the morning after, there is probably no great humor in depositing one's burned matches and cigarette ashes in an open piano, but at the New Amsterdam at night it is guaranteed to please.

Henry Regal and Simeon Moore, out of vaudeville—most of the show is out of vaudeville—are a pair of acrobats skilled not only acrobatically, but histrionically, and the Meyakos, three Japanese from the two-a-day, also distinguished themselves. And there is the sinuous Egyptian dance of the remarkable Miss Fontaine. Richie Ling is content to play a bit, Fay West is highly decorative, and Trixie Jennery dances. And on the debit side of the ledger there is Lillian Fitzgerald—very, very much from vaudeville. Vaudeville doubtless misses her, and she should certainly go back.

Mr. Wynn has been trouping up and down the land with his Carnival all season, and enjoying a goodly success with it. Several of the company, notably Miss Fontaine, are added starters for the New York engagement.

"The Hottentot" Aids Nursery.

The performance of "The Hottentot" at the George M. Cohan Theatre last night was given in aid of the Manhattanville Day and Night Nursery, Old Broadway and 131st Street. The sale of seats netted several thousand dollars, and in addition a program was auctioned by William Collier. Mrs. Lansing C. Holden was the Chairman in charge of the benefit.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Maggie Teyte, it is announced, is to sing the title role in "Lassie" when that musical piece is produced in London. The piece will have its New York premiere at the Nora Bayes Theatre tonight.

John Daly Murphy has been added to the cast of "The Bonehead," opening at the Fulton next Monday.

"My Golden Girl" was transferred last night from the Nora Bayes Theatre to the Casino.

Frederick Stanhope, the stage director, will sail for England tomorrow to produce Robert Hichens's "The Garden of Allah" at Drury Lane in London.

Elsie Mackay has resumed her original role of the governess in "Clarence" at the Hudson. Miss Mackay appeared for a time in the Chicago company.

"Double Harness," a comedy by M. F. Marks and R. A. Paulton, will be produced in New York next season by Joseph Klaw. The play has already been given a road tryout.

"A Week-End Marriage," by Owen Davis, was produced in Atlantic City last night by the Shuberts. The same firm also presented "The Man Outside," by Kilbourn Gordon and Ward Howe, in Stamford.

EXPLAINS TAX 'REDUCTION.'

Treasury Department Seeks to Correct Possible Misunderstanding.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The Treasury Department issued a statement today explaining the recent announcement that the national debt was reduced $705,660,000 during March. The statement reads:

"There appears to be some danger that emphasis laid in the press upon reduction of the public debt in March will lead to a misunderstanding of the Treasury's situation. Though progress has been made since last August in reducing the gross debt and the floating debt of the Government of the United States from taxes and salvage and by reducing the net balance in the general fund, it would be a mistake to assume that any such reduction in the public debt as occurred in March was other than temporary. The income and profits tax payment in March amounted to $919,000,000, on the basis of Treasury daily statements, while the Government's other current revenues amounted only to about $180,000,000. Its current expenditures in March exceeded $537,000,000. Obviously, the Government must be a heavy borrower in April and May, and the public debt will be again increased in those months.

"The fact that so large a proportion of the Government's annual income is paid in four months of the year, March, June, September and December, will necessarily result in fluctuations of the public debt and it is a mistake to concentrate attention upon the operations of those months and to leave out of account the intervening months in which current expenditures have regularly exceeded current receipts to a greater or less extent.

"The operations for the first nine months of the fiscal year 1920 show a current deficit of $214,000,000. The peak of the war debt was not reached, however, until Aug. 31, 1919, and a comparison of the public debt on that date with the public debt on March 31, shows that important progress has been made in the reduction of the public debt—particularly the floating debt—from taxes and salvage and by reducing the net balance in the general fund. In that connection, however, it should be borne in mind that the period of Aug. 31 to March 31, though it covers only seven months' expenditures, includes three quarterly income and profits tax installments.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

After an hour of hesitant price movements yesterday morning the stock market began to gather strength and many industrial issues gained from 2 to 4 points before the close. The volume of trading increased as the rise gained in force. It was noticeable, however, that the price list was "spotty" at all times and the railroad group shared hardly at all in the improvement of sugar, motor, steel and special issues. London dispatches of late have suggested that American securities were being gathered by the Treasury for sale on the American market for the purpose of increasing balances here against the Anglo-French bond maturity and for other needs. In market opinion the rails for several weeks have acted as though steady liquidation was coming from some source, although not in large volume, and foreign selling is referred to in Wall Street comment.

The improvement in speculative sentiment came from several causes. Prices looked up after the call money market opened at 7 per cent., a rate to be considered rather low these days, and for this evidence of an increased supply of loanable funds the followers found a basis in last week's Federal Reserve Bank statements. The increase of the local bank's cash ratio to deposits and note circulation from 39.1 to 42.2 per cent. was a better change than had been expected, although it was known that the substantial gold imports would help the bank's position. The bank was able to pay off obligations to other institutions, and the entire system reported a sizable decline of rediscounts. Quite likely the reference made by the New York bank in its monthly letter to the thorough liquidation of local bank loans secured by stocks and bonds dating back to October had some influence on market sentiment, although the facts had been known before. In the afternoon call money got down to 6 per cent. Running parallel with the effect of a somewhat easier call money situation was the cheering influence of another sharp advance of sterling exchange. The rate shot forward 10 cents to the pound, to $4.06¾, crossing the $4 mark with a wide margin for the first time since last November. A reaction near the close of business carried the sight draft rate back to $4.01¼, but this movement was quite natural in view of the quick upturn. Looking back it seems hardly possible that no longer than two months since sterling was quoted as low as $3.19. The recent steady rise has been directly connected, of course, with the gold shipments from London, but more than that it has recorded a strong growth of confidence in the way the British Government is handling its financial matters at a critical time. French exchange also gained ground with Italian and Belgian rates. It may be that, while the improvement of the French and Italian rates was [illegible] factor of some importance, [illegible] news that these countries were retiring note circulation with the proceeds of their internal loans.

The Stutz Motor stock situation remained in a deadlock, with indications that court action would [illegible] received hopefully in commission houses.

Armour Leather to Pay Dividend.

The Armour Leather Company will inaugurate dividends on the common stock next month at the rate of 2 per cent. a year, it was announced in the financial district yesterday. To cover the period from Nov. 1 to May 1 a payment of 1 per cent. will be made on each share of the $15 par stock. The fiscal year will be changed to conform with the calendar year.

Wants Inquiry on Liberty Bonds.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Appointment of a House committee to inquire into the depreciation of the market value of Liberty bonds is proposed by a resolution introduced today by Representative Magee, Republican, of New York. The committee would recommend what legislation, if any, Congress should enact having for its purpose the appreciation of the value of the bonds.

STUTZ SETTLEMENT RUMORS UNVERIFIED

FIGHT IN COURT FORECAST

Application to List 20,000 New Shares Further Complicates Situation.

Allan A. Ryan & Co. and the New York Stock Exchange were still deadlocked yesterday over the corner in Stutz Motor Car Company stock, which caused the Exchange to suspend trading in the issue last Wednesday. There were rumors aplenty, however, and one of these had to do with a prospective settlement between the shorts and Allan A. Ryan, it being asserted that a number of men had interested themselves in straightening out the difficulties.

On the surface, however, it did not appear that there was prospect of an early settlement, both Mr. Ryan and the Stock Exchange presenting belligerent fronts. During the day Mr. Ryan was in the Stock Exchange, presumably appearing before a sub-committee of the Board of Governors. The latter, however, would not admit officially that there had been any discussion with Mr. Ryan. In one report which was circulated, Mr. Ryan was alleged to have told the Board of Governors that if delivery of stock was not made in the regular way the matter would be taken to the law courts, while another version was that the Stock Exchange had said that if redress was desired the law courts were available.

Whichever may be the true account, the fact remains that the only official statement was the following issued by the Law Committee of the Stock Exchange and confirmed by the Board of Governors. This reads:

"The amount of premium to be paid with respect to loaned stocks is not a matter of regulation by the Exchange. In the judgment of the Law Committee the Exchange will not treat failure to deliver Stutz Motor stock, due to inability of the contracting party under existing conditions to obtain same, as a failure to comply with his contract, requiring action on the part of the Exchange, pending the determination of the question of his liability by action at law or other appropriate proceedings."

This was construed by some as an invitation to Mr. Ryan to take the case to court in his endeavor to collect against the short sellers. It was stated by some that the action was taken because the Ryan interests had refused to sell any stock so that the shorts might settle, it being obvious that they could not settle unless there was a willingness to part with some of the actual shares. On the other hand the phrase "other appropriate proceedings" was construed in some quarters as leaving the way open for a private settlement of the differences, although it was difficult to understand how a private settlement between the Stock Exchange houses which are short of Stutz and Allan A. Ryan & Co. could be arranged. The Exchange when trading was suspended ruled that no Stock Exchange house could trade in the shares and a private settlement might be considered as trading. Ordinarily failure to deliver on demand would be presumptive insolvency under Stock Exchange laws. The most recent ruling obviates this.

The Stock Exchange feels very confident of its position in any legal test that may be inaugurated. It was asserted yesterday by a member of the Exchange that never but once had a ruling of the Exchange been overthrown by the courts, that being in the case of a confiscation of a seat many years ago.

The Stutz situation was further complicated when application was made yesterday to list 20,000 additional shares of Stutz Motor Car Company stock. This is the increase in stock which was voted last March to pay the ⅕ of a share stock dividend on the 100,000 shares capitalization then outstanding. It remains to be seen what the Stock Exchange will do about this. One of the prime essentials to listing, according to the Exchange, is distribution and in the present case lack of distribution of the old shares is what brought about the corner. Under such circumstances there is some question whether the additional shares will be allowed a place on the Exchange.

Standard Textile Products Report.

The report of the Standard Textile Products Corporation for last year shows net profit after charges and Federal taxes amounting to $800,942, which, after preferred dividends, was equal to $10.47 a share on the $4,000,000 common stock. In the preceding year $10.25 was earned on the common. Net sales for the year were $16,249,364, as compared with $16,201,810 in 1918.

MAY DEPARTMENT STORES.

The report of the May Department Stores and subsidiary companies for the year ended Jan. 31, 1920, reflects the general prosperity of merchandising concerns last year. Net profits after the deduction of charges and Federal taxes amounted to $4,198,104. This was equivalent, after preferred dividends to $24.92 a share earned on the $15,000,000 common stock, which compared with $15.40 a share earned in the year ended with Jan. 31, 1919.

Total income for last year was $7,848,101, as compared with $5,628,489 the year before, while net profits in the preceding year were $2,787,859. The balance sheet shows an increase in inventory to $10,253,908 from $6,018,123 in the preceding year, and accounts payable increased from $831,951 to $3,208,791. Total surplus at the close of the year was $11,576,361, as compared with $10,788,371 in the year before.

U. S. Express Dividend $30.

The United States Express Company has declared a liquidating dividend of $30 a share payable May 3 to stockholders of record April 10. This brings the total dividends paid by the company in distributing its assets up to $84.50 a share. It was voted to liquidate the company's business in March, 1914. The $30 dividend was made possible by the recent sale of the company's downtown building and other real estate for $3,725,000. It is understood that the dividend just announced is not the last, as the company still has some remaining assets which will be distributed later.

$1,125,000 in Stock for Union Bag.

The Union Bag & Paper Corporation, which owns 75 per cent. of the $5,000,000 outstanding capital stock of the St. Maurice Paper Company, Ltd., will receive $1,125,000 in new stock, under a 30 per cent. stock dividend which the latter has declared. The St. Maurice Company operates a newsprint mill with a daily output of 190 tons at Three Rivers, Canada, and owns several sawmills.

Two New Branch Banks Abroad.

Two new branches of the National City Bank have been opened simultaneously, one at Lima, Peru, and the other at Madrid, Spain. This increases the total foreign branches of the bank to fifty-five.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Foreign Events Considered Lightly.

Wall Street has a habit at times of turning a decidedly deaf ear to the course of events across the sea, and this seemed to be the case yesterday. There were not a few who came down in the morning with the idea that stock market prices would crumble because of the new phase of the French-German situation. On the contrary prices opened firm and the decline that followed was due rather to local causes than international happenings. Furthermore, there was some good news during the day, the recovery in sterling not escaping notice. After midday the market became firm and in many issues substantial advances were recorded. On the other hand, where recessions did take place on the day's business the losses were for the most part fractional or at least small by comparison with what had been expected.

Corn Products.

Corn Products Refining Company common shares were once more in the limelight, moving up to within a fraction of par and closing the day at 98 for a gain of 2½ points. Interested extensively in the manufacture of food products, it has been reported for some time that the foreign business of the company was being rapidly expanded, and there were reports yesterday that earnings for the first quarter of this year would be decidedly higher than for the corresponding period of 1919. The advance of the stock to within a fraction of par called to mind a wager that was made several years ago by George B. Buchanan, the specialist in Corn Products. This was to the effect that Corn Products, then selling around 15 or 20, would sell at par before he was 50 years old. He will turn the forty-fifth milestone today and expects to collect the wager five years to a day in advance of the maximum time allowed.

Crucible Steel Shorts.

The short interest in Crucible Steel was pinched once more yesterday, the stock running up to 271 and closing only a point and a quarter below this with a net gain amounting to more than 9 points. The stock dividend of 50 per cent. comes off Crucible Steel on April 14 and the shorts have to deliver by that time. The impression prevails that the floating supply of Crucible is small and the stock is not infrequently loaned at a premium. There is considerable speculation as to what will be the dividend action of the company when the new shares are put out. Some contend that the 12 per cent. yearly rate will be maintained.

Copper Sales.

Figures that have come to hand as to copper sales for March indicate that more than 300,000,000 pounds of the metal were sold. In this is found the reason for the firming up of the price for copper. There is still some little copper to be had as low as 19 cents, but the prevailing price is 19¼ cents a pound and if April sales continue at anything like the volume of the March transactions, it is considered quite likely that the price will cross 20 cents a pound.

How It Is Expended.

On the basis of railroad earnings last year, a compilation prepared by The Railway Age shows that in one month the earnings of 17½ days were paid in labor, the earnings of 2½ days were paid for fuel, the earnings of 6½ days were paid for materials and supplies, the earnings of 1½ days were paid for taxes, equipment and facility rent. This consumed 27½ days of each month. The Railway Age says: "The remaining three days were used by the Government to pay the guaranteed standard return to the companies. The net operating income was insufficient for this purpose and in consequence there was incurred a deficit, which had to be paid from taxes."

Pennsylvania Financing.

Talk of Pennsylvania Railroad financing to the extent of $50,000,000 or $60,000,000 yesterday [illegible] but an announcement is expected soon.

Acceptance Buying.

In the Federal Reserve statement of last Saturday a new item, called contingent liability on bills purchased for foreign correspondents, amounting to $16,187,833, was supposed to represent the bills purchased for Japan out of the proceeds of the Japanese Treasury certificates which the Japanese Government purchased some time ago. At the Reserve Bank all information about the transaction was withheld, but elsewhere the Japanese theory was widely accepted. Incidentally, if this is the explanation of the item, it would seem that the Japanese prefer the yield on bankers' acceptances to the rate paid by the Treasury on its latest offerings of certificates.

Advices received by local bankers state that the German Reichsbank has stopped selling Mexican Government bonds. A great many of these securities have been coming on the local market from German sources, and more than a few, it is supposed, were smuggled out of Germany in defiance of the exchange monopoly which the Reichsbank is supposed to enjoy in the handling of all foreign securities. But now that the latter has stopped selling Mexican Government bonds, and pending some official explanation, two theories are held—either that the supply has become exhausted, or that the Germans, believing the Mexican bonds will advance further on resumption by Mexico of debt payments, are holding out for better prices.

The Times Market Averages.

It has become necessary to make certain substitutions in The Times stock market averages by eliminating some issues and replacing them with others. In the industrial list the stocks eliminated are American Car, General Motors (old), Great Northern Ore, Western Union Telegraph, Utah Copper and Virginia-Carolina Chemical and Westinghouse Electric. These seven will be superseded by Barrett Company, General Motors (new), Texas Company, American Woolen, American International Corporation, Corn Products and United States Food Products. The aggregate of the seven to give way was 701½ at the close of business April 1, while that of the five new stocks was 701. In the rail list Chicago Great Western preferred, Seaboard Air Line preferred and Southern Railway preferred, totaling 99½ in quotation, are making way for Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Texas & Pacific and Southern Railway common, which aggregate 100⅜ in price. Thus the three-quarters of 1 per cent. lost in the industrial substitution is recovered in the substitution in the rail list, thereby equalizing the combined average of fifty stocks. The changes make for a truer index of the market, because the stocks put into both lists are more active than those removed. For the first three months of the year the seven new industrials enjoyed a turnover of 4,300,450 shares, against 2,559,300 for the seven eliminated, and in the rail substitution the new stocks had total sales of 1,805,450 shares, against 75,600 shares for the issues formerly used. These changes became effective in the averages for yesterday's market which are published today.

RAILROADS EMBARGO FREIGHT TO CHICAGO

"Outlaw" Yardmen Assert 9,000 Are on Strike, but Companies Say 7,500.

CHICAGO, April 5.—Officials of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, who engineered the walk-out in the Chicago railroad yards, asserted tonight that 9,000 switchmen and yardmen employed on eighteen railroads were on strike today, but railroad officersp laced the number out at approximately 7,500, and while admitting that freight service was operating on a twenty-five per cent. basis, attributed the reduction largely to yesterday's snow storm.

The strike of 850 switchmen on the Chicago Junction Railroad, which serves the stockyards, partly crippled activities at the packing houses today and threw 5,000 men out of employment. Packing house officers said that 50,000 stockyards workers would be forced to quit work tomorrow if the strike continued.

The American Railway Express Company issued an embargo on foreign shipments today and at Cleveland the New York Central and the Nickel Plate Railroads posted notices of an embargo on all shipments westward from Ohio points which would be handled at Chicago. The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul also announced an embargo on freight billed to or routed through Chicago.

A break in the strike was predicted tonight by A. F. Whitney, Vice President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who said that several hundred union switchmen from many points in the Middle West arrived today to take the place of strikers, and that others would arrive tomorrow.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, with which the railroads affected have working agreements, has declared the strike illegal and is co-operating with railroad officers in efforts to bring about a resumption of work.

Clerks and other railroad office employes were sent into the yards today to help move cars of perishable freight. Union leaders claim there is $15,000,000 worth of perishable goods in the Chicago yards, but railroad officials set the value at considerably less.

Eighteen roads are affected by the strike. They are: Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul; Chicago and Northwestern; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy; Chicago and Erie; Chesapeake and Ohio; Baltimore and Ohio Baltimore and Ohio Chicago Terminal; Pan Handle; Santa Fe; Grand Trunk; Illinois Central; Indiana Harbor Belt; Soo Line; Monon; Western Indiana; Chicago Junction; Chicago Great Western, and Belt Railroad of Chicago.

Fearing riots, John J. Garrity, Chief of Police, early today placed the entire police force on reserve. Five hundred policemen patrolled the switch yards last night, he said. Mr. Garrity said the situation was serious and added that it may be necessary to call out the militia and declare military control in the railroad yards.

BANKERS TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, TRUSTEE

A letter from Mr. B. G. Work, President of The B. F. Goodrich Company, to which reference is made, is summarized as follows:

PLANT AND BUSINESS

The B. F. Goodrich Company and predecessor organizations have operated continuously since 1870. The Company uses approximately one-sixth of the crude rubber brought to the world's markets. In addition to automobile tires, it manufactures a complete line of rubber products. Net sales have increased from $39,509,346 in 1913 to $123,470,187 in 1918 and to $141,343,419 in 1919. Additional plant capacity will be brought into production during this year, and the business should then exceed $200,000,000 per annum. Indications are that the demand this year will be substantially in excess of the Company's production capacity.

PROVISIONS OF ISSUE

The Trust Indenture, among other covenants, provides in substance for the maintenance of current assets of at least 150% of all obligations including these notes, but excluding purchase-money obligations having more than one year to run and reserves for Federal taxes until such taxes become a fixed liability, and against issuing further notes or mortgaging or pledging real or personal property, except for borrowings in the usual course of business and maturing within one year and except in connection with purchase-money obligations on property hereafter acquired.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The proceeds of this Note issue will be used to increase the Company's working capital, required by its growing business, and will be applied to reduce its current liabilities.

FINANCIAL

Giving effect to this Note issue and to the reduction of current liabilities from the proceeds thereof, the balance sheet as of December 31, 1919, would show total liabilities, including these Notes, of less than $37,000,000, in contrast with current assets of $85,874,000.

Net profits available for interest during the five years ended December 31, 1919, averaged $14,217,000. After providing for Federal taxes and interest actually paid, the average earnings were $11,149,000. The annual interest on these Notes is $2,100,000.

Average earnings available for dividends during the five years ended December 31, 1919, were equivalent to $13.75 per share per annum on the 600,000 shares of common stock now outstanding. The present dividend rate is $6 per annum.

EQUITY

These Notes are followed by $38,412,000 par value preferred stock and 600,000 shares no-par-value common stock, which, at present quoted prices, have a combined market value in excess of $76,000,000.

All legal matters in connection with this issue have been approved by counsel.

Eight railroads and numerous steamship lines serve the City of Norfolk, which has an estimated population of 136,000. The tonnage of this port exclusive of United States Government vessels is officially stated (1919) to be exceeded only by the tonnage of the port of New York. Cotton, tobacco, lumber, fertilizer, oysters, and the products of great truck farms in Virginia, combined with manufactured articles of great variety, make up the highly diversified shipments from this prosperous city. Norfolk is the great logical coaling point. A vast number of vessels take their bunker and cargo coal in its harbor.

TELLS SAFEST WAY TO DEFLATE CREDIT

GREATER RESPONSIBILITY

There is a great responsibility upon individual member banks of the Federal Reserve system in the matter of regulating credit, a responsibility greater now than ever before, of the greater credit power which the system makes possible, according to Pierre Jay, Chairman and Federal Reserve Agent of the New York Federal Reserve Bank. In the booklet report of the institution for the year 1919, Mr. Jay says:

"Except in the case of open market transactions, whatever pressure Federal Reserve Bank rates may put upon the volume of credit is exerted not directly but through the member banks. It is important, therefore, that as the first steps are being undertaken to reduce the great credit expansion which war financing necessitated, the member banks should realize that the existence of their new credit organization does not lessen the responsibility for credit conditions which they formerly recognized and assumed. On the contrary, it rather increases their responsibility because of immensely increased credit power which the new organization creates and which they take the initiative in using. The duty of the organization is to establish such rates as will suffice to keep the volume of credit within control. But it is the credit policies and requirements of the member banks, reflected in the amount of their reserve credit they call into use, which will usually determine the volume.

"And as the banks are gradually relieved of Government securities it seems desirable that the policy of steady borrowing, which the absorption of these Government securities has necessitated, should gradually revert to the policy of seasonal or occasional borrowing by banks, which prevailed prior to America's entry into the war. When the member banks have thus once more reached a position in which they usually transact only such business as their own resources permit, the Federal Reserve system will have been restored to its normal rôle of agency for emergency or seasonal expansion."

Mr. Jay reviews the situation following the signing of the armistice and the conditions which developed and brought about tremendous inflation of credit. He speaks of "insistent demands of a class of buyers without experience in prices," of the reasserted demand for comforts and luxuries held in check during the war, the desire to speculate also held in restraint during the war period, and he points out how millions who learned their first lessons in investing in securities as a result of the Liberty loan "drives" subsequently fell easy prey to the sellers of doubtful or worthless stocks and bonds.

The rapid swing from industrial uncertainty which followed the signing of the armistice, to a period of great activity, unbridled consumption and huge demands for credit are analyzed at some length, and he remarks that "the low discount rates which had been safely maintained by the Federal Reserve Banks under Government control of industry during the war, proved, in the absence of such control, to be an invitation to further credit expansion. They provided the banks with cheap credit which could be re-loaned at a profit."

Later on, he says, "the rates which during the war were necessarily related to the rates on Government securities rather than to the rates paid by industry and commerce, began gradually to approach their normal relation to the latter class of borrowing. If credit elasticity were abandoned and fixed limits of credit established a large measure of credit and price deflation might be accomplished promptly, but only at the expense of industrial demoralization such as we have seldom, if ever, experienced. Credit should do its part in bringing about the readjustment, and should be made sufficiently expensive to exert pressure and discourage unproductive and unnecessary uses. But the movement should be gradual and orderly; sudden credit or price deflation might lead to disaster."

The Federal Reserve agent believes greater production of necessities should be encouraged. He thinks this a more attainable result than diminished consumption, and to the end that production will be increased he sees a hopeful sign in the movement toward greater efficiency on the part of labor and in the introduction of better labor-saving machinery.

Much of the statistical matter in the report, including the balance sheet and the statement of the Reserve Bank's earnings, has been published. Some special charts and tables are presented, however, which are especialy interesting. For example, it is shown that the bank acted upon 23,237 applications for discounts and advances during the year, as against 14,831 applications in 1918, and 2,513 in 1917. The amount of the applications last year was $42,440,491,133, compared with $24,535,538,457 in 1918, and with $6,513,225,285 in 1917. The largest piece of paper discounted or advanced upon last year was for $120,000,000, while the smallest was for $2.81.

Another tabulation illustrates the great expansion which has occurred since the entrance of the United States into the World War. On April 6, 1917, the reserves held by the New York bank amounted to $426,714,000 and constituted a reserve percentage of 92.0. On December 26, 1919, the money reserve had risen to $616,040,000, but this increased sum was equal to only 40.0 per cent. reserve.

During the year the bank purchased for its own account $1,227,225,537 in bankers' acceptances and indorsed trade bills, and also purchased similar investments totalling $739,490,007 for other Reserve banks.

JAPAN WILL ENTER CHINESE CONSORTIUM

MEANS FINANCING OF CHINA

Four Powers Will Advance $250,000,000 for Railway Building in $50,000,000 Installments.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (Associated Press)—Japan has informed the State Department of its adhesion to the arrangement under which bankers of the United States, Great Britain, France and that country will enter a consortium for the financing of China.

It was stated today officially that the negotiations had progressed so well that it would not be necessary to await the return to this country of Thomas W. Lamont of New York, who is in the Far East as the representative of the American group, to begin the execution of the plans of the consortium. These contemplate a loan of approximately $250,000,000 to China, in instalments of $50,000,000, for the improvement of Chinese finances and internal works. The fund will be used principally for the construction and enlargement of railroads. None of it can be applied for military purposes.

Negotiations looking to the formation of the consortium have been in progress for many months, and Japan's adhesion was said to have resulted from a better understanding reached in that country as a result of conversations between Mr. Lamont and Japanese bankers and officials.

Associated Press dispatches today from Tokio said the Japanese insisted that loans to China under the consortium were to exclude those "prejudicial to Japan's national defense or military interests in Manchuria and Mongolia." In Japanese circles here it was explained that since the loans for those provinces were to be for railway purposes entirely, Japan reserved the right to make sure that no new construction endangered her military positions, especially in Korea.

SHANGHAI, China, March 30.—Mr. Thomas W. Lamont of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York, arrived here today from Japan. He was confident that Japan would approve the consortium.

TOKIO, March 30 (Associated Press)—A decision that Japan is desirous to enter the Chinese consortium, but will not abandon her settled policy of demanding the exclusion of Manchuria and Mongolia, was reached at an extraordinary Cabinet meeting on Sunday, according to newspapers here.

This policy, however, may be modified provided, first, that rights already acquired in those provinces are recognized, and, second, that the consortium agreement excludes future loans of a nature prejudicial to Japan's national defense or military interests in Manchuria and Mongolia.

Japanese banking groups have fully determined to enter the consortium, and exchanges of views between the Governments concerned are progressing favorably, said Marquis Inouye, Governor of the Bank of Japan, today. His statement was issued in explanation of the visit of Thomas W. Lamont of New York City, to Japan.

Before leaving this country for China, Mr. Lamont told the correspondent of The Associated Press that conferences he had held with leading Japanese business men and politicians had dispelled the prevalent misconception that the consortium was intended to cover the whole industrial field of China. In fact, it is to be confined to larger public undertakings that are directly guaranteed by the Chinese Republic or some province.

Roland S. Morris, United States Ambassador here, assisted Mr. Lamont during his talks with Japanese leaders. Referring to the most cordial reception given him and his companions, Mr. Lamont paid tribute to the work of Ambassador Morris.

"For the unusually excellent sentiment existing between Japan and America, Mr. Morris is undoubtedly largely responsible," he said.

"During my visit in this city, prominent Japanese bankers expressed strong desire to enter the consortium," he declared. "If the Government approves and the Chinese Government accepts the conditions, the four-power consortium should not only assist China financially, but stabilise industrial conditions for private enterprises which are outside of the scope of the plan advocated by the nations participating in the loan."

It is the general opinion here that a long practical step toward permanent peace in the Far East may be achieved by the consortium.

Mr. Lamont's programme in China includes determination of whether political and economic conditions warrant the American group offering Chinese securities to the American public as desirable investments.

TO DISSOLVE MARCONI CO.

Final Vote Taken by Wireless Stockholders.

At a postponed meeting in Jersey City yesterday stockholders of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America voted to dissolve the company. The vote was the concluding act in carrying out a plan whereby the Radio Corporation of America takes over the bulk of the Marconi Company assets. Such assets of the Marconi as were not taken over were suits involving patents which are still in the courts.

Directors of the company will be trustees of funds which may result from this litigation and will distribute such funds to shareholders. No 1919 report of the Marconi Company will be issued, as most of its assets were taken over by the Radio Corporation before the close of the year and will be reflected in the latter's report, which will be issued in May.

"Foreign Trade Through Foreign Investments"

French Government Bonds Compared

BANKERS, exporters and statesmen all realize the serious handicap to American business caused by the present exchange rates on France. It is most difficult for American exporters to develop their French business. On the other hand, manufacturers in France seeking an American market have an unusual incentive, as they are paid in dollars.

It is obvious that sooner or later an improvement must be effected which will result in:

1. A marked increase in our export business with the French.
2. A decided profit to Americans who have purchased French bonds at the abnormal exchange rates which have existed for the past six months.

While many realize that opportunities exist, they have not clearly defined in their minds the relative merits of the three principal French loans. In order that bankers and investors may have at their disposal information which will enable them to see at a glance

4% Loan of 1917 5% Victory Loan
5% Loan of 1920

we have prepared a chart which shows the present income in francs and in dollars from an investment in each loan with each one cent advance in the value of the franc from 7c to 19.3 (normal rate) and the increased income as the franc recovers its normal value, and the comparative profits and income at current rates for each loan. Graphics showing the price movements of the 5% Rentes from 1798 to 1852 and the 3% Rentes from 1825 to 1920 are included.

A copy of this chart should be in the hands of every banker, manufacturer, exporter and investor for present and future reference. Complimentary copy sent on request for Circular No. G-86.

The following salient features are based on information contained in a letter of Messrs. Devlin and Devlin, Sacramento, and Messrs. Houston and Houston, Woodland, California, attorneys for district No. 1500, and on our own analysis of this issue.

Reclamation District No. 1500 was created by an Act of the Legislature of California, approved April 30, 1913, and comprises a net assessable area within its boundaries of 63,718 acres. This land is practically all under cultivation, is highly productive and adaptable to a diversity of crops. During the cropping season of 1919, estimates show there was taken from the lands within the District corn, rice, beans and other products having a value of approximately $39,00,000.

Bonds are valid and legally binding upon Reclamation District No. 1500, and secured by an assessment lien, which is a first lien on the assessable land therein, subject only to State and County taxes.

The present value of the net assessable acreage is placed by independent appraisal at approximately $16,000,000. Total debt of District No. 1500, including all bonds and warrants at present outstanding is approximately $6,660,000.

About two-thirds of the land assessed for the payment of the bonds is owned by the Sutter Basin Company, of which Mr. J. Ogden Armour is the principal stockholder.

These bonds have been approved by the Superintendent of Banks of the State of California, as a legal investment for Savings Banks in that State.

CONTROL

THE ATLANTIC GULF & WEST INDIES STEAMSHIP COMPANY owns 55 per cent. of the stock of the Atlantic Gulf Oil Corporation, and together with its directors owns the entire bonded indebtedness.

PRODUCTION AND LEASES

The Atlantic Gulf Oil Corporation has three producing wells in Mexico, under leases and upon terms favorable to the company. These wells have an estimated potential production in excess of 250,000 barrels daily. One well located in the Naranjos field is undoubtedly the largest producing well in the world. In addition to the original 1,200 acres of land acquired by the company, it has secured further desirable leases on approximately 35,000 acres in the most promising producing area in Mexico.

PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT

Thirty-five miles of 10-inch pipe line.
Topping Plant with capacity of 30,000 barrels per day.

EARNINGS

The Atlantic Gulf Oil Corporation has closed contracts for the sale of 6,900,000 barrels of oil for the first six months operation, and has sold or expects to sell during the second six months, 9,600,000 barrels, or a total of 16,500,000 barrels of oil for the year. Included in these contracts is the sale to the United States Government of 3,000,000 barrels of oil at the dock. The United States Shipping Board has agreed to furnish sufficient of its own tankers to transport a minimum of 20,000 barrels per day from the Tecomate Terminal, and 15,000 barrels a day from another terminal.

Joseph F. Guffey, President of the Atlantic Gulf Oil Corporation, estimates these contracts will show net earnings, after all royalties, pumping charges, drilling and other expenses have been deducted, of at least $10,000,000 for the year.

GREAT UPWARD RUSH AS COTTON REOPENS

WEATHER IS PRIME CAUSE

Late Season and Big Demand May Bring Rise Similar to One of Year Ago.

After the three-day closing the cotton market resumed activities yesterday with a great upward rush which did not terminate until prices had been carried into new high record figures, 90 to 125 points above where they had closed on Thursday last. On this advance May sold on the basis of about 40½ cents a pound, while July was close to 38 cents and October got up to 35 cents. It was the biggest advance, considering its breadth throughout the entire list, that has been seen in some time, being greater even than the sensational rise in the March contract two weeks ago, for at that time only two options participated in the rise while in yesterday's market all months to next March were strong.

The prime cause for the advance was the weather. Reports from the South were extremely unfavorable and told of cold, with frost in many places, and of high winds and heavy rains. The season is admittedly backward and the conditions spoken of yesterday will do nothing to help it. And the trade, keenly aware of this, was a big buyer of contracts yesterday, vieing with local operators both around the ring and in the offices. In fact, everybody appeared to be buying, with very few sellers to be found.

Yesterday's weather news was quite similar to the kind received at this time last year, and the crop situation, in general, is also more or less analogous to what it was then. A late season and a big demand, both foreign and domestic, took prices from around 20 cents early in March to upward of 36 cents by the late Summer and early Fall before any reaction worth speaking of was encountered. This year, although prices are on a much higher level than they were at this time in 1919, the trade, or a considerable part of it, is talking of the possibilities of a rise quite as great and as sensational as was experienced a year ago, and it is pointed out that unless there is a most pronounced and altogether unlooked-for curtailment in demand the trend of the market is likely to be decidedly upward for some time to come.

Exports over Sunday amounted to 44,082 bales, considerably below what they were in the same days of last week.

In the Southern spot markets there was good strength, most of the quotations telegraphed here showing advances of 25 to 50 points from the close of last week. There was no Liverpool market, that place being closed yesterday in observance of the Easter holidays.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

GAIN BY BANK OF JAPAN.

The annual report of the Bank of Japan for last year, which has just been received, shows conditions in that country closely paralleled those in the United States. There was a general business hesitancy at the opening of the year which gave way later to heavy speculation in almost all lines. In the late Fall months money rates tightened and speculation was checked to some extent. The report mentions the purchase by the bank of approximately $150,000,000 in gold coin and bullion from the United States, Canada and Siberia, and states that there were heavy increases in the issue of bank notes, the highest figure at the end of the year showing more than $780,000,000.

The year-end figures of the bank showed that there were increases of $119,525,000 in specie reserve and $80,655,348 in securities. The ratio of specie reserve to notes in circulation was 61.2 per cent., as compared with 62.2 per cent. in the preceding year. Compared with figures for the preceding year the report shows that transactions of the bank in bullion exceeded in receipts by $136,601,587 those of 1918, while the amount released increased $34,954,321.

The bank's report showed all items in yen and were transcribed to dollars on the basis of 50 cents per yen.

United States exports to the Dominion for February show a decrease of $13,000,000, while Canada's exports to this country are increasing. The drop in sterling exchange is blamed for our falling off. See The Annalist, this week. Ten cents at news stands; $5.00 a year by mail.—Advt.

Business shoals

Waste in production, leaks in selling—these and other shoals on the sea of business are most dangerous when uncharted.

A carefully organized accounting system will show these tendencies in actual figures and enable them to be checked in time. The organization of such a system is part of the broad service we offer. Send for our booklet "Getting the Figures".

The Service We Render

V. Correspondence

EVERY client has a full correspondence privilege. This gives him the right to ask for special reports, information, advice and opinion on any security investments or any financial or investment subject at any time during the period of his subscription.

IT is especially useful when the client is solicited by security sellers to purchase new issues or urged to make changes in his present list. A very large percentage of our subscribers secure a great amount of investment protection through correspondence of this character. Many never make changes in their holdings or purchase new securities until they have secured full information, advice or opinion from us.

OUT of town clients find the correspondence privilege of great value, as it necessarily often takes the place of direct personal consultation. Our correspondence is handled in the same efficient and expert way that we carry on the consultation service. Local clients also make full use of it.

THE scope of this feature is very broad, and it is really a service in itself. Does it not appeal to you as an urgent need? If not, wait and watch.

$420,727,341 MORE IS ASKED FOR ROADS

Hines's Statement to Committee Shows $900,000,000 Deficit Under Federal Control.

MOSTLY ON CLASS 1 LINES

Total Advances to Roads With Amount Requested Will Be $1,870,000,000.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 5.—Walker D. Hines, Director General of Railroads, submitted through Secretary Houston today an estimate to the House Appropriations Committee, in which he asks an immediate appropriation of $420,727,341 to become part of the Government's fund for guaranteeing and defraying railroad indebtedness as provided in the recent Transportation act.

Following submission of the estimate, Swager Sherley of the finance section of the Railroad Administration appeared before the committee and explained how the money was to be used.

The Government's advances to the railroads, including administrative expenses, will reach $1,870,727,341, not including adjustment of claims for maintenance, while the total appropriations to date are $1,450,000,000, leaving $420,727,341 required to defray expenses under the Transportation act.

"My Dear Mr. Secretary:

"I have the honor to submit herewith an estimate in the sum of $420,727,341 to be immediately available and to remain available until expended, and to be added to and considered a part of the moneys provided for in Section 202 of the Transportation Act of 1920.

"This additional sum would be expended in the same manner and for the same purpose and under the same conditions as the amount appropriated in the above-mentioned section.

"The need for this appropriation is explained by the following statement showing the transaction of the United States Railroad Administration:

INDEBTEDNESS TO THE GOVERNMENT OF RAILROADS AND OTHER PROPERTIES.

Probable deductions therefrom on account of compensation due companies	495,741,875

Total items of indebtedness and investment	966,803,363

APPROPRIATIONS.
Deficiency	750,000,000
Amount carried in Transportation act, 1920	200,000,000
Total appropriations	$1,450,000,000
Estimate required to enable the Railroad Administration to fund certain indebtedness in accordance with Transportation act and to defray cost of Federal control	420,727,341

"In connection with the foregoing estimate of the amount of the appropriation required to liquidate affairs of the Railroad Administration, no allowance has been made for the settlement of claims on the part of the corporations for under maintenance of their properties during the period of Federal control. While there may be such claims, there will be on the other hand claims by the Government against some corporations for the maintenance of the property in excess of the contract requirements which may require the payment by corporations to the Government. In absence of final figures, it seems best not to make any estimate of the net amount required to settle maintenance claims.

ITALIANS LEAD IMMIGRANTS.

Comprise 95 Per Cent. of Port's Post-War Newcomers Says Society.

In its thirteenth annual report, issued yesterday, the Society for Italian Immigrants, 6 Water Street, states that since immigration was resumed after the war and up to the first of the present year, 95 per cent. of all immigration at the Port of New York is Italian. Ten per cent. of the immigration, the report says, is now consisting of refugees from the invaded provinces of Italy.

The home maintained by the society has been filled every night since the beginning of 1919. Slightly more than 100,000 Italians left the United States, according to the report, as reservists to take part in the war, and it has been estimated that 60,000 will return this year to take their former places in the industrial plants of this country.

SULLIVAN EQUITY IN COURT.

Receiver Seeks to Sell "Big Tim's" Interest in Savoy Theatre.

An order directing persons interested in the estate of Timothy D. Sullivan to show cause why Mrs. Hannah J. Sullivan, receiver of the estate, should not be permitted to sell his half interest in the equity of the Savoy Theatre in West Thirty-fourth Street to his partner, Frank J. Farrell, was signed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Newburger. Mr. Farrell has offered $50,000 cash and quitclai mdeeds to other property in which he had an interest with the late "Big Tim" Sullivan.

Mrs. Sullivan, who is the widow of Timothy P. Sullivan, nephew of "Big Tim," said she intends to pay $26,000 of the money received as the balance due on a third mortgage held by Abraham L. Erlanger, who will then return to the estate certificates of indebtedness of the Mount Carmel Cemetery, held as part security for the loan. The estate not only will have a balance of $24,000 from the Savoy sale, but will be sole owner of realty worth $33,000, for which the quitclaim deeds will be given.

FRANKLIN SAVINGS BUYS BANKING ANNEX

SOLD BY STURGES ESTATE

Increased Business Demands Forced Purchase—Bank Will Install a Novel Bookkeeping System.

To meet the growing demands of its business, the Franklin Savings Bank, which occupies the southeast corner of Forty-second Street and Eighth Avenue, has purchased the abutting building at 650 Eighth Avenue.

This property, which was purchased by the Directors of the bank from the Sturges estate, consists of an old-fashioned five-story flat, occupying a plot fronting twenty-five feet on Eighth Avenue and having a depth of 100 feet.

The bank is built on an L-shaped plot, and the property just purchased abuts it on the rear line.

The present bank building, a massive granite structure, was built about 1900, at which time it was expected to meet all future business demands upon it. During the last few years the bank has tripled its business, and at the present time has over 71,000 depositors.

An official of the bank stated yesterday that extensive alterations would be made to the property just purchased at once. The large force of bookkeepers that now occupy the centre of the present bank building will be moved to the adjoining building, where all the bookkeeping will be done by machinery and communication between the bookkeepers and the paying and receiving tellers will be by means of the telautograph and pneumatic tubes. This will release a large amount of space in the present bank building, which will be devoted to the use and convenience of the banks' depositors.

The property just purchased was assessed by the city for taxation purposes last year at about $60,000.

AN OPPORTUNITY TO GET A FINE HOME CHEAP

My family, which was a large one, has reduced itself to my wife, myself and the servants. I have bought a smaller property in my immediate vicinity which meets my present requirements and desire to sell my large home. To do so quickly I am offering it at a fraction of its real value to some one of culture and refinement who would be acceptable to my neighbors and myself. The grounds, which include an excellent tennis court, were beautifully landscaped by a prominent architect several years ago and elaborately planted with flowers and shrubs. Fine trees abound. The house is a gem, in absolutely perfect condition from cellar to attic. The purchaser could move in on 24 hours' notice and avoid the many annoyances and expense incident to occupying a new house. The first floor consists of a huge veranda facing east, a panelled living room 35 ft. long with immense inglenook fireplace, a spacious dining room, a tiled breakfast room, two butler's pantries and kitchen. Six master bedrooms, one with open fireplace, and two very large tiled bath rooms comprise the second floor. The third floor has a pool and billiard room, extensive servants' quarters and servants' bath. The location is ideal, within five minutes' walk of the R. R. express station, with fine commuting service to New York City. The neighborhood is exclusively residential and occupied by an unusually fine class of people. Elevation over 900 ft. All city conveniences for comfortable living in the country prevail. I will sell this property complete, ready for immediate occupancy, for $6,000 cash, second mortgage $3,000, first mortgage $10,000. Complete details, including plans and several pictures, can be obtained from the writer by addressing Business, P. O. Box 378, City Hall Station, New York City.

UPPER TIMES SQUARE BUILDING PROJECT

PAYS $160 A SQUARE FOOT

One important transaction involving properties at the northerly end of Times Square was closed yesterday by the Robertson-Cole Company. The plot which has been assembled is the northeast corner of Forty-eighth Street and Seventh Avenue, containing three separate parcels. In order to secure the fee of these properties to put up a new building, it was necessary to buy out a sublease of the C. & L. Lunch, Inc., on the L-shaped piece, 723 Seventh Avenue and 169 West Forty-eighth Street, and the eighteen year original lease from the owners of 723 Seventh Avenue to the United Cigar Stores Company; also to purchase an option of the latter company to buy this property from the owner, Clara W. Bibbero of San Francisco, Cal., which negotiation was carried on by wire; and to purchase the fee to the property 169 West Forty-eighth Street from the owner, Mrs. Carol B. Ransom.

The corner property, 721 Seventh Avenue, entailed the buying out of a sublease from Mr. Corcoran of five years and six months and a twenty-one year original lease from Robert M. Kern, and also the purchase of the property itself from the owner, George H. Earle, Jr., President of the Real Estate Trust Company of Philadelphia. William A. White & Sons negotiated the various transactions.

The operation may establish a new high mark for values in this section, it being understood that the price paid represented about $160 a square foot.

The site of the various properties which have been purchased by the Robertson-Cole Company for that part of its business controlled by the division of films in the distribution of motion pictures, will be improved with a new fireproof twelve-story building to house its executive offices and other motion picture enterprises. The building will contain stores on the ground floor, ten floors of offices, and one floor containing three projection theatres and arrangements for display signs on the roof.

William A. White & Sons recently leased the entire fifteenth floor in the new Cunard Building, 25 Broadway, to the Robertson-Cole Company for housing that part of its business controlling imports and exports and industrial financing, which division is now in the Singer Building. The lease was for a period of twenty-one years and involved a rental of nearly $2,000,000.

APARTMENT HOUSE DEALS.

Henry Corn, old-time operator and builder, returned actively to the real estate market yesterday as President of the Allesor Company, which purchased from a company headed by Alfred Saxe the thirteen-story apartment house at 601 West End Avenue at the corner of Eighty-ninth Street.

The property which rents for about $70,000 a year, was held at $600,000. It houses one family to a floor. The broker in the transaction was the Wood-Dolson Company, George W. Engelhardt representing the seller as attorney.

J. S. Maxwell sold for Mrs. E. W. Reichow to the Reliance Leasing Company, M. Retzger, President, the five-story apartment house at 945 St. Nicholas Avenue, between 157th and 158th Streets, on plot 77 by 100 feet. The building was held at $95,000, and shows a rental of about $16,000 a year.

Shaw & Co. resold for the Barney Improvement Corporation 508 East 119th Street, a five-story flat 20 by 100, to Adelaide Russo, who will hold it as an investment.

Ward Belknap & Son have sold for the Central Union Trust Company 1,845 First Avenue, a five-story tenement on lot 25 by 80, near Ninety-fifth Street.

Ruth Cohen has sold 122 West 135th Street, near Lenox Avenue, a five-story flat, 25 by 99.11.

NEW BRONX HOSPITAL.

Maternity Clinic to be Established on Concourse.

The Bronx Maternity Hospital, which formerly conducted a free clinic on Bathgate Avenue, has purchased the property at 1,072 Grand Boulevard and Concourse and plans to alter and equip the building for its use. It will be ready for occupancy about June 1. Since the hospital was organized several years ago more than 600 cases have been treated free of cost to the poor who could not afford to pay hospital charges. In the new building it is planned to have about thirty-five beds. The policy will continue as heretofore, a few beds being reserved, however, for those who are able to pay.

At a special meeting held last week the following officers were elected: Elias Bayer, President; Louis Stern, N. Kommell and Myron L. Yochelson, Vice Presidents; Barnett E. Kopelman, Secretary, and Louis M. Kommell, Treasurer.

Besides the officers, the Directors of the institution include D. M. Buch, Harry Abberback, Philip Liebling, Daniel Svigals and Julius Weiss.

To Alter St. Denis.

Springsteen & Goldhammer, architects, will draw plans for the alteration of the old St. Denis Hotel, at Broadway and Eleventh Street, into a modern store and office building. The property was purchased some time ago by a syndicate headed by Ely Bernays.

CLOSE BIG LEASE.

Tucker, Speyers & Co. leased for Mrs. Robert P. Huntington and Madeline J. Dinsmore the twenty-one-story office and loft building at 11 and 13 East Twenty-sixth Street, running through to 6 and 8 East Twenty-seventh Street, for a term of twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of about $3,000,000. The lessee is a syndicate organized by Joseph E. Gilbert, formerly of Gilbert & Kramer.

The interesting part of this transaction is that Mr. Gilbert was the President of the Flemish Realty Company, which erected this building in 1912, and in March, 1913, a trade was arranged by Tucker, Speyers & Co. for this property and the Dinsmore home, at the northwest corner of Thirty-first Street and Fifth Avenue, between the principals who are now making this lease.

Other leases reported yesterday involved downtown holdings. J. Clarence Davies leased for a term of ten years for the estate of Caroline Stiner to the Oil Marketing Company of 17 Battery Place the five-story store and loft building, 44 Vesey Street, on a lot 25 by 100.

L. Tannenbaum, Strauss & Co. leased for a long term the five-story buildings at 13 and 15 East Houston Street, near Broadway, to the York Sign Company, will occupy.

Welling & Koelble leased for Daniel Dryer the six-story loft building, 50 by 100, at 221 and 223 West Thirty-seventh Street, for ten years, to the Republic Rubber Corporation of Youngstown, Ohio, at an aggregate rental of about $150,000.

Strong Brooklyn Demand.

The Bulkley & Horton Company sold 67 and 69 Irving Place, two three-story one-family houses, for the Oatman estate to a client for investment.

Walter S. Ross and C. C. Gretsinger sold for Anna Unterman the southeast corner of Tenth Avenue and Eighty-fourth Street to a builder for improvement.

The F. C. Sauter Agency sold for Joseph G. Williamson, Jr., to Mildred Del Monte the two-story dwelling at 158 Prospect Avenue. The same broker resold the property to Adolph Berlin.

Edward Kegel sold the three-family brick house at 506 Prospect Avenue, near Prospect Park West, for the Rothwell Realty Corporation to a client for investment.

Henry Pierson & Co. resold the two-story dwelling at 256 Prospect Place to F. S. Clevenger for occupancy.

Columbia Leaseholds Sold.

Three Columbia College leasehold properties, including a loft and two dwellings, changed ownership yesterday. The loft property at 70 Murray Street was purchased by the Inland Realty Company from the estate of John Schluter. It is a four-story structure on a lot 25 by 75, near West Broadway.

In the west side section Maria F. Emerson sold to Edward M. McIlvain 50 West Fiftieth Street, a five-story dwelling, 20 by 100, and Frederic R. Coudert, as executor for the estate of Virginia C. Bennett, sold 65 West Forty-ninth Street, a four-story dwelling, 17 by 100.5, to Payson Thompson, who recently purchased the leasehold at 13 West Forty-eighth Street.

MY HOME
is big enough for 6 families besides my own.
Realizing the demand for suitable living quarters at a fair rental, I recently purchased a beautiful modern, private dwelling in a most superb location, overlooking Charles M. Schwab's mansion at Riverside Drive and 74th St.
I am going to make the house all over and wish to make long-term leases with financially responsible and desirable individuals. Each tenant, if accepted by me, will be able to carry out his own idea. This will mean two or more rooms, gas and electricity servitors; baths and open fireplaces.
Rentals will be based not upon what I can force some one to pay, but what is fair and just.

PROTEST AT PRUNES, THREE FOR 10 CENTS

DRUG GOUGING IS CHARGED

Consumers have taken Armin W. Riley, chief investigator of the "flying squadron" of the Department of Justice, at his word that he wants the co-operation of the public in his efforts to put a stop to the alleged profiteering in this district, as is shown by the large number of complaints that have been received at his office, Room 555 Federal Building, since it was opened last Thursday. These complaints show that the consumers consider that excessive prices are being charged for root beer, collars, cathartic pills, pies, prunes, clothing, ice cream and many other articles embraced in the "necessaries of life." Two complaints were also received yesterday against alleged speculators in circus tickets.

A man in Lisbon Falls complained that he now pays 8 cents for a glass of root beer that formerly was sold for 5 cents. A chain of restaurants in New York City is asked to be investigated because of its alleged high prices for the following items:

	Cents.
Three prunes	10
Coffee	10
Two very thin slices of bread with butter	5
Baked apple	15
Piece of pie	15
Glass of milk	10

Another complaint asked for the investigation of another restaurant that charged the complainant 55 cents for a piece of pie and a cup of coffee. This complaint was turned over to an investigator.

A prominent physician of Staten Island accused a druggist of overcharging one of his patients for prescriptions. He gave figures to show that the druggist was making considerably more than 100 per cent. profit. Complaints were received against a number of other drug stores in different parts of New York.

Complain of Price of Collars.

Several complaints were made against retail dealers for charging 30 cents for collars, an increase of 5 cents having recently gone into effect. One brand of collars, one complainant said, was to be raised to 35 cents on April 1. It was explained by an investigation that the wholesale price of collars was recently advanced from $2.15 to $2.40 a dozen and that on the strength of this the retailers, almost without exception, have advanced the price of collars to 30 cents. An investigation has already been started to determine whether there is a violation of the law with regard to the increase in the retail price of collars.

One complainant asserted that some attention should be paid to the stores in the vicinity of Third Avenue and 181st Street. "One store," the complaint read, "is charging 8 cents for a pickle and 10 cents for a head of cabbage. I paid $1 for a can of oil, supposed to be olive oil, and when it was tested it was found to be peanut oil."

A widow in Brooklyn wrote:

"I respectfully call your attention to a case of profiteering in foodstuffs. This man is one of the most flagrant violators of this regulation in the city, but it will require some strategy to get him, as he is very cautious in dealing with strangers. So that if a person who does not live in the neighborhood attempts to make a purchase he is very liberal in his prices and weights, but this is a poor neighborhood, and when a woman makes a purchase he simply gouges the last penny from her. I cannot afford to make myself known in the matter, as he is a friend of my landlord and he might have me dispossessed or my rent raised."

The address of the dealer and other information were supplied to the squadron.

A large number of complaints have been received from Jersey City, Asbury Park and other New Jersey towns. In Asbury Park a clothier is reported to be selling suits of clothing for $12, $45 and $50 that bear the original prices of $32 and $35. The investigators say that this man will surely have to do some "tall" explaining to escape action in the courts.

Workers' Wives Protest.

Sixty-eight housewives in Yonkers complained of alleged profiteering by the Jewish butchers in that city. The price of meat is said to be much higher than it is in New York City.

A number of women of Fair View, N. J., sent this one to Mr. Riley: "Having read of the good work you are doing in getting after profiteers, several of us decided to write you and ask if you would have some of your agents come to Fair View, N. J. Our husbands are all factory hands, and we are being robbed by our storekeepers."

The letter tells of a woman storekeeper who, it is alleged, charges 45 cents a pound for soup meat, 50 cents for salt pork and "everything else in proportion"—21 cents for milk, 21 cents for sugar, 38 cents for jam and 35 cents for salmon.

The investigation against ice cream manufacturers and dealers continues, and a number of persons are to be summoned to appear before one of the investigators at the Federal Building today. Commissioner of Public Markets Edwin J. O'Malley yesterday wrote to Mr. Riley offering his co-operation. "There are many other lines of trade where profiteering is practiced by merchants in this city to a greater extent than that spoken of by you," Mr. O'Malley continues. "I call your particular attention to the sale of ice, which is the seventh most important commodity in life's necessities; poultry, dairy products, and especially dealers in delicatessens, where all commodities are sold at an enormous profit because of the small individual purchases."

The investigators said that the matter of alleged profiteering in circus tickets did not come under the jurisdiction of the Lever Act, but that the information would be turned over to the city or State authorities.

"From plague, pestilence, and famine; from battle and murder, and from SUDDEN DEATH, good Lord, deliver us."

Sudden death stalks about the world today, as it did in the days of Alfred the Great.

The records of a well-known life insurance company reveal the fact that over a period of twelve years the percentage of accidental deaths was 10.7.

The same company estimates that on the basis of our present population some 900,000 people in the United States will meet death from accident during the next ten years.

You may be one—in which event your family may find themselves confronted at a moment's notice with matters to which they have probably given little or no thought.

You can sidestep the possible unfortunate consequences in which sudden death may involve your heirs, by appointing the Mercantile Trust Company executors and trustees under your will.

This simple business arrangement insures for the property you leave, able management by men in close touch with trust investment conditions.

In addition to the constant supervision of our trust officers, the securities held in trust are periodically reviewed by the Mercantile TRUST COMMITTEE, whose members are selected by the Mercantile Board of Directors from its own personnel.

It costs you nothing to discuss with us the advantages of establishing a Mercantile Trusteeship in the interest of your family. We shall be glad to explain any details.
